TASK OF PICKING JURORS MAY DRAG INTO THIRD WEEK

No Definite Progress Made Today In Selecting Jury For Stephenson Case

COURT PREPARES TO CALL FOURTH VENIRE

Noblesville, Ind., Oct. 23.—(United Press)—Thirteen more veniremen were examined and excused by the defense in rapid fashion today without definite progress being made toward selection of a jury to try D. C. Stephenson, Earl Kleck and Earl Gentry on charges of murdering Miss Madge Oberholzer.

All of the men were dismissed because they had formed opinions in the case.

It appeared certain the task of selecting the jury would drag into the third week.

Judge Sparks announced no session would be held Saturday unless a jury is completed this afternoon. This appeared only a remote possibility.

Stephenson wore an extremely bored expression, paying little attention to the proceedings, spending the greater part of his time reading a newspaper.

The state's attorneys lolled in their chairs while Inman questioned the veniremen.

Judge Sparks said he is preparing to call a fourth venire of 100 men.

Noblesville, Ind., Oct. 23.—Defense objection to the slightest expression of an opinion in the case by talesmen today still blocked selection of a jury for the Oberholzer murder trial.

D. C. Stephenson, a former grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, and two of his henchmen, Earl Kleck and Earl Gentry, are on trial on an indictment charging first degree murder for the death of Miss Madge Oberholzer, of Indianapolis.

Nineteen men were weeded out of the jury box during a tedious session yesterday in which it seemed at times that agreement on a jury was near.

Eph Inman, chief defense attorney, pried into every angle of each man's personal and political connections in examining the veniremen.

Inman objected to any man whose political affiliations might influence his vote on a verdict, or who had formed an opinion.

Searching questions were shot at the talesmen examined by Inman to reveal whether any of their women relatives had ever been involved in escapades with men.

While Inman's objections removed men after man, the attorneys for the prosecution appeared satisfied with the men in the jury box at most points in the examination.

While Peary's ship was being fitted out alongside the Erie dock in New York harbor, Lieutenant Peary caught sight of the caboose and asked for the loan of it for his trip. ### SUGAR FACTORY BEGINS ANNUAL RUN SATURDAY

Workmen Ordered To Report At 6 A. M.; Beets Arriving Rapidly

SEVENTY-DAY RUN IS EXPECTED THIS YEAR

Indiana's only beet sugar mill, located in Decatur, will open for its fourteenth annual campaign at 6:00 o'clock Saturday morning, October 24, the local management stated today.

Employees who have been engaged to work in the mill and in the yards are requested to report at the factory not later than 6:00 o'clock tomorrow morning. The wheels in the big factory will then be started in motion and for the next sixty days or seventy the grind will continue day and night.

Indications point to a seventy-day or longer run this year. This would bring the close of the campaign up to the first of the year.

Beets Arriving Rapidly.
The beets are coming in as rapidly as they can be handled now and several tons are stacked on the yards. They will begin to find their way through the mill tomorrow and within a day or two will have been made into sugar.

The opening of the mill was delayed a little this year, but within the last two weeks the weather has been of correct brand for the maturing of the beets and the crop looks good. Last year was one of the biggest runs in the history of the plant in the point of sugar production, the beets containing a high content of sugar. During the time the mill is operating, approximately 300 persons are employed in the mill, in the yard and at the weigh stations. The stations opened last Monday.

JACKSON FAVORS SALARY SLASHING

Governor Behind Budget Committee In Cutting Pay Of State Officers

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 23.—(United Press).—Governor Jackson is standing squarely behind the action of the state budget committee in slashing salaries of state officials despite growing dissatisfaction against the cuts, it was indicated today.

The governor was understood to have told a member of the budget committee that he knew many applicants who would accept the position of any official who would accept a reduction in salary only under protest.

The state payroll was cut $100,000 a year by the budget committee in an order a week ago reducing the salaries of some officials and discharging other employees whose work was not held necessary.

Meanwhile, members of the state service commission, whose department was hardest hit, sought the opinion of Attorney General Gilliom as to the legality of the committee's action.

The commission members contend their salaries are fixed by the law which established the commission and that the committee overstepped its power in cutting salaries from $6,000 to $5,000 a year.

Gilliom said it was the first time he had been called on for a formal opinion on the problem. He said he

SEVENTEEN STATES ARE REPRESENTED

By Paul R. Mallon, (U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Oct. 23.—Six state governors and personal representatives of eleven others demanded repeal of the federal inheritance tax before the house ways and means committee today.

The federal government usurped the levying power of the state in this tax in a war crisis and has unjustly continued it since, the governors contend in their arguments for repeal.

The delegation of 17 state executives was led by Governor Clifford Walker, democrat, Georgia, who presented a resolution adopted by a conference of governors at Savannah last June, asking repeal of the federal inheritance tax.

A Wartime Measure.
The present law would not and could not have been passed save as a war time measure and the time has no woe for it repeal.

Representatives of other governors included W. L. Nolan, lieutenant governor, Minnesota; A. C. Bollinger, tax commissioner, of Illinois; Henry Cours, attorney, New Mexico; H. C. McCluskey, secretary to Governor Hunt, of Arizona; William Belknap, state legislator, Kentucky; Lieutenant Governor Clem Kimball, of Iowa; T. H. Thorson, tax commissioner, of North Dakota; B. L. Sixty years ago today, several Decatur men, tired and battleworn, but happy, were mustered out of service in the U. S. Army and started their journey homeward. Those Decatur men and others, numbering about 300 in all, were the only ones left out of nearly 2,000 men who fought with the 47th regiment during the Civil War, the others having fallen on the battle fields. They were mustered out sixty years ago today, because their services were no longer needed. The war was won by the Union forces.

George B. Cline, one of the Decatur men who was discharged sixty years ago today, called at the Daily Democrat office today and told the story of that eventful day and the journey homeward. Six of the Decatur men are still living. They are Mr. Cline, Theodore Schnador, of Columbus, O.; Jacob Railing, of Chicago; J. M. Blossom, of Dayton, Ohio; L. R. Blossom, of Decatur, and J. Battenburg, of Vicksburg, Michigan. All were members of Company C, 47th regiment. Company C left Decatur during the fall of 1861, and was in the thick of the fighting throughout the war.

GRECO-BULGARIAN CONFLICT CEASES PENDING MEETING

Powers Called To Meet In Paris Monday To Work Out Settlement

NATIONS DETERMINED TO STOP HOSTILITIES

Geneva, Oct. 23.—Should Greece or Bulgaria refuse to abide by the forthcoming league decision in the Greco-Bulgarian conflict the famous Sanctions clause, article 16 of the league covenant, will be applied for the first time since foundation of the league. The league secretariat let this be known tonight.

Sofia, Oct. 23.—Demand for war on Greece increased among the Bulgarians this afternoon when reports from the front declared Greek airplanes had bombed fugitives.

Geneva, Oct. 23.—Acting to halt definitely Greco-Bulgarian hostilities, the league of nations today warned the warring parties to refrain from hostilities and summoned its council to act on the crisis Monday.

The council will convene Monday afternoon in Paris, this being the earliest date which would permit of arrival of the Greek and Bulgarian representatives who will sit as members of the council. It is reported that British Foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain will attend.

This action, undertaken by French Foreign Minister Briand, as president of the league's council, followed an appeal by Bulgaria under articles ten and eleven of the league covenant demanding immediate convocation of the council on the Greco-Bulgarian conflict.

Under this section of the league covenant a member or non-member of the league can make such an appeal when it feels there is aggression against it, or when the world's peace appears threatened by an existing conflict between two nations.

Upon receiving this appeal, Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the league, immediately notified Briand, upon whom, as council president, the task of calling together this important body of the league devolves. The Bulgarian appeal said Bulgaria has ordered voluntarily the withdrawal of her troops from the Macedonian frontier for the purpose of Bulgaria's complete confidence in the just intervention by the league (CONTINUED ON PAGE TWO)

MEMORIAL PLAN IS WIDELY KNOWN

Story In New York Times Tells Of Plan For Porter Memorial Here

That the proposed memorial for Gene Stratton-Porter to be placed in this city will become widely known and respected is shown in the following article published in a recent issue of the New York Times:

"A memorial to Mrs. Gene Stratton-Porter is being planned by the citizens of Decatur, Ind., situated on the edge of the Lamberlost swamp, made famous by Mrs. Porter. In accordance with Mrs. Porter's expressed wish, 'I should like to be buried under a tree and have a huge boulder rolled upon my grave,' it is probable that a fifty-ton boulder will be removed to Decatur from its present site, a mile or so away, and that it be marked by a bronze tablet. It is further proposed that the State road leading to Lamberlost cabin and to the swamp be officially named, 'The Lamberlost Trail,' and that an acre of ground be acquired beside each schoolhouse in Adams County and that native trees be planted thereon.
