It may be well to resolve today and each day for a while to keep the resolutions you made yesterday. The longer you keep them and the harder you work at them, the better it is.

Bills have been introduced in the house and senate to place prohibition enforcement under a separate bureau of the treasury department. We don't know that this will improve conditions any but it's almost a certainty that it can't be any worse.

The holidays are about over now and we can all buckle down to business without a break until ground-hog day. It has been a wonderful Yuletide with splendid weather, the proper spirit and any kind of entertainment you could wish for.

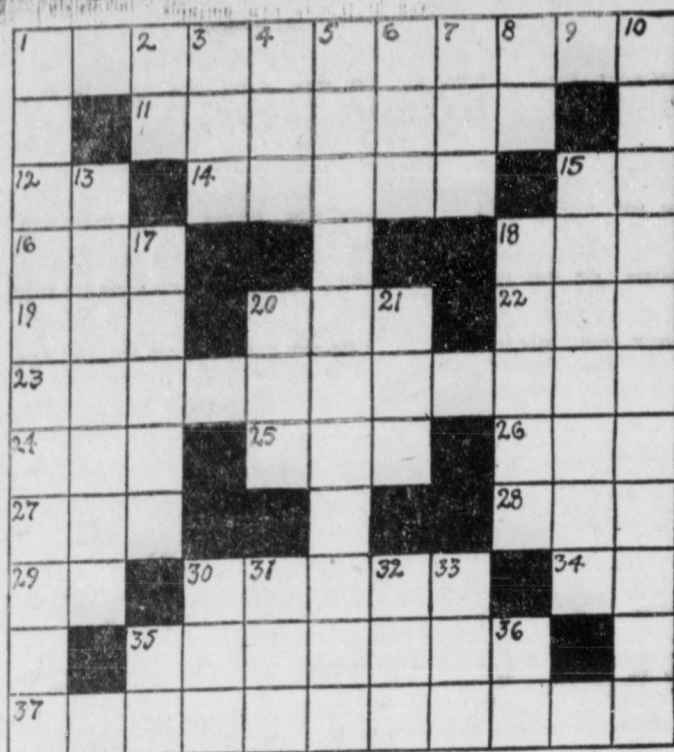

In every city in the land, all kinds of liquor including wines, whiskey, champagne and gin flowed on New Year's eve, as in the old days, according to reports. The joke about the Volstead law is the apparent intention of those in authority not to enforce it.

We repeat that the most important thing for every community just now is better roads and we believe that every citizen can with profit devote a little time to assist in securing them. The state highway commission for this year the improvement of the Fort Wayne road from here to the county line, provided we secure the necessary fifty foot right-of-way. We anticipate no difficulty but it will require some effort and some time and as the contract will be let within the next few weeks and there is considerable detail work to be looked after, let's all pull together in this matter.

Rockne's famous Notre Dame football team brought further honors to Indiana yesterday when they defeated Stanford, champions of the Pacific coast, 27 to 10. It was a brilliant finish to the career of the "four horsemen" and when they got into action there was never any doubt about the results. The feat is the more wonderful because it was performed a month after training ceased for the Notre Dame team, because they had to travel three thousand miles and because they were unused to the high altitude. No team in America has ever made such a record as has Rockne's men this year and they deserve great credit. They excel in every point of the game.

After all, words are living things. They are like the mind and the heart and the spirit—and no true picture of these great elements in man can be drawn without their use. They are made, therefore, for noble ends. They represent a God-given gift to man—these words, by which he may lift up or tear down; by which he may bring life or death; by which he may give the world high faith or a dark despair. There are too many forms in which we find idle words, to mention here; but gossip, slander, false witness against one's neighbors, misrepresentations, the vast list of deceptions and untruths that come from the tongue of man—these must be the kind of life words against which the Master, knowing the hearts and minds of the Pharisees, figures. Standard made 17 first downs to Notre Dame's 7; completed 11 forward passes to Notre Dames; gained 331 3-4 yards from scrimmage to 192 for the Irish; made 128 3-4 yards to Notre Dame's 48, and was penalized once to the visitor's four times.

But the Irish victory, based on the speed of its backfield, is told to a large extent in this sentence of the official summary: Yards gained on intercepted passes Stanford 7; Notre Dame 139-1 2.

To this is added a gain by the Irish of 354 yards on punts while Stanford netted 22.

FIGHTING IRISH HEAD EASTWARD

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 2.—Burdened with their laurels as the world's greatest football machine the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame were to head eastward today, leaving behind them memories of a brilliant demonstration of gridiron greatness.

In the midst of Pasadena's gay tournament of roses, Knute Rockne's team soared to heights of effectiveness yesterday in trampling Glenn Warner's Stanford squad under a 27 to 10 score. Representing the midwest in the annual classic, Notre Dame pulled out with a victory as the first visiting eleven to the strick since Harvard humbled Oregon in 1920.

The figures show Stanford the best team, but the breaks don't appear in

A YEAR!

A year! Three hundred and sixty-five days,
To live with the Lord—to walk in His ways!

To seek for and only real beauty behold,
To harken when truth-tales only are told.

To sing every morning a song of good will
To climb every day some far-visioned hill.

To read every month one great master through
And so, for my work, my own mind tabu.

If misfortune fall—the world prove unkind,
To be faithful still—the future in mind.

To live, if I live—to not die, if I die,
All good to embrace, all evil defy.

A year! Three hundred and sixty-five days,
To live for the Lord, to walk in His ways.
