VAST CROWD TO SEE "RED" PLAY

State Of Illinois Turns Out In Vast Numbers For Illini-Chicago Game

By Edward C. Derr
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Urbana, Ill., Nov. 7.—(United Press)—The state of Illinois was thrown into turmoil today by a red-haired youngster who carries ice to back doors in the summer months and footballs to touchdowns in the autumn.
Red Grange, this afternoon plays his last conference game in the Memorial stadium when his Illinois team engages Coach A. A. Stagg's Chicago Maroons.

Next week-end Illinois meets Wabash, a non-conference school, and then Red ends his collegiate career at Columbus against Ohio State Nov. 21.
And so the state turned out today in vast numbers for a parting glimpse of the red-haired marvel, in Big Ten competition. A network of paved roads leading to Champaign and Urbana was clogged with automobile traffic and railroad schedules were knocked out because of special trains routed from all corners of the state. Extra seats have been built and 69,000 fans will see the game.

Rain fell here all night and converted the gridiron into a puddle of mud and water. Red hasn't had the privilege of showing his wares on a dry field any time this year but he has become accustomed to heavy running—as demonstrated by his marvelous performance against Penn last week—that the chances are about even he will get away this afternoon.

The two teams are almost even as to weight. Betting odds were 8 to 5 in favor of Illinois, despite the fact Chicago has not lost to a conference team in two years while Illinois dropped its first two Big Ten games this season. The odds were based chiefly on the fact Chicago lost to Penn and Illinois won.

Michigan Wolverines Meet Northwestern Team Today

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The "heirs apparent" to the Big Ten championship—Michigan's Wolverines—clashed with Northwestern here today and 40,000 fans braved chill winds and rain to see the game.

Unless a team of mediocre ability can rise to almost undreamed of heights, Michigan should come through with another Big Ten victory to its credit. The Wolverines were aroused to fighting pitch by a statement attributed to Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois that he didn't try to beat Michigan but saved his strength for Penn. Michigan beat Zuppke's Illinois eleven 3 to 0.

"Moon" Baker, most versatile of Northwestern backs, may see action in only a portion of today's game. He is still wobbly on the ankle that was sprained three weeks ago.

Richmond H. S. Forfeits Grid Game To Portland

Portland, Nov. 7.—Word received this morning at the local high school from the State High School Athletic Association that the Richmond high school had forfeited the game between the locals and Red Devils, which was played at Richmond a few weeks ago with the Panthers losing the game 25 to 0. The Richmond team used a player who was ineligible and this player alone made twelve points in the game. With the forfeiting of the game the Panthers add another victory to their list for this season.

Decatur-Van Wert Game Is Postponed Today

Owing to the continued rain and the muddy condition of the field, the Decatur-Van Wert football game, scheduled for this afternoon was called off. The game was to have been played at Van Wert and was cancelled by agreement of both teams.
