KIRKLAND BEATS YELLOW JACKETS

Decatur Team Outclassed By Seasoned Kangaroos In Opening Game, 21-13

Kirkland township high school's Kangaroos leaped all over the high school gymnasium here last night and the Decatur high school Yellow Jackets just couldn't sting 'em, with the result that Kirkland defeated the Decatur cagers in their first basketball game of the season, 21-13. It was the sixth game of the season for the Kirkland quintet, which displayed a fast passing and smooth working outfit.

The only bright spot of the evening for Decatur fans was the one-sided victory of the Decatur girls over the Kirkland lassies in the second game of the evening, the final score being 51 to 9. The Yellow Jacket Hopelists lost to the Kirkland reserves in the first game on the program, 15-11.

As for Kirkland, the "basketball hot-bed" of Adams county is represented by a stronger team this year than last year. The players are small but they employ team-work to a great advantage and there are at least three good shots on the team. Their playing outclassed that of the Yellow Jackets last night and their victory was deserved.

Decatur drew first blood in the game when Welker went in under the basket for a short shot which registered two points. The visitors soon took the lead, however, and at one time the score stood 13-2. Coach Kennedy shifted his lineup, removing Bebout from the game, moving Strickler to center and putting Zwick in at forward. Later Reynolds substituted for Welker and "Red" Acker got a chance to perform at floor guard when Captain Moser injured his knee in a fall. The first half ended 15-7. Both teams scored six points in the second half. Ossian will play Decatur on the local floor next Wednesday night. A large crowd of fans, many of whom were from Kirkland township, witnessed the game last night.

Northwestern Wildcats Battle Notre Dame Today

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 21.—(United Press)—Conceded little more than a fighting chance, the Wildcats of Northwestern went into the Notre Dame game today determined to repeat the upset they gave Michigan two weeks ago.

Coach Knut Rockne, remembering the scare furnished by Northwestern last year with the Purple gave the Irish the toughest battle of the season, probably will start his regulars.

Independent Net Team To Be Organized At Berne

Berne, Nov. 21.—Berne will have an independent basketball team this season, according to an announcement made today by two local business men, E. Chick Aeschlman and L.R. Schug. These two men are working to reorganize the Berne Athletic Club and put a team in the field in the near future.

An independent basketball tournament, similar to the one held here last year, will be held this season, it is said. The tourney held last year was a great success.

LEADERS TO GO TO HUNTINGTON

Decatur Team Will Help Huntington Athletics Open Season Thursday

The Decatur Leaders will travel to Huntington Thursday evening to help the Huntington Athletics open their season. The Athletics are the successors to the Huntington American Legion team, which has disbanded. Von Crowe, who managed the Legion team for five years, is manager of the Athletics.

Great preparations are being made in Huntington for the Athletics' first game. Crowe is enthusiastic about his new team and says it will be one of the best teams he has ever managed. The Huntington Y.M.C.A. Celts will play the Muncie Y.M.C.A. team in the curtain-raiser. Huntington was scheduled to play the Leaders in this city next Tuesday night, but owing to the fact that the church bazaar will open at the Catholic school building next week, the Leaders could not get the gymnasium for that night.

More Than 25,000 Fans At Purdue-Indiana Game

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 21.—(United Press)—More than 25,000 people were in Bloomington today ready for the annual clash between the Crimson clad grid warriors of Indiana and the Black and Gold uniformed outfit from Purdue.

In this game Indiana will dedicate its new stadium—erected as a memorial to the World war veterans of the university.

The teams also will start a tradition by playing for the "old oaken bucket," a trophy which it is hoped will rank with the famous Michigan-Minnesota brown jug in future years.

Chicago And Wisconsin Meet In Traditional Game

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(United Press)—Without any title at stake but with both teams keyed to a high pitch by the traditional rivalry which started between them in 1894, Chicago and Wisconsin, lined up here today for their twenty-ninth battle.

Wisconsin is expected to employ a passing attack much in the same manner as that which Dartmouth used so successfully last week against the Maroons.

Stagg is without several regulars who failed in some scholastic work.

In the 22 previous battles between the two teams, Chicago has won 13, Wisconsin 11, and four were ties.

GRANGE ENDS HIS COLLEGE CAREER

Wheaton Ice-Man Leads His Illinois Team Against Ohio State Eleven

By H. W. Sharpe

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Ohio Stadium, Columbus, O., Nov. 21.—(United Press)—Red Grange, the Wheaton ice-man, will bid goodbye to the intercollegiate gridiron this afternoon when he leads his Illinois team mates against Ohio State.

The starting gun will find Red in his old place in the backfield, a place that will be filled by another moleskin warrior next fall.

All the ingredients of ideal football weather—brilliant sunshine, crisp autumn air and a fast, dry field—were on tap for the opening whistle.

Fighting Bob Zuppke, dynamic Illinois mentor, announced his team was in good shape, but was not overconfident.

Doc Wilce, the Buckeye tutor, announced that he will send in the same crippled line that has relieved praise for its tenacious defense.

The passing of Grange will be singularly different than two years ago when he ran for a touchdown against Ohio State. Then he was an outstanding athlete, but now he is hailed as the superman of the gridiron.

Regardless of whether the Redhead becomes a professional football player or sells Florida real estate, this intercollegiate star holds the eyes of the nation.

When Grange hears the final whistle and scurries for the dressing room, one of the most stupendous omissions ever bestowed upon a man probably will be accorded him, whether or not he gets away, or is cut down by the fighting Buckeyes.

While usually undisputable sources were relating under oath that Red had signed a contract with C. C. Pyle, Champaign, Ill., theater owner and that the sorrel-top will play professional football with the Chicago Bears and others, Grange himself will not confirm this until after the game.

Besieged and harangued by scores of newspaper men until he is what Bob Zuppke describes as a "bundle of nerves," Grange was expected to briefly outline his future plans, flee from the stadium and hide out until time for his "date."

Red is known to be "dated" with a Columbus debutante for tonight and not caring to have his evening spoiled by inquisitive scribes, was expected to outline his future as quickly as possible.

Whether or not is was learned before the game that Grange has actually signed a contract to play professional football, is all probability it would not affect his status this afternoon.

Big League Players May Continue Writing

By Henry L. Farrell
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 21.—(United Press)—Major league baseball players will be permitted to continue writing for newspapers but they will be held responsible for everything appearing under their name, it was indicated, following a brief visit here by Commissioner Landis.

The writing players will not even be put under an obligation to write their own stuff but they will be expected to read what has been written for them before it is published or become liable for unfavorable results.

When Roger Peckinpaugh, the Washington shortstop, was asked during the last world's series what he meant by writing that Umpire Horatius missed a decision on him, Peck replied that he didn't write the article and that the first he saw of it was in print.

Commissioner Landis, at that time, held him responsible for making the criticism and Peck, it is understood, had to apologize. Bucky Harris, the Washington manager, also had to beg the pardon of the officials for a crack he made about their powers of vision.

Yale Doped To Win From Harvard Eleven

By Henry L. Farrell

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 21.—(United Press)—Yale and Harvard celebrated their fiftieth football anniversary today in a battle for the booby prize of the Big Three.

Although there was nothing at stake but consolation, there was just as much interest among the gathered thousands as if the teams were going into the game for the championship of the world.

The betting odds were 2 to 1 and better that Harvard would NOT win.

For the first time in three years decent weather conditions prevailed today and it was not a matter of jubilation for Harvard as the odds were all the better for Yale on a fast field.

Today's game will end a season that has been largely a disappointment to the two teams.

Michigan Wolverines Meet Minnesota In Title Game

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 21.—(United Press)—With clear, crisp weather and a moderately fast playing field in prospect, the Michigan Wolverines and the Minnesota Gophers meet on Perry field here this afternoon to decide the Western conference championship. While the Yostmen idled away final hours at Barton Hills Country club near here, Coach Spears put the visitors through the final practice at Jackson, thousands of rabid Michigan and Minnesota partisans poured into Ann Arbor last night and today. A crowd of 48,000 is expected to pack the stands when the game starts at 2:30 p. m. Eastern standard time.

Every man on the Michigan squad is reported in perfect condition for the game, although the Minnesota lineup is expected to suffer from the absence of Captain Aacher, Gary and Hyde, who are suffering from injuries.
