

STATE REFUTES TESTIMONY OF DEFENSE

KRICK TO MAKE APPOINTMENTS WITHIN A WEEK

Mayor-Elect To Appoint Officers To Fill Several Positions In City

TO CONSULT WITH COUNCIL ON MATTER

George Krick, mayor-elect of Decatur, announced this morning that he would make his appointments sometime within the next week. Much speculation has been made as to who would be appointed to the several offices to be filled by the mayor's appointments.

The law now gives the mayor the power to appoint the chief of police and all other policemen; the members of the city health board; the fire chief; the street commissioner and the city engineer. Heretofore, the mayor also appointed the city attorney, but the legislature of 1925 vested this power in the hands of the council. The council will appoint the superintendents of the light and power departments, of the city water works plant and, as has been the custom, will elect the members of the city school board.

To Name Police Force
Joel Reynolds has been serving as chief of police for the past four years, being appointed by Mayor H. M. DeVoss. It is not known who Mayor Krick will appoint to this place and who the other three policemen will be. Seps Melchi, Arthur Clark and Fred Gay are now members of the force.

On the health board there are three members, namely Dr. J. M. Miller, secretary; Dr. H. E. Keller and Mrs. J. H. Heller. In keeping with their pledge and platform a woman will be appointed on this board, but Mr. Krick has not indicated who will receive the appointment.

Amos Fisher was appointed fire chief by Mayor DeVoss and this office will also be filled by Mr. Krick's appointment. Mr. Krick, although having

Origin Of Elephant Rock Determined

Mr. French Quinn, well-known Decatur citizen, recently sent a sample of Elephant Rock, the large boulder being moved to this city to be dedicated as a memorial to Gene Stratton Porter, to the state geologist, W. N. Logan, asking that he determine the origin of the rock. The following letter was received from Mr. Logan today:

"Mr. French Quinn, Decatur, Ind.

"Dear Sir: The sample rock which you sent me is called 'gneiss.' It is probably a metamorphosed granite which had its home somewhere in the old crystalline belt of rocks in Canada. During the Glacial Period when the larger part of the surface of Indiana was covered with a thick layer of ice this boulder of gneiss was carried down into Indiana by the ice as the sheet of ice moved southward from Canada. When the ice melted the boulder was left as a part of the Fort Wayne glacial moraine which exists in the vicinity of the St. Marys river.

"The rock is composed of minerals such as feldspar, quartz, hornblende, mica, pyrite, and smaller quantities of other minerals. The minerals are in the form of crystals of varying size. While this gneiss is not as durable as some granites, it will form a very durable monument.

"Such a glacial boulder is called an 'erratic,' 'a wanderer' because it has wandered so far from its original home.

"It seems to me fitting that this boulder, the result of the operation of one of Nature's marvelous laws, should be erected in memory of one who was a lover of Nature in its varied forms and who strove for the preservation of natural environments.

"Yours sincerely,
"W. N. LOGAN, State Geologist."

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED HERE

Factory Whistles Blow, Bells Ring And Business Is Halted Few Minutes

The blowing of factory whistles, ringing of bells and silence in all stores and factories at 11 o'clock this morning, carried the thoughts of Decatur people back to that joyful event of seven years ago, when word was flashed around the world that an armistice had been signed by the warring nations and the World War, the most bloody conflict the world has ever known, was ended. Today was celebrated as Armistice Day throughout the United States, as a holiday.

In addition to the observance mentioned above, the day was appropriately observed in the schools of the city, and the banks were closed all day. No public observance of the event was held, but the flags were placed in their sockets along the sidewalks throughout the business section.

McQuigg Outlines American Legion's Program For International Peace

National Commander Of Veterans' Organization Asks For Maintenance Of Adequate Forces For Defense At Home And Abroad; Prompt Enactment Into Law Of Principle Of Universal Draft; And Immediate Adherence By The United States To A Permanent Court Of International Justice.

(By John R. McQuigg, National Commander of the American Legion)
Denver, Colo., Nov. 11.—Armistice day is a day of peace. One this day seven years ago the great guns fell silent on the western front. Tranquility came to a world weary with four long years of war.

Yet the men and women who formed America's forces in this greatest conflict of all time knew that their service was not ended with the war. So there came into existence the American Legion, born to keep alive, with the comradeship of war days, that spirit of service to country and sacrifice of self which had held America's soldiers on their post of duty through perils and privations.

Much has been done in the years since 1919 to give effect to that purpose of service through care of the war disabled, the orphans and widows, efforts for a better citizenship and a better preparation for it and work to make America greater with the years.

Now the legion turns to another problem, the supreme problem of this generation—that of organizing peace and justice among the nations. And so today as we pause to pay tribute to our comrades who died and to those who now lie maimed and pain-racked that peace might come, the American Legion offers this program for peace, calling for Maintenance of adequate forces for internal and external national defense.

Prompt enactment into law of the principle of the universal draft, taking the profit out of war and making its hardships and service and sacrifice equal for all.

Immediate adherence by the United States to a permanent court of international justice.

The veterans of the world war fought and suffered and died in the belief that the world was a war to end future wars. It is for us the living to make good that peace for them.

The American Legion takes up this task and on this eighth Armistice day offers its program for peace in the hope that thus the veterans who fought for peace may further serve America and mankind.

Speakers will visit the schools during the week and talk on the subject of education, its advantages and necessity.

The program prepared by the United States Bureau of Education suggests that Monday be known as "Constitutional Day," Tuesday as "Patriotism Day," Wednesday as "School and Teacher day," Thursday as "Conservation and Thrift day," Friday as "Know your school day," Saturday as "Community and health day," and Sunday in the churches as "For God and Country Day."

COL. MITCHELL WINS ROUND IN COURT-MARTIAL

General Staff Officer Proves Excellent Witness For Flying Colonel

RIGHT TO PROVE CHARGES UPHELD

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Nov. 11.—A sweeping attack that enveloped the army general staff, the navy, the White House and the social organization of the army at the capital was unleashed at the Mitchell court-martial here today by Major Gerald C. Brant, general staff officer and a defense witness, in one of the most colorful sessions to date.

The day was marked as well by the collapse of Mrs. Robert Howse, wife of the president of the court-martial in the hearing room, and dramatic two-minute pause of the court with members standing facing the east, in memory of Armistice Day. Brant proved an excellent witness for Col. Mitchell in the opinion of the defense counsel, bringing to the trial the viewpoint of a dissident member of the high command itself.

Upheld In Ruling.
Washington, Nov. 11.—(United Press).—A clear cut ruling sustaining Colonel William Mitchell in his asserted right to an opportunity to prove the truth of his charges against the war and navy departments as a defense was handed down by the jury of generals at his court-martial here today.

On the technical question of summing up 36 out of town witnesses for Mitchell, the court ruled that the flying colonel was within his rights in offering testimony "as an absolute defense."

The ruling came after a question as to the purpose of the introduction of witnesses and testimony by the defense was raised by Colonel Blanton.

To Appoint Superintendents of Light and Water Depts., City Attorney

With a new city council elected and with the first of the year only seven weeks away, the appointments to be made by the council are being discussed and guesses made as to who will be appointed.

It is not thought that any changes will be made in the appointment of superintendents of the water and light departments of the city plant. The present officials in charge have been giving excellent work and have worked untiringly in the interest of the city plant.

M. J. Mylott, superintendent of the light and power department of the city plant, has held this office since November 16, 1917. He was appointed during the administration of Bart Quinn. Mr. Mylott is an experienced electrical engineer and is an accommodating official and much credit is due him for the successful management of the plant within the last few years.

FIANCE OF MISS OBERHOLTZER IS WITNESS TODAY

Tells Of Introducing His Sweetheart To Stephenson Last January

OTHER EVIDENCE OF DEFENSE IS REFUTED

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 11.—Glaring at the three men accused of murdering his sweetheart Stanley Hill today testified he introduced Miss Madge Oberholtzer to D. C. Stephenson at the inaugural ball for Governor Ed Jackson last January. Hill appeared for the state in its presentation of rebuttal testimony in the trial of Stephenson and his two aides, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry, charged with murder for the girl's death.

His testimony was offered by Prosecutor Remy to refute defense evidence attempting to show that Miss Oberholtzer had been friendly with Stephenson for months before her alleged kidnapping.

Meeting At Inaugural Ball
Hill testified he had "kept company" with Miss Oberholtzer for more than a year and had seen her nearly every day during that time. "I was secretary of the inaugural committee and had charge of seating arrangements for the governor's banquet," Hill testified.

"Madge Oberholtzer was there as my guest and helped me arrange the seating," Stephenson and a woman companion sat directly across the table from us.

"I introduced her to Stephenson as the guests came in. I was positive she had never met him before."

Defense witnesses had testified they had seen Miss Oberholtzer in company with Stephenson on several occasions prior to the governor's banquet.

NEW MEMBER TAKES LEAD

Herd Belonging To E. H. Kruetzman Is First In Cow Testing Association

That those farmers who were members of the Adams County Cow Testing association last year have not learned everything about feeding cows is shown in the fact that E. H. Kruetzman, Kirkland township farmer, who joined the association with the new year beginning October 1, held all members of the association for the month of October with an average of 28.9 pounds butterfat for each cow. Mr. Kruetzman had 12 cows on test. Orion Wheeler, another new member of the association, was second, his six cows averaging 26.4 pounds butterfat for the month.

Sol Mosser, of Jefferson township, fed the highest producing individual cow of the month, she being a pure-bred Jersey who produced 56.6 pounds butterfat during the 31-day period. A cow in Mr. Kruetzman's herd was second with 51.0 pounds. Calvin Liechty, another new member, has the honor of feeding third and fifth high cows, their records being 50.7 and 50.4 pounds respectively. Both cows were purebred Holsteins.

Dan Muelzin, Monroe township farmer had fourth highest cow, she producing 50.5 pounds butterfat. The ten highest cows in the association
