half of that sum, it was intimated, although all of the parties involved refused to divulge the division of the fee.

Attorneys Benjamin and Walter Bachrach, who aided Barrow, have split the balance of the sum, it was believed. It was indicated that the attorneys had asked $200,000 of the Leopold-Loeb families, but that this proposal was rejected.

Estimates of the cost of the trial to the two families, including attorney fees, expert alienists and other items, place the total at $250,000.

The cost of defending Bernard Grant, penniless "back of the yards" youth, under sentence of death for a murder to which he pleads not guilty total little more than $500 to date, it was estimated.

New State Hospital For Women Is Gift To I. U.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 9.—A new $250,000 state hospital for women to be located at Indianapolis, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Coleman of Indianapolis, to the Indiana University school of medicine, was announced here today by trustees of the university. This is the second large contribution of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman to the I. U. School of Medicine within the past six months. Last June they endowed three chairs in the school with a gift of $75,000. They also subscribed $25,000 to the James Whitcomb Riley hospital for children about a year ago. Their gifts to the school of medicine are as a memorial to Mrs. Suemma Coleman Atkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman.

Mr. Coleman's attorney, William L. Taylor, of Indianapolis, represented the donors in the transaction, and Dr. S. E. Smith, provost of Indiana university, represented the institution.

"This very generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman assures the hospital immediately upon the passage of a bill by the legislature authorizing the acceptance of the gift and providing for its maintenance," said J. W. Fesler, president of the board of trustees of the university.

work for the good of mankind and whose work will go on as long as the state of Indiana is in existence. We also make this gift as a memorial to one of the truest and best daughters any parents ever were blessed with, Suemma Coleman Atkins, who from her early childhood devoted her one of their truest and best daughters to the people of the state and those less fortunate than herself."

jeweled with pearls. Both Mrs. Meyers and Mrs. Graham responded with a few words of appreciation. Mr. Vance then concluded his talk by issuing an invitation to all Eastern Stars and their families to attend the Installation of the Blue Lodge and Chapter Officers at the Masonic Hall next Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. This invitation, the Stars unanimously accepted. The meeting was then closed and all were invited to the dining-room where a lovely luncheon was served by the presiding committee.

In making the gift, Mr. Coleman had the following to say:

"Mrs. Coleman and I have given to the Indiana University School of medicine at Indianapolis the sum of $250,000 to be used in building a women's hospital to be used principally for lying-in patients and a smaller part for those who need the expert attention of surgeons and physicians, and where those who are unable to pay can have the same high order of attention as those who are able to pay part or full price for such services. We entrust this work to the trustees of Indiana University, knowing it to be a non-partisan institution governed by men whose aim in life is to

If possible pay your electric light and power bills between January 10th and 15th. Water bills are also due this month. Please call at the City Treasurer's office before January 20th and avoid the rush. If you wait until the last day you will have to stand in line. 7-21

Aetna-man

"The Aetna-izer in your community is a man worth knowing."

"He represents the strongest multiple-line insurance organization in the world."

The U. B. Ladies Aid held a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Ulysses Drummond, on Adams street yesterday. There was a large attendance. Four new members were added to the roll. During the business session each member showed a great deal of interest in making plans to earn money for the new church. The first event will be a big chicken pie supper to be held in the church dining room on Saturday evening, Jan. 17. After the business meeting the dues and money for the month were collected, them amounting to $22.50. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Carl Noble and Mrs. Hodie.

Leopold-Loeb Lawyers Split Fee Of $130,000

(UNITED PRESS SERVICE)
Chicago, Jan. 9.—The three lawyers who so successfully defended Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, millionaires, who confessed to murdering Bobby Franks, school boy, have split $130,000 that was made known today. This sum has been approved by the Chicago Bar association.

Clarence Darrow, chief defense attorney, has received approximately
