RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

Whereas it has pleased an Almighty, merciful and just God to remove from our midst Brother Pat J. Hyland, and whereas by his death his family lost a loyal and loving father, his church a loyal and devoted member, this council a true Brother and friend and the community a good citizen and neighbor, whose model life is one deserving of our imitation; Therefore, but it resolved, that we extend to the family of our deceased Brother our best heartfelt sympathy in their sad day of bereavement.

And be it further resolved, as a token of respect for our deceased Brother, that our charter be draped in mourning for a period of 30 days, that a page of the records of this council be dedicated to the memory of our deceased Brother, that a copy of this Resolution be given to the family of our deceased Brother and a copy sent to the newspaper for publication.

Mixed Bathing Is Urged In Paris To Encourage Marriage

By Minott Saunders, (U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Oct. 22.—(United Press.)—Mixed bathing, to encourage marriages and increase the birth-rate, is advocated for "poor, old-fashioned prudish Paris," by M. Rene Friquet, a member of the Municipal Council.

Prudish is not the word generally used to describe the "Gay City," but the fact remains that, in quiet walks of life outside the Montmartre and Montparnasse, there is quite a different Paris than that lighter side known to tourists. The city regulations do not allow mixed bathing in the municipal swimming baths, and J. M. Friquet is causing a mild sensation among his puritanical colleagues by demanding that regulations should forthwith be made to bring Paris up to date in this respect.

M. Friquet envisages all sorts of blessings from permission for the strong and the fair mingle at least one day a week in the municipal baths. He points out that this should be a natural sequel to the recent creation of a marriage club where young men and women are brought together at dances and social functions for the express purpose of getting acquainted with serious matrimonial intentions.

Many romances, he says, would grow up between lonely men and maidens shivering on the brink of the municipality's cold water, and blossom and bear fruit in happy marriages if the city fathers could get over their prudish ideas. He does not believe that young people who attend modern revues where nudity is featured will be greatly shocked or morally injured by mixed bathing.

W. L. Bryan To Direct Christmas Seal Sale

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 22.—The 1925 sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals in Indiana will be directed by Dr. William Lowe Bryan, president of Indiana University, as Seal Sale chairman for the state. Dr. Bryan accepted his nomination to head the state-wide seal sale committee today in a letter to Murray A. Auerbach, executive secretary of the Indiana Tuberculosis Association, which has headquarters here.

Associated with Dr. Bryan in the direction of the seal sale in ninety-two Hoosier counties will be a list of persons prominent in anti-tuberculosis and other public health work throughout the state of Indiana.

Mr. Auerbach announced today that the National Tuberculosis Association, under which the Indiana Tuberculosis Association operates with ninety-two county associations in the state, has forwarded forty-five million Christmas Seals for distributing to the counties. Indiana has led all states in the Mississippi Valley conference for the past five years in the sale of seals, and this year expects to increase the per capita sale throughout the state. A goal of ten cents per capita has been set by officers of the State Association.

Dr. Bryan, accepting nomination as chairman of the annual Seal Sale in the state, a position he has held several previous years, said that the winning fight against the White Plague, that has been made possible by the sale of Christmas Seals in the past twenty years in America, has impressed him with the ability of organized anti-disease work to eventually eradicate man's most dreaded enemy.

"Millions of lives are to be saved for greater usefulness by the steady work of disease prevention and cure that is being carried on in counties, states and nations in the name of the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal," he said. "It is an honor and a very deep gratification to me to accept the nomination of Seal Sale chairman for Indiana in 1925. Gradually the White Plague is being brought under control through scientific, educational methods. In twenty years deaths from the dreaded enemy of the world have been cut in half. Apparently mankind eventually is to overcome this, his most persistent, physical enemy. In Indiana the progress made by the thousands of volunteer workers against tuberculosis, guided by such agencies as the state and county associations, has been rapid and consistent. The state's death rate in 1914, when organized work against the disease began, was 145.8 per 100,000. In 1924 the rate was but 84 per 100,000. Such a record stands by itself as proof that the Christmas Seal is winning its sturdy fight. This year the fight is to be broadened in many ways. I am sure that the citizenship of Indiana will respond even more generously than in the past to the goal of the Christmas Seal. It is a privilege for all of us to help push back this, our enemy."

Former Illinois Governor Calls Prohibition Failure

Chicago, Oct. 22.—(United Press.)—The American system of prohibition is a flat failure, Edward F. Dunne, former governor of Illinois, declared today. Dunne returned here after two months in Europe.

"I saw less intoxication and public disturbance arising from unrestricted drinking in Europe than we experience every day in Chicago," Dunne said. "There was no intoxicating among the wine drinking peoples."

Dunne said he would renew his efforts to effect modification of the Volstead law. The work will be done through an Illinois organization which seeks reorganization of the democratic party in Illinois.
