MEMORIAL HELD BY ROTARY CLUB

meeting, while twelve of them came over this morning for the funeral.

The resolution of respect adopted by the club last evening follows:

MEMORIAL
Charles S. Niblick, Rotarian.

"O death where is thy sting?
O grave where is thy victory?"

"For the first time in the history of the Decatur Rotary Club, death, the great enemy of all who live, has entered our ranks and taken from among us, one of our most beloved members.

"Charles S. Niblick, was born in Decatur, Indiana, on October 19th, 1866, and died October 28th, 1925.

"Nearly all his life was spent with the Old Adams County Bank, the first banking institution to be organized in Adams County, and since 1906 he has been its President. He was likewise connected with many other organizations of the city and County. He was a prominent citizen and foremost in all the developments of our community, for half a century.

"He was a member of the order of Knights of Columbus; the Order of Elks, the Moose, and the Decatur Rotary Club. At the time of his death he was a member of the Fellowship Committee of the last named organization.

"He was a devout Catholic, and served his Church faithfully and in many capacities. He was truly Christian in all his thoughts and deeds.

"To hundreds of men, women and children of this community he has been a counselor, friend and benefactor. No person however humble, or poor or even unworthy, ever sought his favor in vain, if it was in his power to grant it, and no matter how ever much the sacrifice was to him personally.

"He believed that the unkind word was a liability rather than an asset, and kindness and gentleness were in his every thought and word.

"His home life was beautiful. He was devoted to his family, and built a fire-side endowed with a bond of affection that only death can sever.

"But our own Charlie Niblick is dead. He has crossed the Great Divide. He has played his part well and filled his post with honor. The unfaltering trust we hold in the wisdom of our God tells us that the father will not slay his child; that the Creator will not destroy his masterpiece; that the light of intelligence that shown out through the soul of our departed friend and brother lives and shines again in the presence of his God.

"Other men may have had more wealth, other men may have had more opportunity to do good, other men have had more friends, but only because they had a wider acquaintance, other men may have had fewer faults, but no man has lived among us, who had a more defined and keener sense of honor, justice, honesty and right, who loved to see equity given more, who respected the convictions and faith of others kindlier, and who did his full duty as he saw it, better than Charlie Niblick.

"He has gone from among us; he sleeps away from the bustle and conflicts of life. The summer grass and the winter snow will in turn cover his silent mound, the world will move on, and the years will pass in rapid succession until we all shall have joined him, but the influence of his life on the lives of those he leaves behind him, shall never die.

"We sorrow with his bereaved family and we extend our deepest sympathy to them, yet through our tears we cannot but rejoice that he has gone to receive a reward worthy of a whole life-time effort to possess.

"I cannot say, I will not say That he is dead—he is just away. With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand

He has wandered into an unknown land,

And left us dreaming how very fair it needs must be, since he lingers there.

Think of him still the same, I say; He is not dead, he is just away." "Let us emulate his virtues, and may peace be to his soul.

"Respectfully submitted,
C. E. Bell,
L. E. Sommers,
C. C. Rayl,
Dore B. Erwin,
Fellowship Committee.

"Read and adopted by the Decatur Rotary Club, this 29th day of October, 1925.

"A. R. Holthouse, President.
H. J. Gager, Secretary."

CONSERVATIVES WIN IN CANADA

Liberal Government Overthrown In General Election Held Thursday

Montreal, Que., Oct. 30.—(United Press.)—The conservative party of Canada led by Arthur Meighan has overthrown the liberal government of Mackenzie King, Canadian premier, returns today from yesterday's general elections showed.

The conservatives have won about 120 seats. A total of 123 is necessary to give them a clear majority in parliament, but it was generally conceded that with the help of a few independent and progressive votes, Meighan can form a ministry.

The new government will have a high protective tariff and prosperity for Canada as the keynotes of its policy.

Returns available show that out of 245 seats, the conservatives have definitely won 119, the liberals 97; progressives 20 and independents four. There was an increase in the number of seats this election from 235 in the last house when the liberals had 117 seats, the conservatives 49 and the progressives 61, with labor and independents occupying two seats and four vacancies.

With Premier King fell seven of his cabinet members.

No Place Like Home

Vevay, Ind., Oct. 30.—There is no place like home to Claude Dunwoody, Vevay man who was taken ill with smallpox at Indianapolis.

He escaped from the pest house at the Indianapolis city hospital and came home. He will be permitted to remain, but the house was placed under strict quarantine.
