Daily Report Of Local And Foreign Markets

OPENING GRAIN REVIEW
Chicago, Oct. 5.—Wheat made substantial advances in opening business on the Chicago board of trade. Other grains followed.

Spirited buying by shorts in the wheat pit was inspired by decidedly bullish cables and cooler temperatures. Commission houses, known to have been short, entered the pit at the opening gong.

Moderate buying of corn futures was inspired by strength in the leading cereal.

The Fourth Down BY WILLIE PUNT

Take that—and that—and that, said the Central Tigers and we took it.

The Yellow Jackets, light and inexperienced, fought gamely against the heavier and veteran Tigers. They won admiration by giving the best that was in them.

Defeat is felt most keenly when victory is believed certain. The Huntington Vikings so thoroughly expected victory over Kokomo last Saturday that they did everything but mark up a victory for themselves. But the Kokomo Wild Cats forward passed the Vikings to death, winning 25-0.

The Purple Panthers of Portland met with a reverse Saturday, also, down at Richmond, the Red Devils winning 25-0. The Yellow Jackets go to Portland next week-end.

Coach Marshall started today to repair the Yellow Jacket machine for the trip to Portland.

Indiana easily defeated the State Normal teachers Saturday, 31-0, but Purdue hit a snag in the Wabash Little Giants, who proved to be big plenty, the Crawfordsville crew winning 13-7.

Lombard failed to bombard and Notre Dame copped, 69-0. Knute used sixty players in the melee.

Garrett showed strength Saturday in beating Laporte, 9-6.

"Central" and won from the heavy team of the visitors by a score of 32 to 8," said the Journal-Gazette Sunday morning. If the Yellow Jacket team is heavy the earth isn't round.

No Other Convenient Date

There is no other convenient date on the court calendar open before the end of the year if the Stephenson trial should be postponed from next Monday, according to Judge Hines.

The question of possible postponement of the Stephenson trial was discussed when attorney for Edward Prater, Indianapolis, announced they would demand that he be placed on trial before Stephenson and Klenck and Gentry.

Prater is charged with murdering a street car conductor in Indianapolis during an attempted holdup last spring.

Although Prater has been in jail for several months without action on his case, Judge Hines said sufficient opportunity had been given him for trial early in the summer if he had wanted to face a jury at that time.

POLICE SEEK FOOTBALL STAR

Former Illinois Athlete Wanted In Connection With Holdup Attempt

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(United Press)—Fred Goetz, former University of Illinois football player and track star, and his pal, known only as "Hymie," eluded police early today in a thrilling raid on a north side hotel.

Goetz and his companion are wanted in connection with the attempted hold-up Saturday night of Dr. and Mrs. Henry R. Gross. The physician wounded one bandit and killed another during the holdup and himself received a shoulder wound.

The wounded but captured bandit, Roger Bessmer, implicated the former college student, but after a spectacular raid on the hotel, police announced Goetz had eluded them.

His avowed sweetheart was arrested. She may give some clue to Goetz's whereabouts.

Police said that they had established that Goetz is the "cake eater" type of collegian, but that he has a criminal bent. Bessmer said Goetz wanted Mrs. Gross' jewels so that he could sell them for enough to "buy a good defense" when he came to trial for an attack recently on a seven-year-old girl.

A crowd of 3,000 persons gathered outside the hotel while police guarded all exits and searched every room. The raid was carefully planned, fifty policemen rushing in on the hotel from all directions at a given signal.

It would give me much pleasure at this time to favor your city, the place of my birth, with the money necessary to beautify the yards. This amount, I am told, would be approximately two-hundred-fifty dollars.

"I am, therefore, in memory of my father, Geo. W. Luckey, and the good people of my home city, forwarding my check for that amount to the Old Adams County Bank for the purpose stated. Should the same be received with favor and placed in the hands of the committee in charge of the work, I shall be gratified and shall, at some future date remember the City and County with a greater and much more substantial gift in recognition of other blessed memories.

"And may I, through you, friend fellower, thus be permitted to serve a mown and common desire, that our boys may be the more full.
