ATTEND THE DEMOCRATIC MEETING AT HEADQUARTERS MONDAY NIGHT.

Mrs. Magley and Mrs. Kauffman are worthy and well qualified. Vote for them Tuesday.

Don't make any crazy bets on the results in Indianapolis. That young fellow, Walter Meyers, has been coming along at less than a two-minute clip the past ten days and looks like a winner. "Ain't that wonderful?"

STICK TO KRICK.

A council composed of such men as O. L. Vance, Fred Linn, Joe Hunter, Fred Ashbaucher and George Miller will not go wrong. They have the same good interest in this community that you have and they will serve you well.

Remember that eleventh hour statements regarding an election don't count. They are unfair and the voters have learned long ago not to pay much attention to those things which cannot be answered because of time. The coming city election is perhaps more important than you think. The officials chosen next Tuesday will serve you four years and during that time a number of important matters are sure to arise. For a year or two past you have heard frequently that this is one of the best of the smaller cities in the middle west. We believe we are just on the eve of a real growth. Let's keep things moving.

The campaign is about over. It has been an unusually quiet one and the only one we have ever known where one party did not issue a single statement of what they would do if elected, announce a platform or hold a single public meeting. We believe no one should be elected to office unless they declare to the public the policies which they will try to carry out. That's the advantage of political parties, for always back of the promises of individuals stand an organization which can be called upon when necessary to see that those promises are kept. In this campaign the democrats have announced a brief, sensible and worth while platform. They have done this during the past several campaigns and each administration has kept the faith. The candidates have appeared before the voters in precinct meetings and have emphasized their intentions by declaring themselves. You know what they want to do, you must feel that they have your interests at heart and that they will make an honest effort to keep this city moving, with the lowest tax rate possible. There seems to be no doubt of the result and it remains only for the voters to go to the polls next Tuesday and cast their ballots.

STICK TO KRICK.

Join the parade tonight. You will enjoy it and you may secure one of the prizes. It's to be a noisy, happy, unique and amusing event and you should get a place along the line of march if you decide not to get in the parade. We just have to forget dull care occasionally. The children want to have a good time and it won't hurt you older folks a bit if you join them in it. Callithump with the Callithumpians tonight.

Several miles of ornamental lights, several miles of new streets, huge improvements at the city, a reduced tax rate, a well governed city, a good police force, and an up-to-date fire equipment with an excellent fire department, payment of old bonds, money in the bank, a swimming pool, a live, going, clean and fine city. That's a record that ought to bring forth the unqualified endorsement of the voters of Decatur and will, next Tuesday.

This is Hallowe'en. Spooks and goblins and witches will ride out tonight. Properly conducted the celebration can be a source of pleasure and delight and there is no reason for destruction or theft of property. An extra police force will guard the city and you young fellows who seem to derive pleasure from injuring property are warned that arrests will follow any such actions tonight. Have a good time, get in the parade, be one of the spooks, but don't violate the laws.

Municipally owned public utilities are not always profitable or desirable but when conducted as the Decatur plant has been for a number of years, there is no question about it. We have a model plant now. It is making money and here's the important part of it—our rates are lower than in most cities and will most probably be reduced still further at an early date. The reason is that much attention has been given to the operation and the financing of the proposition. The most important thing in the coming election is to guarantee a continuation of the policies which have proven wise. Stick to Krick.

We have not heard of a single ugly thing said about any candidate on either ticket in this campaign and that's as it should be. They are all honest citizens, striving to make this a better place in which to live and we hope that not a single thing arises during the next few days to injure the feelings or the good name of any one.

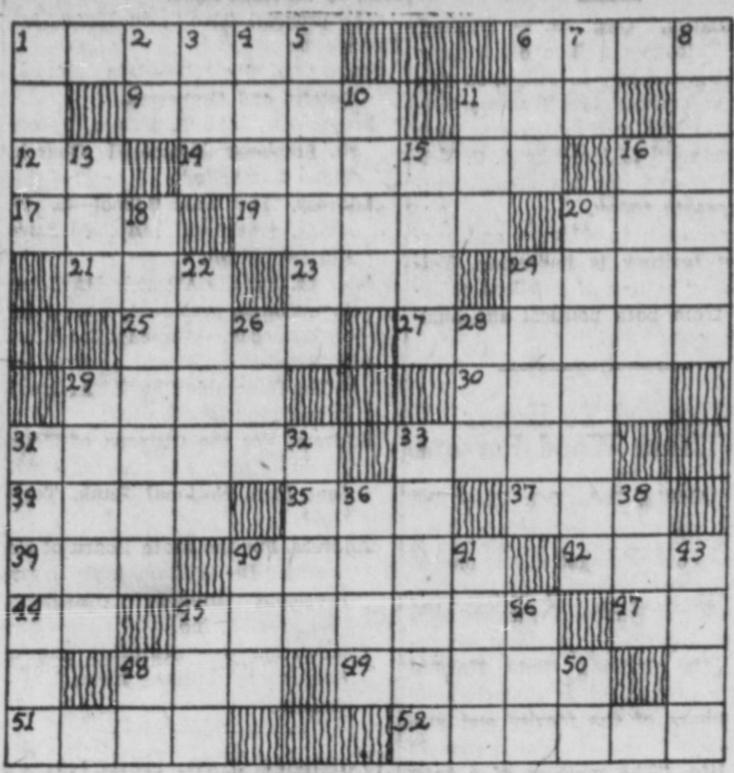

We don't believe the public generally likes the "slight-of-hand" campaign, made under cover of darkness, with a campaign card as the only document or promise. The voter prefers to know just what he or she is voting for. The democratic platform appears again in today's paper and you are asked to read it carefully and to vote for those who promise you something real and tangible.

Mrs. Gandy Called Home On Account Of Illness

Mrs. Perry Gandy left on the 10 o'clock car this morning for Churubusco, where her father-in-law is seriously ill. He has been suffering from internal ailments for several months and, owing to his age, his condition is most serious. Shortly after Mrs. Gandy left, her little son, Stewart Gandy, aged two, slipped on a rug at the C. S. Niblick home and fell, striking his head against the side board and inflicting an ugly gash in his forehead, which required several stitches to close.

IN MEMORIAM

Charles S. Niblick was born in Decatur, Indiana, on October 19, 1866, and while still in the vigor of his powers and success was beckoning him on to greater future, disease laid its relentless hand upon him and marked him for its own. His depleted strength would not permit of his recovery and life slowly ebbed away and went out on the morning of October 18, 1925.

We, his fellow members of the Board of Directors of the American Security Company of Decatur, knew him long, intimately and well and therefore hold in high appreciation his splendid qualities of mind and heart which characterized his useful life, do unite in this brief memorial.

On account of his courteous and kindly disposition in his intercourse with business associates, as well as the general public, he was indeed fortunate, in that, because of his kindly nature he was not inclined to provoke the kind of antagonism which engenders bitterness, and therefore through life he enjoyed a marked degree of personal friendly regard by his business associates.

His was not a one-sided life. His talents were varied and while his life was largely devoted to banking interests, he gave largely of his time, means and talent to public affairs, and to numerous business enterprises, wherein his conservative judgment and business sagacity was invited and appreciated.

In his church and its various agencies with all of which he was actively engaged during his whole life he gave his best efforts.

It was his generous consideration for others that became habitual and instinctive with him and a part of his very nature; and excluded from his mind all base considerations for himself and moved him to give his life freely for the good of his fellow man and the community generally.

We extend to his family our sincere condolence and direct a copy of this memorial be entered upon our records.

IS PEKING SENSATION

Peking, Oct. 31—(United Press)—Feminism has invaded the household of the conservative-minded Christian General Feng Yu-hsiang and friends of the family are holding their breath in anticipation of an explosion.

Mrs. Feng, formerly a Y. W. C. A. worker in Peking, named Miss Lee Teh-chuan, has bobbed her hair. For a considerable time it has been her desire to follow the Occidental style in this matter, but her husband has entered strenuous objections. Exactly what his attitude is in the matter now is a subject of profound speculation. One report has it that he has only acquiesced at last, but actually played the part of barber.

When you pay your bills by check, there is never any danger of having to pay the same bill a second time through failure to get a receipt. Once a check has been cancelled by your bank it will stand in any court as proof that the bill for which the check was given, has been paid, and that the person to whom the check was made payable has received his money.

Besides when you pay by check, you always have the right change.

THE GARDEN IN AUTUMN

The garden looks a little ragged now. 'Twill die, but with a blossom on its brow! The brown eyed Susans all have gone to seed. Among the roses there is many a weed. And old and tired the phloxes sag and bow; The dianthus bloom as they know, somehow. The killing frost is coming on full-speed, But here and there a plant is brave indeed. Plants age so gracefully, as if they'd saved A little of their strength for that last hour. When the chill blast of winter must be braved, To meet the grim all-conqueror in flower! Even the daisy, as it meets its doom, Spends its last bit of strength to pass in bloom.
