Rev. Covert Returns Home This Afternoon

The Rev. B. N. Covert, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will arrive home this afternoon from Mason City, Ill., where he has been at the bedside of his father, who has been ill and who is very much improved. Rev. Covert will have charge of the services at his church tonight, preparatory to the Communion services, which will be held Sunday morning. Tonight's services will open at 7:30 o'clock.

Good citizenship means to the Boy Scout, not merely the doing of things which he ought to do when he becomes a man, such as voting, obeying the law and paying taxes, but the looking for opportunities to do good turns by safeguarding the interest of the community and by the giving of himself in unselfish service to the town or city, and even the nation of which he is a part. It means that he will seek public office when public office needs him. It means that he will stand for equal opportunity and justice, which the Declaration of Independence and Constitution guarantees. It means that in every duty of life he may be on the right side and loyal to the best interests of the State and Nation. By the "good turn" that he does daily as a Boy Scout, he is training himself for the unselfish service that our cities and land need so much.

The first business sessions of the conference were held today. The meetings will continue through the week. Four hundred Illinois churches are presented by almost 800 clergymen and laymen.

Attacks Report Of Federal Council Of Churches on Prohibition

Elgin, Ill., Oct. 6. — (United Press) — An attack on the prohibition report issued by the Federal Council of Churches was made by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, corresponding secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, before the opening session here of the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"The council ought to repudiate the act of F. Ernest Johnson, the author of the report, or the churches will repudiate the council," he warned.

The first business sessions of the conference were held today. The meetings will continue through the week. Four hundred Illinois churches are presented by almost 800 clergymen and laymen.

Labor Leaders Oppose Baking Company Mergers

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 7. — (United Press) — Opposition to the pending $400,000,000 merger of great baking companies, against some of which a complaint has been filed by the Federal Trade Commission, occupied leaders of the American Federation of Labor today. The labor leaders feel that they have a double ground for complaint. The union opposes any grouping of non-union bakeries and there is labor's general opposition to a "huge bread trust."

The Ward Baking company, named as constituting the dominating interest in the new corporation, long has been a special target for the bakery workers. All of the merging plants are non-union.

Members Of Rotary Club Give Talks At Meeting Held Tuesday Evening

Plans for the ensuing year were made at a meeting of the Decatur Boy Scouts and Junior Scouts, held in the old gymnasium last night. The Scout Troop from the Rotary Club attended the meeting.

Avon Burk and Carl Pumphrey gave talks to the boys on Scouting and Scout work. Plans for Scouting during the winter were explained and discussed. Meetings during the winter will be held on Tuesday evenings, but the place of meeting will alternate between the old gymnasium on First street and the class room in the Central school building. The Scouts will devote their time to playing basketball, Scout drills and games on the nights they meet at the old gym. On the nights when they meet in the school building, they will study Scout work in the class room.

The great aim of Boy Scouts of America is to make every Boy Scout a better citizen. The organization aims to teach the boy physically in the camp craft and wood craft of the outdoor life, in order that he may have strength in after days to give the best he has to the city and community in which he lives as well as to the nation of which he is a part. It seeks to develop him by observation and the knowing of things far and near so that, later on, when he enters business life he may be alert and keen, and so be able to add to the wealth of the nation. It teaches chivalry and unselfishness, duty, charity, thrift and loyalty, so that, no matter what should happen in business or social or national life, he may always be a true gentleman, seeking to give sympathy, help, encouragement and good cheer to those about him. It teaches him life saving and first aid, in order that he may be able in dire accidents and peril by land and sea to know just what to do to relieve others of suffering. It teaches him endurance in order that he may guard his health by being temperate, eating pure food, keeping himself clean, so that, being possessed of good health, he may be always ready to serve his country in the hour of need. It teaches him patriotism by telling him about the country in which he lives, its history, its army and navy, in order that he may become a good citizen and do those things in which every citizen ought to make the community and land in which he lives the best community and land in the world.

Good citizenship means to the Boy Scout, not merely the doing of things which he ought to do when he becomes a man, such as voting, obeying the law and paying taxes, but the looking for opportunities to do good turns by safeguarding the interest of the community and by the giving of himself in unselfish service to the town or city, and even the nation of which he is a part. It means that he will seek public office when public office needs him. It means that he will stand for equal opportunity and justice, which the Declaration of Independence and Constitution guarantees. It means that in every duty of life he may be on the right side and loyal to the best interests of the State and Nation. By the "good turn" that he does daily as a Boy Scout, he is training himself for the unselfish service that our cities and land need so much.

The Decatur Boy Scouts are backed by the Rotary Club of the city.

The club brought the boys a treat of doughnuts and apples last evening.
