THREE OVERCOME BY COAL FUMES

Mrs. Anna Laman And Daughters Narrowly Escape Asphyxiation

Mrs. Anna Laman and her two daughters, Misses Neva and Naomi, were nearly asphyxiated a few nights ago at their home at Battle Creek, Michigan. The pipe which leads from the furnace to the chimney came apart, filling the basement with coal gas which permeated the house and only the timely arrival of the man who looks after the furnace saved their lives. Mrs. Laman was just recovering from a four weeks illness with pneumonia and consequently her condition was the worst. A physician and a trained nurse, who were called immediately by a neighbor who found Mrs. Laman and both of the girls unconscious, feared that Mrs. Laman, because of the bad condition of her heart and the gas filled lungs, could not possibly recover.

Word today, however, was that all three of the patients are practically out of danger, but are weak and will require a few days to recuperate. They had a very narrow escape and are thanking the furnace man for his appearance so early in the morning.

Weather

HOT DEBATES HELD Bill Introduced To Increase Tax On Gasoline To Three Cents

(UNITED PRESS SERVICE)
Indianapolis, Jan. 30.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—A second bill to strengthen the hand of the state public service commission in regulating public utilities went down to defeat in the senate today.

The bill introduced by Senator Barker of Thornton to require utilities to fight out rate cases in the state courts before going into federal court failed of the necessary votes for passage when it was taken up today.

Lines were drawn in discussion of the bill practically the same as when the senate earlier in the week killed the bill to permit the public service commission to regulate utility holding companies.

After being booted about on the floor of the house in hot debate the chiropractic bill was carried back to the senate committee on state medicine and public health.

With the bill back in committee the chiropractors will seek to restore the bill to its original form which called for establishment of a state board of chiropractic members to license chiropractors.

The senate by unanimous vote passed the English bill providing for more stringent penalties for drunken auto drivers.

Senator Cann of Frankfort introduced a bill to increase the state gasoline tax from two to three cents and providing that the money shall be paid into a "gasoline fund" of the general fund instead of direct to the

Geneva Lad Injured When Rifle Explodes

Geneva, Jan. 30.—The ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Armantrout was painfully injured recently, when a 22 rifle bullet struck him in the left leg. The lad had started for church and stopped at the Wm. Longnecker home to accompany the Longnecker lad. The boys got a target rifle out and were playing with it when the accident occurred. Just how the gun happened to be discharged is a mystery, as the Armantrout boy accused his companion of doing the shooting and the latter said the victim had the gun in his own hands when the accident happened. The ball entered the left leg just below the knee and followed the bone downward, being extracted near the ankle joint. The wound is healing nicely and the lad will soon be able to be out again.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN KILLED BY EXCESSIVE HEAT

Believed To Be A Tramp; Crawled Into Kiln To Spend Night

FLESH IS COOKED

Man Seen About Tile Mill Early This Week; Companion Missing

The body of an unidentified man, about 45 years of age, was found on top of the tile in a kiln at the Krick-Tyndall Tile mill about 8:30 o'clock this morning. The man, said to be a tramp, is supposed to have suffocated from the heat in the kiln. His flesh was partially cooked and decomposition had begun.

The discovery of the dead man was made when employes of the tile mill went to the kiln to remove the newly made tile this morning. When the kiln was opened a strong stench permeated the air. Further investigation disclosed the man's body on top of the tile.

Probably Died Wednesday Night

The fire was removed from the kiln last Wednesday morning. A ventilating fan, used to cool the tile, was turned on and left operating until 11 o'clock Wednesday night, when it was turned off. It is thought that the man crawled into the kiln while the fan was operating Wednesday evening and went to sleep on top of the warm tile. When the fan was turned off, the heat in the kiln rapidly mounted to as high as 600 degrees and the man was probably suffocated to death before he awakened or had time to crawl out of the kiln. The tile kilns hold heat for many hours after the fire is removed, and the intense heat in the kiln during the remainder of Wednesday night after the fan was turned off and yesterday and last night cooked the man's flesh until it had a brownish color this morning.

Coroner Investigates.

The body was removed from the kiln and taken to the Gay, Zwick & Myers morgue this morning. As the county has no coroner since the death of Dr. L. L. Mattax, A. C. Butcher, justice of the peace in Washington township, was called to act as coroner. Mr. Butcher tabulated a description of the man and made notes of the articles found on his person. He stated he would make a report

WANT MATTAX NAMED CORONER

Friends Petition Commissioners To Appoint Geneva Man

A petition, containing 59 signatures and asking the board of county commissioners to appoint Harold Mattax, publisher of the Geneva Herald and son of the late Dr. L. L. Mattax, coroner of Adams county, succeeding his father, has been filed with County Auditor Martin Jaberg and will be presented to the board next Monday.

Mr. Mattax did not intend to become a candidate for the appointment, until his friends at Geneva circulated a petition and asked that he accept the place. If tendered to him, Mr. Mattax consented to have the petition filed. Dr. Mattax, whose death occurred on January 8, began his third term as county coroner on January 1, 1925. He was elected for the third term last November. S. E. Black, of this city, filed a petition with the auditor asking that he be appointed coroner and action in the matter will be taken next Monday. It was rumored about the city today that several respective candidates would take the appointment if tendered them, but that they would not become active candidates for the place.
