

Doing Business In A Community Where Good Schools Make A Good Community

The Cloverleaf Creameries believes this to be one of the best, finest and most progressive communities in the central-west. We were convinced of that fact when we located our creamery here and staked our all in the belief that where you found good schools, you found a progressive, educated public and a good community.

A Forward Step In Education

In connection with American Education Week, facts of great interest to every home have been published. It is gratifying to know that Adams county has 9 public high schools, 51 one room public schools, 8 parochial grade schools and one parochial high school. Proof that our people believe in education, that they want their children to receive those advantages which help make a better citizenry is shown in the figure that more than $300,000.00 is raised annually through taxation and spent in the operation and maintainence of the public schools. Many more thousands of dollars are spent in maintaining the parochial schools. When we think that more than 4,000 pupils are attending the schools in the county we can gain a little conception of the appreciation the younger generation has for the advantages offered.

Education As Applied To Dairy Business

Through several years of experience and probably through some education it has been shown that the farmer of today, the farmer who has a herd of good dairy cattle, can increase his earning capacity and in many cases make more profit from a few good cows than from many acres of land, by selling butterfat to the Cloverleaf Creameries. At first many hesitated or were backward in seeing the advantages for the farmer who had butterfat to sell. With the development of this territory as a dairy field, a ready market for butterfat has been given the farmer. The price paid for this product makes it worth the farmer's time and investment to herd a few cows. A daily profit can be made if you sell butterfat to us. Many a farmer is paying off the mortgage with the profits he receives from the sale of butterfat. Butterfat has a steady market and we can use every pound you have. Good creamery butter is in great demand and what we need is more production—IN OTHER WORDS, MORE BUTTERFAT.

Let us talk to you on the advantages of selling Butterfat to us. We can show you how your neighbor is making money by doing it.

Education is a fine thing, the greatest asset a community or nation can have and to live in a community where these educational advantages are offered is to live in one of the garden-spots of the world. Adams county is rich in all of these worth while blessings.
