

County Agent Has Supply Of Year Books At Office

A few copies of the 1924 Yearbook of the United States Department of Agriculture remain at the county agent's office and will be given free of charge, to those who call or write for them. The book contains more than twelve hundred pages of information which will be interesting to farmers or others agriculturally inclined. An introduction entitled, "The Year in Agriculture," written by the late Henry C. Wallace, former Secretary of Agriculture, is followed by the subjects of "Highways and Highway Transportation," "Farm Credit, Farm Insurance and Farm Taxation," "Hay," "The Poultry Industry," and "Weather and Agriculture." Several hundred pages are devoted to statistical information.

Democrats Planning For Next Senatorial Election

Indianapolis, Oct. 29.—Indiana Democratic leaders already have begun to draw the lines of battle for the coming senatorial and congressional battles next year.

Facing a contest in which it will be necessary to battle for two senatorial and thirteen congressional posts the democrats are already "cruising" available timber.

While no booms have been launched, and none will be until after the municipal elections, the party leaders are carefully going over the situation.

Indications are that Walter Myers, democratic mayor for Indianapolis, will be a candidate for the senatorial post held by James E. Watson, republican.

The party chieftains feel certain Myers will be elected mayor here and in that case he will be the strongest candidate the party could put in the field.

Frederick Ban Nays, law partner of the late Senator Samuel M. Ralston, is being mentioned for the post in case Myers should not run and in case Myers makes the race Van Nays may seek Senator Robinson's toga.

Lincoln Dixon, fourth district chairman, and for years one of the leading democrats in the House also is being mentioned for the post. Dixon is said to have a strong following not only in his own district but all over the state.

Another possible candidate is Senator Joseph Cravens, of Madison, dean of the democratic forces in the state senate.

It is known, however, that as Dixon and Cravens are close friends that only one will make the race and the odds are said to favor Dixon.

Henry A. Barnhart, of Rochester, former representative in congress from the Thirteenth district also has been mentioned for the post.

One thing is certain and that is that there will be no lack of democratic candidates for the two senatorial posts.

Another thing that is troubling the party workers is the rumored intention of Harry Ganfield, of the fourth district, to retire at the end of his present term in congress.

The fourth district has long been regarded as a democratic stronghold and it will be necessary to find a capable man to succeed the Batesville leader.

One solution of the problem is that Dixon again seeks the congressional post and allow Cravens to make the race for the senate. This plan could be worked the other way, equally well the leaders say.

Irish Author Is Found Dead In Gas-filled Room

Bulletin
London, Oct. 29.—(United Press)—Dorell Figgis, Irish author and a leading member of the Free State parliament, was found dead in his room in Bloomsbury, a residential section of London.

The Evening Star says that the room was filled with gas from an open jet.

Figgis' death follows by eight days that of Rita North, a young dancing teacher of Hendon, who declared before she died in the maternity ward of a hospital that the Irish statesman was her husband. It also recalls the suicide of his wife who shot herself in a taxicab in the Dublin mountains less than a year ago.

New Passenegr Plane Will Carry 20 Persons

New York, Oct. 29.—The largest passenger airplane in the world will soon be in operation in the European passenger-carrying air service, according to information reaching the offices in this city of the Rolls-Royce of America, the American organization of the British motor car manufacturers.

Accommodating 20 passengers and their luggage, together with the pilot and a mechanic, the new machine produced by the Vickers concern will have a wing span of over 37 feet. It will contain a buffet in the cabin to provide meals for passengers enroute from one European port to another. Two Rolls-Royce "Condor" engines, developing 1,300 horse power, will drive the great machine which will shortly be placed in service by Imperial Airways.

This Vickers "Vanguard" plane is 60 feet long and will have a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour when carrying a usual load of about two tons.

Hoover Drafts Public Service Radio Plan

(By S. P. Hollingsworth, United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 29.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover has hitched the radio industry in the United States to the star of public service in the hope that America will continue to set the pace for the world in its future development as it has in the past.

By painting a picture of the possibilities of radio as a universal system of communication in advance of his calling together the Fourth Annual Radio Conference, to be held November 9, Secretary Hoover has set a goal to hold together all the elements whose problems must be met by the idealism of a perfect service.

He has drawn sharp distinction between what is proper and what would prove fatal to the industry, were hasty and ill-considered legislation to be enacted to impede the remarkable growth maintained thus far. Hoover's program to be submitted to the conference includes:

1. Formulation of a policy as to the number and purpose of broadcasting stations.

2. Consideration of the amount of power to give the best results.

3. Reconsideration of the problem of wave lengths to work out a scientific and acceptable division recognizing recent discoveries and improvements.

4. Recommendations for further yet acceptable regulation by the government to keep the industry together with a common purpose governing all phases of it.

In all of these problems the public service is paramount as a consideration for advancement.

One of the special fields of development which Secretary Hoover feels will require the test of service as the measure of its use is in the interconnection of radio broadcasting stations to deliver national programs. "I believe that nationally organized interconnection for important national events in an inevitable development and is one of the most serious missions of the radio," he stated.

By such a system it would be possible in time to have a President of the United States deliver an inaugural address to 40,000,000 people under the roof of their own homes.

Weird R. R. Accident As Throttle Sticks

Hamburg, Pa., Oct. 29.—(United Press)—A stock throttle on the locomotive of a Pennsylvania railroad passenger locomotive near here caused one of the most freakish accidents in the history of the railroad.

The train was travelling nearly sixty miles an hour when the engineer suddenly discovered that he could neither take off, nor put on steam. The train was rapidly approaching a station so he turned on the air and brought the train to a stop with the brakes.

But the wheels of the locomotive continued to revolve at a high speed, wearing grooves in the rails and creating a terrific noise. The engine was stopped only after water had been poured on the fire to reduce the steam pressure. It required over an hour to bring the wheels to a halt.

DePauw To Observe Old Gold Day Next Saturday

Greencastle, Ind., Oct. 29.—Saturday, October 31, has been set aside as Old Gold Day, DePauw University's annual home-coming day. The day will be celebrated with a football game, a class scrap, several short plays, and a special chapel. Many hundreds of friends and alumni are expected to attend.

At 10 o'clock in the Bowman Memorial gymnasium, will be held the Old Gold Day chapel. There will be special music by the University orchestra and addresses by the president, Senator James E. Watson and other prominent alumni and visitors. The chapel will be signalized especially by the traditional first appearance of the class garbs. The senior men will wear their old gold cords, the senior women their horse hide jackets, the junior men their sweater shirts, the sophomore men their sheep skin vests.

Following chapel will come the annual freshman-sophomore scrap. Instead of the pole rush held in previous years a four-event contest will take place. Freshmen and sophomores will compete in an obstacle race, a football rush, a tug of war, and a sack race for their class honor.

After the scrap, the Junior and Senior classes will contest at football.

Special exercises will be held at the campus flag pole where the class colors of each class will be hoisted after short speeches by the class presidents. At the same time green caps will be given to the freshmen men who will be required to wear them to the remainder of the year. In the afternoon is scheduled a football game with Franklin College. In the evening there will be given in Little Theatre six stunts, put on by six different campus organizations. Old Gold Day, which had originally been planned for October 17, was postponed on account of the memorial services to the late Edward Rector, benefactor and friend of DePauw University.

Thurman Gottshall, of Berne, visited friends here today and looked after business interests.

After the parade Saturday night, the fun starts at Masonic Hall. 256-21

Confidence

YOUR own physician is probably no more skilled in his profession than any other physician, but you think so simply because you have confidence in him.

Our work is probably no better than others can do, but others have had confidence in us and we have had confidence in the work we have done.

You would be surprised to know of the great number of firms who will leave all their sign painting, card writing, window trimming and advertising to us. These merchants have confidence in us, they know we can do the high standard of work best suited to their particular class of business at the least cost of production.

So it goes in all business, social or domestic affairs. If it were not for the confidence we have in others, life would not be worth very much. The same thing applies to our business. Any man or firm who has had any dealings with us and if, for any reason, has not got this sort of confidence in us, we would consider it a great favor to be allowed to refund the money on the work which destroyed their confidence in our service.

This is a good point to bear in mind at all times and especially now as the busy season of the year approaches.

This might be termed an "Art Shop of Confidence" were every firm who is in need of the services, of the highest class, in sign work, window trimming and writing and advertising can come to us with certainty of satisfaction knowing that we are not serving as an apprentice but every branch of our art is backed by years of service.
