

DELAY IN TRIAL OF STEPHENSON IS THREATENED

Attorney Demands That Edward Prater Be Tried At Noblesville Oct. 12

IN JAIL LONGER

Stephenson's Counsel Plans To Demand His Trial Start As Planned

(United Press Service)
Indianapolis, Oct. 3.—Delay in the trial of D. C. Stephenson, former klan leader, and his aides, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry, on murder charges at Noblesville, was threatened today when Frank Baker, attorney, demanded that his client, Edward Prater, be tried on murder charges at Noblesville, Oct. 12, the date set for the Stephenson trial.

"My client has been in jail since Jan. 8, much longer than Stephenson, and should be tried first," Baker said in a letter to Judge Hines of circuit court, at Noblesville.

Eph Laman, chief defense counsel for Stephenson, said that he will insist the Stephenson trial start Oct. 12, as has been decided.

Prosecutor Remy said it made no difference whether Prater or Stephenson and his aides would go to trial first.

Meanwhile Judge Hines, the only man who can settle the issue, is at Bloomington for the week-end to attend a football game.

ROY COMER IN JAIL AT KOKOMO

Suspect In Harmon Robbery, Near Wren, O., Now Faces Three Charges

Roy Comer, who was one of the suspects arrested several months ago in connection with the robbery of Mr. and Mrs. John Harmon, of near Wren, Ohio, and who was later freed, has been arrested at Kokomo charged with forgery, burglary and jail breaking. He is being closely guarded in the jail.

Comer, alias Roy Joyce, a former Port Wayne man, was arrested Thursday night. A 45-caliber revolver, a quantity of nitroglycerin and fuses and caps were found in his possession. The Kokomo police are attempting to trace the ownership of an automobile which the prisoner was driving when arrested.

At the same time special agents of the American Railway Express company are investigating Comer's activities. The express company's agents aided in placing the trap into which Comer was ensnared after a two months' search.

Authorities have expressed the belief that Comer will be identified with a series of robberies in Indiana, including the railway station at Newberry, a grocery at Trinity Springs, and a bank, a store and two elevators at Elora.

Comer is wanted at Kokomo on a charge of forgery. An express money order, said to have been one stolen from Newberry, was passed at a Kokomo bank by Comer last August, according to allegations. He is known to have broken jail at Marion and Indianapolis, where he was held for vehicle taking six months ago and since that time has one about the state issuing fraudulent money orders under the name of "Raymond Moore," according to police.

CODIFICATION OF LAW URGED

Inter-parliamentary Union Deals With International Court Of Justice

Washington, Oct. 3.—(United Press)—Having thrust aside a resolution for American participation in the league of nations, the inter-parliamentary union of forty nations proceeded with matters for perfecting the international court of justice.

A report was presented by Elihu Root, noted international lawyer, urging that immediate steps be taken to codify international law.

"The time has come when there should be no further delay in the necessary preparations for a general international conference which shall make more definite and certain and comprehensive the body of law by which international conduct is to be ruled," Root said.

Root did not say whether a codification conference should be called by President Coolidge, or the matter should be handled by the committee already designated by the league of nations for more preliminary work.

WILBUR SCORES CRITICS OF NAVY

Secretary Declares Navy Is Keeping Pace With Progress In Aviation

Quincy, Mass., Oct. 3.—(United Press)—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, in an address at the launching of the airplane carrier Lexington here today, scored critics of the navy who have condemned it as "hide-bound with conservatism," and cited construction of the Lexington as evidence of the navy's keeping pace with progress.

At the ceremony, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics, reiterated his opposition to separation of naval aviation from complete naval control.

Declaring that the Lexington "is more than a ship; it is a monument to faith, to hope and to progress," Wilbur said:

"Every blow of the hammer used in her construction gives vocal protest to the unthinking declaration that the American navy is hide-bound with conservatism and immovably anchored by barnacle encrusted chains to things of the past."

"This monument is a witness-bearing silent testimony to the belief of the men and officers of the American navy in the use of aircraft for national defense."

BICYCLE BANDIT RANSACKS HOMES NORTH OF CITY

Three Suits of Clothes, Gold Watch And Money Stolen Friday

THIEF IS SEEN

Charles Johnson And Lawrence Heckman Houses Robbed; Search Made

A bicycle bandit was at work in the rural community north of Decatur Friday, according to reports received by Sheriff John Baker. Two houses were robbed and others likely would have been looted had not the occupants been at home when the thief passed.

Two suits of men's clothing and more than $9 in cash were stolen at the Charles Johnson home, while one suit of clothes and a gold watch were stolen at the Lawrence Heckman residence. Several persons saw the thief and a good description was furnished to the officers, but so far no trace of the man has been found.

Seen On State Road

From information furnished the sheriff, it appears that the thief rode his bicycle south on the state road, which is under construction, shortly before the noon hour. He was seen to pass the William Rodenbeck residence just before noon. At that time he had a basket on the front of his bicycle and there was a bundle in the basket. No one was at home at the Heckman home, the family having gone to Fort Wayne. The thief entered the Heckman residence and ransacked the entire house. Only the suit of clothes, which was valued at $60, and the gold watch, which was almost new, were missed, however.

Stopped At Eiting Home

After ransacking the Heckman house, the thief evidently rode south on the state road as far as Monmouth. He also passed the Henry Eiting home, which is a short distance off the state road. He stopped at the Eiting home and walked toward the kitchen door. Just before he reached the door, he saw members of the family in the kitchen and he stopped and turned toward the well. A son of Mr. Eiting went out to the well, also, and the man said he thought he would stop and get a drink. Mr. Eiting talked to the man, who was a youth about 18 or 19 years old, for some time, before he left.

At Monmouth, the thief evidently turned east to the first road and then rode north to the Johnson home, which is the first house north of the cross roads. The Johnson family was away from home and the thief ransacked the entire house, taking two suits of clothes that belonged to the Johnsons.

COURT MARTIAL HOLDS INTEREST

Col. Mitchell Ordered To Report To Inspector General Of Army Monday

By William J. McEvoy,
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 3.—(United Press)—With the president's air board in recess over the week-end, the impending court martial proceedings against Colonel William Mitchell on charges of insubordination became the center of official attention today.

Mitchell has been ordered to report to the inspector general of the army Monday when he will be served with a copy of the war department's charges. At that time he will be given an opportunity to answer, somewhat in the nature of a prisoner pleading to an indictment.

Mitchell may reply orally at once or he may ask for several days' time to obtain counsel and prepare a written answer.

When the answer is filed, Acting Secretary of War Davis will issue the formal order for the court martial, if President Coolidge decides upon one.

Davis is acting in this case for the president, who is one of the few persons empowered to call such a trial.

High war department officials show no sign of relenting and it is believed almost a certainty that Mitchell will be tried in Washington soon. One official estimated the court would begin its sittings within three weeks.

Voters in the city of Decatur who wish to vote at the city election on Tuesday, November 3, need not register in order to qualify. There is no provision in the law requiring voters in a city of the fifth class to register in this year before the city election. Many people have called at the office of the City Clerk in the city building wanting to register and Mrs. Catherine Kauffman, the city clerk, informed them that they need not register. In the opinion of several attorneys, those voters who are not registered can vote in the city election by making affidavit as to their place of residence on election day.

ANOTHER BODY FOUND

Body Of Paul Daniel Burk, Engineman, Brought Up By Diver

(UNITED PRESS SERVICE)

Newport, R. I., Oct. 3.—Salvage operations at the scene of the submarine S-51 disaster have been suspended indefinitely because of heavy seas and all ships have been ordered into port, according to a dispatch to naval communications here from Admiral Christy.

New London, Conn., Oct. 3.—The body of Paul Daniel Burk, engineman, second class, of Shoemakersville, Pa., was brought aboard Admiral Christy's flagship Camden today a short while after divers had begun their morning operations within the sunken submarine S-51.

It was believed the body was that which divers had seen yesterday in the engine room when the S-51 yielded to two others who had perished.

Rear Admiral Christy later sent the following message to the base here, indicating further work today was impossible:

"After Burke's body recovered sea became rough and dangerous to divers, although they expressed willingness to continue.

"The burning of torpedo room hatch has been halted.

"Burke's body will be brought into Newport on mine sweeper Lark."
