

COUNTY FIELD
DAY IN APRIL

School Principals Set April 25 As Date For Annual Event

Thursday, April 25 has been selected as the date for the annual Adams County high school field day. The school principals voted to hold the event in the south part of the county this year. The track and field will be held at Geneva during afternoon and the music and literature contests will be held at Berne in the evening. Both events were held last year and the previous year. The program committee will in the near future to make plans for the field day events.

Decatur high school won the track field meet last year while Berne was first place in the music and literature events. Berne was second in the track meet, also. It is possible that new athletic events will be held for girls this year. It was necessary to hold the field in April, since several of the schools close shortly after the date chosen.

"It's a case of politics. They've tried to frame me for years, and haven't succeeded. That is why I am so bitter against prohibition because they always try to frame innocent people."

"I am not concerned over any testimony in the Weehaken trial and I do not intend to conduct any argument through the newspapers."

Berne Girl Breaks Leg
In Fall At Her Home

Berne, Jan. 20.—Miss Lillian Farlow, oldest daughter of Arthur Farlow, living on East Main street in Berne, had the misfortune Friday evening to fracture her left leg in a fall at her home. The large bone was broken a short distance below the knee. Lillian had gone to the Paul Felber home to spend a few minutes with her girl friends and when she was on her way home, which is second door, to prepare supper, she slipped and fell on the icy sidewalk and fractured her limb.

The injury to Miss Farlow creates much inconvenience in the home as she has been taking care of all the house work besides attending school, since her mother deserted the family last summer. Although only a young girl, she has managed to do the house work quite well. There are three children in the family younger than the injured girl and Mr. Farlow is considerably in need of help. It is understood that Miss Lenora Felber will help to the work in the home for the time being.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 20.—(United Press)—The south was flood-swept today, continued rains sending rivers and streams on fresh rampages in half a dozen states.

More than a score of villages were inundated and other towns and cities isolated by the flood waters, which have taken a toll of ten lives.

Property damage mounted hourly and the number of refugees increased as river bottom homes were flooded or swept away by rising waters. Floods were general throughout lower Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and portions of northern Florida.

Train service was demoralized and many highways impassable. Thousands of travellers were marooned in isolated villages. Many Florida-bound tourists were stranded in Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina.

A dozen villages in southern Georgia were submerged by the highwaters, residents taking to boats. At Montezuma, Ga., the citizens were fishing in the streets.

Water five-feet deep swept through main street at West Point, Ga.

A dozen families at Sanderville, Ga., were rescued in boats when their homes were submerged.

In southern Alabama, where two persons were drowned yesterday, the crest of the flood was believed past.

From the oil lands, the cattle ranges, the cotton fields, and the Hundreds of refugees were being cared for at Montgomery. Two hundred negroes were sheltered in the county jail.

Farmers throughout the south suffered heavy losses. Livestock was herded to the highlands.

High water still prevailed throughout southern Louisiana where four persons were drowned yesterday, but the crest of the flood had passed both today in this state and Mississippi.

Four Seniors Complete Work In Berne High School

Berne, Jan. 20.—Four seniors of the local high school completed their course of study and have completed sufficient work to graduate with the class next spring. Several others have practically completed their high school work and will continue to take some extra work beside their required work during the last semester, while there are those in the class who will need the work of a full semester in order to graduate.

Those who have completed their course are Myron Lehman, Merlin Ellenberger, Misses Vera Schug and Arveda Habegger. Mr. Lehman has entered Muncie Normal College and Mr. Ellenberger will continue his
