FRENCH CABINET QUILTS; TROUBLE OVER FINANCES

Resignation Brings To Climax Dramatic Fight Of Several Days

DISPLEASURE WITH CAILLAUX'S WORK

Paris, Oct. 27.—(United Press)—President Doumergue up to tonight had commissioned no one officially with formation of a new cabinet. He was consulted by President DeHalves of the senate and President Herriot of the chamber apparently with a view to ascertaining parliament's temper towards possible leaders of the new cabinet.

(Briand and Painleve appear likely to head the new regime.)

By A. L. Bradford, (U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Oct. 27.—(United Press.)—The French cabinet resigned this afternoon.

Thus Premier Painleve and his associates brought to a climax a dramatic fight of several days which centered in removing Finance Minister Caillaux from power.

Painleve went alone to President Doumergue and presented the joint resignation.

Resignation Is Accepted.

President Doumergue accepted the cabinet's resignation.

Earlier in the day the cabinet had held a brief meeting but without action.

However, from within its councils came word that the resignation collectively of the entire cabinet impending.

The actual resignation was made around 2 o'clock.

Caillaux Defies Cabinet.

Caillaux yesterday had refused to be forced out alone. Instead, he told Painleve and Foreign Minister Briand that if he were to fall then the whole cabinet must go, too. It was virtually a defy to them to proceed with driving him from public life, he warned them that unless the whole regime retired, it would fall before the French chamber later.

Rumors current today suggested that Painleve would seek to reform the cabinet and would propitiate the socialists by taking in as justice minister, the former premier, Edouard Herriot.

The resignation of the cabinet was caused primarily by two factors.

OLD "HAUNTED HOUSE" RAZED

Romberg House On Monroe Street, Eyesore For Years, Is Torn Down

After many years of existence as a fear of children, a haven for tramps and an eyesore to the beauty of the neighborhood, the old "haunted house" on West Monroe street is no more. The Romberg house was completely razed yesterday by a dozen workmen, after being condemned recently by the city council.

The "haunted house" has stood unoccupied at the corner of Ninth and Monroe streets for more than twenty years. The house was left furnished completely when the Romberg family moved away from this city many years ago. For many years it furnished a good place for weary tramps to rest, after a hard day's journey and, because of strange noises heard there at night and weird shadows seen after dark, it became known as "the haunted house."

Children, for a generation, have boasted of their explorations through the house in the wee small hours of the morning, and for the last several years it has not been uncommon for large parties of young people to explore the house at all hours of the night.

Often times, people would hide in the house in an effort to scare passersby and in many instances they would succeed. Several years ago and again about a year ago, fire destroyed parts of the house. Tramps have carried away much of the furniture. A petition of the citizens of the west part of Decatur, asking that the house be razed, was presented to the city council some time ago and members of the Romberg family were notified to tear down the building.

Lack of action provoked property owners near the place and a few months ago, on petition, it was declared a nuisance and ordered to be razed. Work on tearing down the home started yesterday morning and will be completed soon. Nothing will be built on the lot at present it was learned.

Child Swallows Open Safety Pin; Removed By Decatur Physician

An open safety pin, swallowed by Robert Lankenan, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lankenan, last Sunday morning, was removed by a local physician without injury to the child. Immediately after Robert swallowed the pin, his father brought him to the office of the physician, where an X-ray examination was made. The picture showed that the pin was lodged about half-way down the esophagus, point down. The physician succeeded in hooking an instrument underneath the pin and pulled it out. The pin was about an inch and a quarter in length.

ELKS TO HOLD RABBIT SUPPER

Feed To Be Held Tomorrow Night If Hunters Are Successful Today

Armed with shot-guns, shells and other necessary equipment for hunting, John Vogelewe, Fred Schurker, D. M. Hensley, A. D. Hunsicker and several other prominent local Elks left early this morning in an effort to round up all the rabbits in Adams county. And the wild game had better take to the shelter today for the Decatur hunters are out for a record catch.

Provided the men are successful, the Decatur Elks will have a rabbit supper at the home tomorrow night for members only. The round-up committee would not disclose just where the hunting trip would take them today, but it is probable that they will point their hounds in all parts of the county.

The "bunny" hunters have made various estimates as to what their reward would be. Some say they will return with at least fifty of the coveted animals, while others predict that the Elks rabbit supper tomorrow night will include ham sandwiches and coffee. The results are still in doubt, since the hunters will not return until late tonight.

Several men who had planned to make the trip were unable to do so today, but their best wishes and moral support went with those who braved the cold weather and alarm clock warning and donned their h-p boots while Decatur and New York both slept.

The rabbit supper will be held at 6 o'clock tomorrow night at the new Elks home, according to present plans, and will be converted later into a social gathering of the members. All Decatur Elks are cordially invited to attend tomorrow night.

CRACK FRISCO FLYER DERAILED NEAR MEMPHIS

"Sunnyland," Loaded With Passengers From Florida, Goes Over Embankment

LIST OF DEAD MAY REACH HIGHER FIGURE

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 27.—Fifteen persons are known to be dead and more than a score injured, several seriously, as a result of the derailment of the "Sunnyland," crack Frisco flyer, which plunged over an embankment near Victoria, Mississippi, today.

Carrying passengers from Florida to Memphis, Kansas City, and points west, most of them asleep in Pullmans, the express was wrecked when the car behind the engine broke loose and hurtled down a 30-foot slope, dragging baggage and passenger coaches after it.

While rescue crews toiled and brought those injured to Memphis, train dispatchers estimated that the total dead might be more.

Engine Remains Upright.

Eye witnesses told of the scene of horror as the cars which they said left the rails while the flyer was making sixty miles an hour piled up at the foot of the embankment.

R. B. Herring, engineer, and P. H. Young, fireman, both of Memphis, had miraculous escapes when the engine and tender leaped over the split rail and remained upright. The cars behind broke loose and rolled down the embankment piling atop of each other.

J. W. Ryan, of Elmyria, N. Y., conductor of the train, who was riding in the day coach, was among those killed.

Herring and Young said the wreck was unavoidable, having been due to defective rails. Although their nerves were badly shaken, both remained on duty and piloted a relief train to Memphis with victims of the wreck.

Inhabitants of the little town of Victoria, awakened by the crash and roar as the "Sunnyland" went over the embankment, were the first to give aid to the wreck victims.

Those who arrived first at the scene found that the sleepers from which came cries of the victims, imprisoned many helpless passengers. The cars had telescoped and piled up at the foot of the steep slope.

When the first rescue train arrived on the scene from Memphis, the people of Victoria were chopping free the pinned passengers and rendering aid to the wreck victims.

AUTO STRIKES TELEPHONE POLE

Orville Lenhart Painfully Injured In Accident In This City Today

Orville Lenhart, son of E. B. Lenhart, of this city, was injured when the automobile in which he was riding skidded and struck a telephone pole in the north part of the city early this morning. Mr. Lenhart was riding to Decatur about 6 o'clock this morning from the sugar factory, where he is employed, with Vilos Elzey and several other men.

Mr. Elzey was driving the car and as he drove around the curve on North Second street the car skidded and struck a telephone pole. The car did not turn over, but Mr. Lenhart was thrown against the side of the car in such a manner as to inflict painful injury. No bones were broken and Mr. Lenhart was taken to his home where it was reported that he was better this afternoon.

None of the other occupants of the car were injured. The car was damaged considerably and was brought to a local garage for repair. It is thought that the wet street was responsible for the accident and Mr. Elzey probably did not think about the sharp turn in the street, until it was too late to slow down.
