CATHOLIC HIGH DEFEATS BERNE

Win Tenth Straight Game,
Score 26-18; D. C. H. S.
Girls Defeated

Catholic high school's green clad cagers continued their winning streak last night by downing the Berne high quintet at Berne, by a score of 26 to 18. This was the tenth straight victory for Catholic high.

Coach Conter started a second string lineup last night and did not put his regulars into the contest until the last nine minutes, in an effort to save the varsity for the game with Central Catholic of Fort Wayne at Fort Wayne tonight. The Berne coach also started his second stringer and kept his regulars out for several minutes in order to save them for the county tournament here today. However, he began substituting his first stringers before the first half was over and the entire first team played the last fifteen or eighteen minutes. He used eighteen players in the game.

The Catholic seconds succeeded in holding a scant lead during the time they were in the game. The first half ended 11 to 9 in favor of the Green clad cagers and they were ahead 14 to 13 when the varsity entered the fray. Both teams played good basketball during the last five minutes.

The Catholic high school girls were defeated by the Berne girls in the preliminary game by a score of 37 to 16. The Berne girls had much the better of the argument throughout the contest.

A large crowd of fans is planning to accompany the team to Fort Wayne this evening. The game with C. C. H. S. is probably the most important on the locals' schedule, since much depends on the outcome of this contest as to which of the two teams will represent this part of the state in the National Catholic tournament at Chicago next spring.

YELLOW JACKETS WIN GAME, 34-20

Locals Break Losing Streak
In Game With Columbia
City Cagers

Decatur high school's Yellow Jackets broke their losing streak last night and trounced the Columbia City cagers at the high school gym by a score of 34 to 20. The victory which was the first in the last four games, was a clean-cut win for Coach Kennedy's cagers, who led throughout the game. The local mentor used a total of twelve different players in the game, and every combination proved to be effective.

While the Yellow Jackets were beating their opponents, the high school rooting section displayed a wonderful rejuvenation. The end balcony was nearly filled with high school pupils who roared and sang until they were hoarse.

The Yellow Jackets got away to an early lead when Beal caged a pretty field goal. Captain Miller and Andrews boosted the score to 6-0 with field goals and Andrews made it 8-0 by caging two free throws. The locals continued to outplay their opponents throughout the half which ended, 16 to 9. Swearingin substituted for Strickler during the first half.

Andrews started the second half by scoring a field goal on the tip off play, and then counting a free throw on Oman's foul. Leonard substituted for Beal. Andrews scored two more field goals and Miller caged one while Columbia City was counting two free throws. Score 25-11. Both teams then hit the net for counters. Miller scoring three times for the locals. With the score standing 32 to 17 Coach Kennedy sent in Reynolds and Leonard for Miller and Strickler. Andrews dribbled in for a short shot which he made good. The visitors scored a field goal and one free throw, making the score, 34-20. With only about a minute to play the coach sent in Bebout, Breiner, Zwick and Dierkes for Andrews, Beal, Leonard and Moser. No more scoring was done before the gun cracked.

The game was a clean contest, in spite of the fact that six personal fouls were called on each team. Both teams missed several shots. The Yellow Jackets go to Ossian this evening to play the Ossian cagers. Ossian has not been going as good as usual this season, but the gym at that place is small and the Decatur cagers likely will have trouble in evading the Ossian guards.

NINE TEAMS TO ENTER TOURNNEY

Seven Adams County Teams
And Two From Wells
Co. To Play Here

Seven Adams county teams and two quintets from Wells county will comprise the entries in the sectional high school basketball tournament to be held here March 6 and 7, according to further information regarding the tournament plans received here today. The Jay county teams will not contest in the same tournament with the Adams county teams as they did last year, as Portland will have a tournament for the eight teams of that county. It is not known here yet which two Wells county teams will play here, but it is believed that Lancaster and Ossian will come here, since they are the two closest to this city.

The winner of the Decatur sectional will go to Fort Wayne to play in the regional, on March 14. There will be eight teams in each regional and two rounds of games will be played, leaving two from each regional or a total of sixteen to contest in the final tournament at Indianapolis on March 20 to 21. The finals at Indianapolis will be played in the Exposition building at the state fair grounds, that building being selected yesterday. Arrangements will be made to seat 20,000 people in the building. There were only four regionals held last year, the centers being Bloomington, Lafayette, Richmond and Fort Wayne.

With the selection of Decatur as the sectional center and the assignment of the Adams county teams and two from Wells county to play here, speculation as to the probable winner became general. Decatur, Kirkland and Berne appear to be the strongest of the Adams county quintets. Kirkland has defeated both Decatur and Berne, but Decatur was handicapped somewhat by the loss of two regulars through illegibility and by the lack of practice, the game being played at the start of the season. However, the Kirkland team has proven that it is a dangerous outfit through its playing throughout the season and can be counted on to go strong in the tournament. Decatur has defeated Berne once this year also, but the game, which was played at the opening of the season, was close and hard fought. Berne and Kirkland staged a lively battle at Berne recently, Kirkland emerging winner by five points after the score was tied several times. If Lancaster is assigned to the Decatur sectional, that team can be counted on to furnish plenty of opposition for the Adams county cagers. Ossian is not as strong as usual this season.

Principal Walter Krick and Superintendent M. P. Worthman will begin preparations immediately to make the tourney here a big success. Everything necessary to provide for the comfort and accommodation of the players and fans will be taken care of. Following are the sectional centers in this part of the state:

Anderson—8 Madison; 1 Tipton. Angola—9 Steuben; 4 Lagrange. Auburn 7 Dekalb; 2 Lagrange. Columbia City—8; 1 Whitely. Elkhart—8 Elkhart. Fort Wayne—8 Allen. Huntington—11 Huntington. Kendallville—8 Noble. Marion—9 Grant. Montpelier—2 Blackford; 6 Wells. Muncie—11 Delaware. North Manchester—12 Wabash. Portland—8 Jay. Winchester 17 Randolph. Sectional winners are apportioned to the various regions as follows:

Anderson—Anderson, Greenfield, Indianapolis, Muncie, Newcastle, Noblesville, Portland, Winchester. Evansville—Evansville, Jasper, New Albany, New Harmony, Princeton, Tell City, Vincennes and Wimsow. Ft. Wayne—Angola, Auburn, Columbia City, Decatur, Elkhart, Fort Wayne, Kendallville and Warsaw. Frankfort—Attica, Clinton, Crawfordsville, Danville, Frankfort, Lafayette, Lebanon, Raub. Field Goals By Mark M. Upp

Hats off to the Yellow Jackets and the high school rooters. The Yellow Jackets came through with a nice win over Columbia City last night and the rooters came to life with a bang and put all kinds of pep into the game. It sure was great to sit on the sidelines last night, see the Yellow Jackets winning and hear scores of high school pupils in the end balcony literally yelling themselves hoarse. The rooting was almost all that could be expected last night and we congratulate the pupils on their efforts. If they continue to show that spirit D. H. S. athletics are bound to progress. KEEP IT UP.

Ten straight for Catholic High and still a 'straightin'.

EXTRA! EXTRA! Wabash, 30; South Side, 27. We have just Counting on the loud speaker now, shouting, "I told you so." We mighty tickled over the win, too, old man. All comes to he who waits—with perseverance.

Central Catholic regular played the whole game against St. Marys of Huntington at Fort Wayne last night and ran up a score of 47 to 15. Trying to scare Coach Conter and his green clad cagers, we suppose.

We've covered basketball games on four night already this week and are slated to take notes on more games tonight. Help, help. If this doesn't let up soon, we have to engage sleeping quarters at the Memorial hospital. Portland and Spiceland continued their unbroken losing streaks last night, the former losing to Bluffton, 25-22, and the latter losing to Cambridge City, 44 to 20. Wabash deserted the select bunch, however.

Oliberate Ossian and Crush Central Catholic.

Two contributions were received yesterday, but we were crowded out of the paper entirely. One local fan predicted Berne to defeat Decatur in the finals of the grade school tourney and Kirkland to beat Hartford in the high school boys' final tonight. The other contributor commented on our editorial concerning the school spirit at D. H. S. and confessed that it was all the truth, but predicted that there would be an entirely different bunch of students at the game last night. He was right. He also contributed the following:

H. Andrews
Moser
Swearingin
Strickler

Auto Race Drivers To Stage Race On Water

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 24—Take ten speed water boats, add ten automobile racing drivers, who have travelled faster on surface than any other humans dump them all into Montpelier Bay, for a "go" pistol, and you have a thumb nail sketch of what is going to happen here March 20 and 21, when ten (10) of America's most famous auto racing stars will pilot ten speed boats, identically built, powered with motors more closely related than twins, and ballasted to make up the difference in the weights of the drivers and the shrinkage of the wooden boat hulls.

It is a brand new idea though up by the agile mind of Carl G. Fisher, world famous sportsman, who plans events extraordinary for the wealthy folk who follow the migratory birds to the modern garden of Eden where summer spends its winter.

Everything in the boats will be exactly alike and there won't be a splinter's difference in them when they chug-chug to the tape. Every swipe of the painter's brush will be counted, as paint is daubed on the hulls.

For the first time in at least the modern history of the world, a race will be staged which every competitor will be on an equal material footing when they face the starter.

The human equation will be the only margin of difference. It will be a difference in driving skill, nerve and daring. Experience won't count because none of the drivers will ever have tromped on the accelerator of a water boat before the Biscayne Bay Regatta.

The drivers will be selected from among the stars who have competed in the international 500-mile races held over the historic course of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The choice of drivers will soon be made by officials and immediately announced.

Wild Man From Borneo Was Milwaukee Plumber

By G. E. Helfert,
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Milwaukee, Wis.—Back in the days of bars with free lunches, ten cent shaves and cheap rents, it was quite the fashion to gaze agog at the famous "wild man of Borneo."

From sophisticated Broadway to Frisco's Barbary coast, the "wild man" paced his cage while the multitudes surged before it, looked upon his hairy body and ugly face. A shrewd Milwaukee showman became wealthy on the dime that poured in to his coffers for the sake of a thrill. Jacob Litt—for that was the showman's name—must have laughed a hearty laugh during the years he exhibited his "wild" man from the wilds and the genius for whom he accumulated a fortune have departed this earth, it develops that the much-gazed at freak was none other than a Milwaukee plumber.

A former employer of the "ferocious, man-eating semi-human, captured in the wilds of the jungles of Borneo after weeks of chase and a battle with ten men which lasted for hours," exposed the story which he has guarded so closely so many years. Sam Meyers, local hotel manager, tells the story.

"Years ago, when Jake Litt was located in Milwaukee, I took a contract for putting a sewer connection in his dime museum.

"My men were doing some work under the museum. It was a hot day and one of my men, a big burly Slav, was stripped to the waist as he dug away with pick and shovel. Each time he hit the ground with his pick he let out a guttural sound—a grunt.

"Jake happened to go into the basement and immediately became interested in the appearance of the Slav and the noises he made. He was particularly interested in the thick curly hair that grew all over the man's body and asked him to come upstairs.

"Through an interpreter Litt learned that the man was earning $9 a week and immediately offered him $25 a week without labor.

"The job was accepted and before the week was over the ferocious wild man was established in a huge iron cage with his legs chained to iron balls.

"The fact that hundreds of persons peered into the cage each day, made him nervous and the more nervous he became, the more ferocious he looked.

"The freak proved such an attraction in Litt's museum that he eventually was exhibited from coast to coast.

Those who knew Litt best say that it was this famous freak that laid the foundation for the fortune which he amassed in the show business, he having been rated a multi-millionaire at the time of his death in New York City a few years ago.

Bad Milk Kills Many Babies In Argentine

Buenos Aires, Argentine—Half a million babies have died in Argentina during the last decade before they reached the age of two years, according to a report by the Ministry of Agriculture. It ascribes the unusually high death rate to the lack of sufficient milk and adulteration of the milk sold. It is pointed out that while the cattle industry is the chief business of the Argentine, most of the cattle are slaughtered for exportation which has resulted in a serious milk shortage.

The ministry recommended that the municipalities exercise control over milk distributors to insure pure milk. A newspaper, editorially points out that a child dies in the country, with a population of less than 10,000,000 every 12 minutes at a point near the
