Vote next Tuesday and get others to vote.

Five precinct meetings are scheduled for tonight. Look them up in the calendar and attend one. The campaign is on for just a few days and you should help in this one.

We know of several cities around here where big outside corporations have secured a toe-hold and the rates are now up to thirteen cents per kilowatt for electric current. They wouldn't let 'em in if they had it over. Don't take any chances here.

A representative of a big corporation who makes a specialty of buying up city utilities has been here three or four times the past week. We don't know what for as he doesn't tell his plans to every one, but we do know that if the democratic ticket is elected he will not get far if his ideas are to take over the Decatur plant.

Another general meeting of men and women will be held at the headquarters next Monday evening and you are invited. A good program is being arranged and Chairman Mangold is anxious that every one interested in the election attend so that they may know the issues and the importance of getting out the vote.

The meeting at democratic headquarters last night was one of those snappy kind that assures success. Everybody was enthusiastic and everyone of the hundred voters who attended will do his best for the success of the democratic ticket at the polls Tuesday.

And don't forget the parade Saturday night—a Calithumpian event for Halloween. Its going to be a lot of fun for those who participate and for those who witness it. Its great to play and laugh occasionally and lately we haven't been having enough laughs. Get your funny face ready and be a part of the masquerade Saturday night.

Business in Decatur will cease Friday morning, while the people of this community pay their last respects to a beloved citizen who has passed on. The sorrow resulting from the death of Charles S. Niblick, president of the Old Adams County bank and a leader in affairs here, is genuine and wide spread and in respect to him and his life of usefulness, business houses here will close, a fitting tribute.

The coming election is more important than you perhaps think. Things can happen in four years. We are running along smoothly now and Decatur is admitted to be one of the best of the smaller cities in the state. We sincerely hope you don't decide to change it and we say that with a kindly feeling toward every candidate. When you make a decided change in an administration you are taking chances. The democrats are asking election upon the record of the past three or four and their plan-form carries out the work now being done. Folks that's what you should want.

An old fashioned political smoker was that given last evening at headquarters and a lot of real interest was manifested indicating a sweeping and decisive victory next Tuesday for the democrats. There is no reason why this should not occur. This is a democratic city and with the record established during the past dozen years and the program as now under way by the present administration, with the splendid ticket before you and their platform promises, you should not hesitate to vote the democratic ticket.

Over at Defiance, Ohio, a few years ago they had a municipal plant and a five to eight cent electric rate. They decided to turn it over to a Toledo corporation and did so with the result that they now have a thirteen cent rate. This year Defiance is voting on a $100,000 bond issue that they can put in a new city power and light plant and start over. You can find a lot of examples if you look around and in most cases the people are paying dearly for their experience.

Mayor DeVoss was one of the speakers at last night's democratic meeting at headquarters. He made a most effective speech by reading the platform of four years ago and then proving plank by plank that the promises therein made had been faithfully kept. They promised an improved fire department, ornamental lights, a lower tax rate, a better city plant and enforcement of laws and they have made good. Mr. DeVoss also called attention to the splendid platform as adopted by the democrats this year and expressed his faith in the keeping of the pledges thus made. His remarks were confirmed by those of the candidates who are offering to serve you not because of a desire for honors but because they love this community and want to see it prosper and go forward.

THE APPETITE OF YOUTH

In the good old land of the Far Away Of mountains of cake and rivers of cream,
Which I inhabited yesterday, And I used to think, as we older
Or a yesterday, as it now appears, grow,
With an interval of a few swift years, With sharper teeth we should sit
I could do the things which I watch and chew;
You do, I thought when I came to a man's
I could eat as much as my teeth estate could chew. Three times for pie would I pass my plate.

In the days gone by, and I whisper Now I watch you eat and I wish that low, I could find such flavor in apple pie, Their pace was swift, though I And I hear you talk, and I sit and thought it slow, smile.
I never reckoned my stomach's size, For age will come in a little while,
But I tried to quiet my hungry eyes, When you'll learn that it's only a boy
And I had no fear of a pain or two, who you I'd eat whatever seemed good to Can manage whatever his teeth can chew.

In the land of youth I used to dream

Scotch Terrier Leads Police To Lake Where Mistress Ended Life

Chicago, Oct. 28. — (United Press)—Drawn to the scene by "Tiny," a wife haired Scotch terrier who kept faithful vigil over his mistress, police today dragged the shore line of Lake Michigan and found the body of Mrs. Alexander H. Stewart, wife of a wealthy merchant tailor.

Mrs. Stewart had been missing from her home since the middle of yesterday afternoon when she unleashed Tiny and took him for a walk.
Tiny has won several prizes at dog shows.

Search was started in the evening when Stewart came home and missed his wife. Suicide was not considered until Tiny was found, shivering in the snow on a pier that juts into the lake not far from the Stewart residence. Mrs. Stewart's fur neck-piece was found at the end of the pier and her coat was found in the water.

When police arrived, Tiny gave up his vigil and started home. Just as he was crossing the last street before reaching his kennel he was run down by an automobile and killed.

Stewart said his wife had been ill almost a year and he accepted the belief that she had jumped into the lake.

investigation of the shipment of beer over the company's lines, it became known today.

The men are L. E. Osborn, F. L. Smith and C. W. Beurlie, yard clerks. Reports say the beer was shipped to this city and reconditioned in the yard here in an effort to confuse dry agents.
