CHANGE NAME OF NEW ROAD

Mr. Dorsey, Mr. Heuck and Mr. Williamson was appointed. Membership cards will be printed and $1 and $5 memberships sold in the association. On Nov. 10 a night mass meeting will be held at Butler, Pa., to boost the highway. Colonel Cole and James Watson, of Tiffin, Ohio, will speak. Meetings will be arranged shortly at Tiffin, Attica, Greenwich, Lodi and Akron to promote the highway. Former Congressman R. C. Cole and Mr. Watson will address the meetings.

The proposed highway mentioned in the above article, will pass through Decatur, according to present plans. Decatur and Adams county citizens are interested in the proposed route and are anxious for the state highway commission to take over the route and pave the road through Indiana.

Some pressure is being brought to bear to have the highway routed from Van Wert, Ohio, to Huntington via Fort Wayne, but the route from Van Wert to Huntington through Decatur is favored, since it is about forty miles shorter and directness is the main objective in the proposed route. Huntington county favors the route through Decatur, according to an article in the Huntington Press.

James Barnes, of Logansport, who attended the meeting at Findlay, was elected chairman of the Indiana organization at a meeting held in Wabash recently. Meetings were held at all of the cities along the proposed route in Indiana and Ohio recently, including one in this city. The proposed highway would be the shortest coast to coast route in the country. Its terminals would be Atlantic City and San Francisco.

Case Up For Trial

The case of S. W. Peterson vs. Frank and C. Enora Winans came up for trial in circuit court this morning. The jury was on hands to hear the evidence, but an effort was being made to settle the case out of court. Attorneys for the two parties were still endeavoring to reach a settlement at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The order was issued from the district attorneys office and a squad was dispatched to follow out the orders.

HUNDREDS PAY FINAL TRIBUTE TO C. S. NIBLICK

making a living, engrossed with the concerns of family life, devoted to the advancement of large issues in his avocation, liberally interested in all those movements of thought which effect social and political progress; if, I say, as a tireless worker a devoted father, a trusted citizen a true friend, he seemed to be absorbed in the things of time—there never was a man who kept more in mind the issues of eternity, who lived more in touch with the eternal years.

"I have but enumerated his titles of respect. I need not dwell on them at length. As a public man, he left a record clear and clean. In his day when elevation honor but too often subjects a man's life to mistrustful scrutiny, if not malicious gossip, no breath of suspicion ever touched his name. He stood out above small men and petty affairs fearless and above reproach. As such his memory will live in the annals of the community he served.

"But it is not of these things, honorable as they are and precious to remember, that I wish particularly to speak. It is rather of his soul. Beyond and above all else that he was he was a loyal, devout and humble son of Holy Mother Church. His faith was the very keynote of his life. Born of parents whose honesty was never questioned. Born of a mother whose faith was her all, who kept the faith that had been handed down from generations of martyrs and of a father who adopted that faith shortly before his departing hour, as a child he imbibed at his mother's breast the tenderest love for his religion, and with it too, an ardent love for the land of his nativity. He was never ashamed to be a Catholic any more than he was ashamed to be an American.

"He was esteemed not only by those of his own faith, but by others as well. The non-Catholic community, as a general rule, is unaware what the Catholic church teaches and what she stands for. But the American mind is naturally a fair mind and its judgment, though shrewd, is likely also to be just. To many such outsiders, Charles S. Niblick, the unassuming servant of servants, stood as the example and exponent of the Catholic faith, and when they saw this faithful Christian never neglecting the call to worship his God in the faith of his birth, besides his many secular duties, these fair-minded people could not but think kindly of the Church which made him what he was. The non-Catholic knows little of Rome, and perhaps cares less. But he knows a true man when he sees one, and he likes a good neighbor and will acknowledge the merit of the source that endowed the qualities he has learned to esteem. My friends this unconscious missionary work of which so little account is ordinarily taken, is one of the great by-products, so to speak, of such living and practical faith as that possessed by our departed friend.

"Of his life in your midst you are equally as well qualified to speak as I. He lived in Decatur many years going in and out among you. Always modest and unassuming, he never aimed to create a stir. He went quietly about the great business of saving his soul. In the home he was a model of prudence and gentleness, in the parish he was regular and faithful at all duties of zeal and devotion, as a trustee of the Church he assumed the burdens that would deter others who had much more time and physical strength at their disposal.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas.

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil). The inventor, J. N. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

posals. But all his labors were a part of a great ordered scheme, this life of his, in which serving God and doing good to others, harmonized with the background of the eternal years. Till a day dawned that marked the end of duties and the beginning of rewards.

"Friends, the life of Charles S. Niblick is a lesson to all of us. He is no longer with us in the flesh, but his spirit will ever be with us to excite emulation. He is dead but his spirit liveth. But shall we in reality all die death, when hand in hand with life he went forth to everlasting life?

"And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me: Write: Blessed are he dead, who die in the Lord."

Father Chapman concluded, in his own words, urging those present to join their prayers with those of the church, and to bear in mind the example of Mr. Niblick's life. "Such an occasion as this," said the speaker, "draws us all closer together, helps us to forget our differences, and to realize that after all we are brethren. Beside the grave there is to place for animosity, and we are all of one heart today, and that heart is sad. Let us go forth from these solemn obsequies with a prayer in our hearts that when our time comes, we may be as ready to go and may leave as universal a respect behind us."

Buried in Catholic Cemetery Mr. Niblick was buried in the St. Joseph Catholic Cemetery. His death occurred Wednesday morning at the Mercy hospital, Gary, following an operation for an infected throat gland.

Paul Holle Slightly Improved, Is Report

Mrs. William Schamerloh, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Schamerloh, of near Decatur, went to Toledo, Ohio, to be at the bedside of Paul Holle, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Holle, of Union township, who has been in a serious condition since a carpet tack was removed from his windpipe last week. Word received this morning was to the effect that he child was slightly improved. He is very weak, yet, and a tube is still kept in his throat.

The Key to Success

Success depends primarily on a healthy liver and stomach. You can not think straight if these organs are not working properly. May's Wonderful Remedy is usually successful in such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. At Holthouse Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.
