Negro's Economy Causes His Arrest On Robbery Charge

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 1.—(United Press)—Saving about thirty cents cost James English, negro, his liberty.

English was arrested as a suspect in the $10,000 postal robbery at Toledo, Ohio.

The negro wanted to mail a package from Louisville, Ky., to his sister in Atlanta, Ga., but decided not to mail it when informed what it would cost him for first class mail.

Later he returned to the window to mail it as second class and have it insured for $100. The clerk asked what the package contained. English said stationery. Because written matter cannot be sent second class, the clerk opened the package.

It contained part of the loot taken in the robbery. Diamonds and other jewelry were found in English's home.

BOX SOCIAL
