

DECORATOR NOW ENJOYS HEALTH

Samuel L. Martin, 713 1/2 Main street, Evansville, well known painter and decorator, says, "Of course I look younger. I feel younger, thanks to Tanlac, but two years ago I was all run down."

"I was weak all the time because I had no appetite and what I did eat gave me no energy. The only thing I got from food was indigestion, bloating and much constipation. I'd get up tired in the mornings. It was discouraging."

"One day a friend said, 'Your trouble is sick digestive organs. Your food is not digested; it causes bloating, heartburn and headaches. Tanlac is a tonic for sick digestive organs. Take Tanlac and you'll help your digestive organs give you health.'"

"I took his advice and now Tanlac has given me a healthy body. I sleep fine. Eat everything. I have much more strength. Even ceiling decorating does not tire me."

Over 40,000,000 bottles have been sold. Endorsed by many Indiana people and millions elsewhere. Get Tanlac today at your druggist's.

U. S. Pictured As A Shylock In France

(By Ralph Heinzen, United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Nov. 4. — (United Press). — There is more than a grain of wisdom in that old adage that to lend a man money is to lose a friend.

Never in all the years that Americans have been coming to France, have they been more welcome, but never have they been open to such ridicule and criticism in the public press as at present.

The return of M. Caillaux and his party of negotiators and the opening of Parliament where one of the first big problems is that of war debts have given the caustic writers and artists of the French press ample material.

"Shylock" is the phrase most frequently heard, and bearded Uncle Sam hoarding up his gold bags is caricatured in all his glory and ridicule. Not even the shell-rimmed glasses, the "Oxford bags," plus

Nobody Loves You

It is impossible to get anywhere if you are a crab. Nobody loves you. To be successful you must have a kindly, lovable disposition. You can not have this with an unhealthy liver and stomach. They don't go together. Dr. Williams' Wonderful Remedy has given complete and permanent results in thousands of such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. At Holthouse Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.

fours" and thick brim straw hats of American men and the flat heels and swollen calves of American women visitors escape the vitriol.

And there are all sorts of suggestions as to how France can pay America. One Senator actually suggested that France wipe off this debt in payment of the one America has owed France since Louis XVI and of which nothing more is ever heard. A deputy, M. Frederic Brunet would carry the whole debt situation before the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague.

But an idea which might meet with popular approval, even though the experts would throw up their hands in horror was proposed by "L'Oeuvre" a Parisian newspaper of radical tendencies. That paper suggests that France pay America in kind. That every year $100,000,000 worth of French wines, French liquors and French pastry be set aside, earmarked for America "to be consumed in place." Thus in forty years, America would die of gout but the debt would be paid.

Perhaps the finest "bon mot" was that of one of the wittiest of French deputies, M. Boutelle, representing the Oise Department. He played on the fact that "la faillite," in French, although pronounced exactly as Americans speak the name of La Fayette means "bankruptcy."

He turned around the phrase, credited to General Pershing although that worthy has repeatedly denied that he ever thought of it as he paid his visit to La Fayette's tomb upon his arrival in France in 1917, "La Fayette, we are here."

M. Boutelle repeats it: "La faillite, nous voici!" — "bankruptcy, we are here."

But the greatest joke in French public opinion is that America asks for payment for the war stocks. These stocks of the American army have formed a standing joke for vaudeville comedians and somehow or other Parisians cannot get down to taking the stocks seriously.

When the American army went home, fine business heads enrolled as temporary officers, saw the impossibility of carrying back all the war material—railroad trains, automobiles food, stuffs—which had been shipped overseas. They broached the idea of selling it to France for $407,000,000 payable in ten years.

At that time a dollar was worth five francs and the cost of the stocks was two billion francs. Since then the franc has dropped in value and the same stocks are charged today, eight billion francs. But the stocks no longer exist. Not a small percentage were stolen or rusted away. Cadillacs were sold at 4,000 francs each, strings of motorcycles went for a song, that food stuff which could not be sold rotted in its time—all that remains today is the stocks debt which has quadrupled in six years.

"Murderers Row" Is Being Restored

By Henry L. Farrell
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 4. — (United Press). — During their recent happy days in the American League big money, the New York Yankees were propelled principally by a powerful attack, featuring "Murderers Row."

When their chief murderer, Babe Ruth, started to get less brutal and savage with the bat, the whole row succumbed to the contagion and the attack ceased to function.

Next season the Yankees are threatening with another array of long distance sluggers headed by the Babe, Bob Meusel, Lou Gehrig and the new-comer, Tony Lazerre from the Pacific Coast.

"There's enough power there to blow up plenty of ball games and crack the fences all around the circuit," Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees said recently. Barrow thinks that the club is sure to be up around the top next year.

Lazerre hit sixty homers in the Pacific Coast League last season and surpassed Ruth's record although he played in 200 games while the Babe's season is limited to 154 games or as many less as his physical condition requires.

Several major league scouts, talking during the world's series, said that Lazerre was a good natural slugger, but they pointed out that Salt Lake City was a fine place to hit in.

"That Salt Lake City stuff is largely the bunk," Barrow said. "Lazerre hit just about as many on the road as he did in Salt Lake City, and if we didn't think he'd hit in the American League we would not have bought him."

There is no doubt that Babe Ruth can hit when he is in shape and there are reasons to believe that he will be in playing condition at the start of the next season.

In company with Eddie Collins, Bob Shawkey, Joe Bush and several other American League stars, the Babe is chasing the elusive moose in the Canadian wilds and as there is nothing else to do at night but go to bed in the woods, the Babe ought to get himself into good condition.

The row he had with manager Huggins last season, which resulted in a suspension and a fine of $5,000, should be a good lesson to Ruth. He learned that he was just one of the players on the club and that he was subjected to the same discipline as the cheaper help on the team.

If Ruth is made to adhere to the rules of the team next year, the morale of the whole team ought to be improved because Ruth's success in getting away with most anything did not make the other players feel any too willing to observe the rules that Ruth ignored.
