COMER DENIES GUILT
 Alleged Forger, Jail Breaker And Robber Is Arraigned In Court At Kokomo, Ind.

Kokomo, Oct. 6.—Arraigned in city court for preliminary hearing on charges of forgery, Roy Comer, formerly of Fort Wayne, pleaded not guilty Monday. He was found "probably guilty" after presentation of part of the evidence, and the case was certified to circuit court.
 Arrested last Thursday by police, after a two month's search in connection with the cashing of an American Express money order on the Citizens National Bank here, Comer has been held in jail since. Following the hearing Monday, Judge Joe Cripe fixed the bond at $1,500, but it was understood that word has been received from federal authorities to hold the prisoner. The nature of their charges against him was not divulged. Special investigators of the American Express company arrived in Kokomo over the week-end and are seeking to connect Comer with a series of robberies committed last spring in southern Indiana. So far they have taken no action.
 Comer is also wanted for jail breaking at Marion and Indianapolis.

Old Niagara Stairs Soon To Be Replaced By Modern Elevator

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 6.—(United Press).—A shaft and tunnel, tapping the "Cave of the Winds" has been completed and the historic Biddle stairway over which the feet of millions of sightseers for four generations in the past 98 years have tread their way, will shortly be abandoned.
 Through the heart of the towering cliff of solid rock, over which tumbles the water of the cataract, a tunnel 200 feet long has been bored to meet a shaft 167 feet deep, which has been sunk straight down from the surface of Goat Island.
 Hereafter those who experience the thrill of the mighty surge of the Niagara from the "Cave of the Winds" will pass through the tunnel and shaft.
 Work on the new subterranean passage was started nearly a year ago. In the tunnel solid concrete passage way has been built. In the shaft a tower, surrounded by spiral stairs, has been constructed and two electric elevators installed.
 Construction of the tunnel and shaft as a picturesque and safe means of passing from the "Cave of the Winds" and viewing the bottom of the cataract and the whirlpool at close range was decided upon because it was feared the old Biddle stairway, erected entirely of hewn oak in 1827 might become dangerous within the next few years.

DR. KING TO REPORT
 Another Struggle Between Secretary And Members Of Health Board Is Due Tomorrow.

Indianapolis, Oct. 6.—(United Press).—Another struggle between Dr. William F. King, secretary of the state board of health, and belligerent members of the board, is due tomorrow.
 At the regular scheduled meeting of the board Wednesday, Dr. King will make another effort to secure consideration of the report on a sanitary survey at Washington, Ind.
 The board refused to consider the report at a meeting last month because of legal complications growing out of their flight to remove Dr. King from office.

Investigation Is Costly
 "The investigation of the condition of the water supply at Washington has cost the state thousands of dollars," Dr. King said today. "The report has been carefully prepared and the whole situation is deadlocked by the attitude of the board."
 "Until the board acts on the report it will be impossible for me to make recommendations that will improve the situation," Dr. King said he had no information as to whether the board will repeat its previous performance and refuse to hear the report Wednesday.
 Further delay may mean disaster, Dr. King pointed out, because of the threat of an epidemic of typhoid fever in Washington.
