Help save the bees.

Charley Schwab, the steel king, favors the Ben Franklin road and will assist in securing federal aid for this important coast-to-coast highway, and don't forget that Charley has power.

Every man and boy in the county can well afford a day or two to helping the farmers get the bees out. If it isn't done during the next ten days it may be too late and it means hundreds of thousands of dollars to this county.

Save the bees. Its important for those farmers who have spent months in securing a crop and which is lost unless they can get them out of the ground during the next few days. Whatever is necessary to do this should be done by the people of the county.

Indiana Democrats will meet at Indianapolis, Thursday, to discuss plans for the 1926 campaign. State Chairman Chambers has sent letters to workers over the state urging attendance and the necessity of an air-tight organization and a ticket composed of "go-getting" candidates. The session should be an interesting one.

The annual campaign for the Red Cross fund is now on and it should make you happy to have the opportunity to help along this cause. This is the greatest organization of its kind in America or in the world. It works when the clouds are the darkest and it doesn't stop to consider creed or color. To keep it going requires many thousands of dollars and as good Christian citizens we should all pay our dollar dues.

This is a good week to advertise your goods Mr. Merchant. Step on the gas, wake up, let the folks know you have things to sell. Wise advertising is the most necessary thing in your business and no one who has tried it will deny the advantages. We reach every part of the county daily and you can send your message to the people at a low cost. Start in now.

The Adams County Agricultural Association will be a very important part of this community. Its members will compose the very best citizens of every part of the county and each township will be represented in the board of managers. Those back of it are trying their best to dodge mistakes made by other counties and to make this one of greatest benefit to all. The stock is being readily subscribed for and interest is being manifested in every section.

Earl Gentry, the man who rode with Stephenson in the state-room the night they took Miss Oberholzer to Hammond and who was his right hand man in all activities, declared after the verdict was returned Saturday evening: "I don't see why they stuck Steve and let me go," and neither do a lot of folks. He is to be tried for arson next and perhaps the jury will look at it the same way he does.

American Education Week starts today and throughout the schools of Adams county the children will be instructed on such subjects as constitution, the flag, the school and what it means, conservation and thrift and what school day means. Adams county has fifty-one public school rooms and nine high school rooms, employs 170 teachers and costs the county over $300,000 per year, besides which we have eight parochial high schools, employing twenty teachers. We have more than 4,000 school children in the county. You are urged to visit the schools this week and to show an interest in this part of Adams county life, than which nothing is more important.

D. C. Stephenson who claimed to be "the law" in Indiana and who unquestionably did at one time have great power, was found guilty of murder in the second degree and given life imprisonment by the Hamilton county jury which returned a verdict Saturday evening. Its a mighty fall, but is further proof that one can go just so far with this "high and mighty" stuff and even then had better watch his step. The law does not provide that any one can do wrong things and go free, it gives to no man the right to commit arson, rape or murder and still hold his head up. Stephenson says he has just begun to fight but he will find few to support him in his claims that he should be free because of any mysterious power he may feel he has and as time slips by he may be surprised at the attitude of supposed friends. It has been a nasty case and most people will be glad it is over.

IF YOU KNEW

If you knew a note from you Had a wealth of comfort in it, Or for just one fleeting minute Would make bright a colorless room Darkened now by pain and gloom. Where a friend of yours is lying, Weak and helpless, maybe dying, Would you not with love indite it? Well, it would! Why don't you write it?

If you knew a word from you Had a charm sad eyes to brighten, Hope to raise and care to lighten, Strength to send a friend or neighbor Braver to his daily labor, Power to scatter every doubt, Every dismal thought to rout, Would you not with pleasure say it? Well, it has! So why delay it?

Prize Winning Apples, Donated By J. O. Tricker, Sell For Five Dollars

The Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross held the lucky number for the proceeds from the basket of prize apples, sold by J. O. Tricker, Saturday. Twenty charitable organizations were given numbers upon application, entitling them to a chance for the entire proceeds from the blue-ribbon apples that won first prizes at more than 20 state and county fairs this year.

S. E. Black, of this city, was the high bidder for the apples, his bid being $5.00 for the bushel. The winning number was drawn Saturday afternoon and the money was turned over to the Red Cross.

Miss Anna Winnes, secretary of the county organization, stated this morning that she wished to thank Mr. Tricker for his kindness, and wishes to assure the people that the money will go to a worthy cause. Mr. Tricker, who resides east of the city, has displayed apples at fairs for
