MARKET REPORTS

Daily Report Of Local And Foreign Markets

OPENING GRAIN REVIEW
Chicago, Dec. 29.—(United Press)—Bearish influences, strictly foreign, depressed sentiment in the local grain pit at opening trade here today. Liverpool was sharply lower, reflecting weakness in Buenos Aires.

Bullish undertone persisted in wheat but there was a tendency to go slow, pending news from Argentine. Local and eastern longs were credited with selling based on weaker cables.

Corn developed an easy undertone in sympathy with wheat. Oats trailed other grains on a dull market.

Weaker hogs and grains depressed provisions. East Buffalo Livestock Market. Receipts 3200, shipments 2280, hogs closing low. Heavies $12@12.50; mediums $12.50@13; light weight $13@13.50; light lights and pigs $14@14.25; packing sows rough $10@10.25; cattle 200 steady; sheep 2500; best lambs $17@17.10; best ewes $8@9; calves 200; tops $16.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

The first lesson in life is to burn our own smoke; that is, not to inflict on outsiders our personal sorrows and petty morbidness, not to keep thinking of ourselves as exceptional cases.—James Russell Lowell.

RECIPES WE WILL CHERISH

The old English recipe for peach or plum cheeses may be used for any fruit cheese. Put the fruit into a large casserole or bean pot, adding one-half cupful of granulated sugar for each quart of fruit and bake in a slow oven until very soft. Let cool slightly, press the pulp through a colander with a wooden spoon, or potato masher. Measure the pulp and add one cupful of sugar to each two cupfuls of pulp. Cook over a slow fire, stirring until the mixture is thick. Pour into glasses and cover with paraffin. Keep for three or four months before using. Used as sandwich filling, as garnish for puddings, or cut into cubes and rolled in powdered sugar, they may be served as confections, or with a custard sauce in individual portions, as a dessert.

Home-Made Yeast.—Boil and strain one level tablespoonful of hops in a pint of cold water. Throw away the hops and reserve the water. Add two small potatoes mashed, one teaspoonful of salt, the same of ginger, and enough flour to make a thin batter. Cook until well blended, cool and add one yeast cake. Put into a bowl and set away in a warm place for several hours, until it shows bubbles, then pour into a mason jar (only half fill it), cover tightly and let stand one or two days in a cool place before using. This yeast will keep ten days or more but is best used the first week.

Cream of Almond Sauce.—This sauce is especially delicious served with ice cream or cold puddings. Blanch, chop and brown two ounces of sweet almonds and one ounce of butter. Put both through a meat grinder and grind fine. Mix with a cupful of powdered sugar and beat in one cupful of thick cream.

Lobster Salad.—Cut the boiled lobster into even-sized pieces. Marinate with a good French dressing, add an equal amount of finely minced celery and two or three small green onions, chopped; mix with a good, well-seasoned boiled dressing and serve on lettuce. Shredded lettuce may be added just before serving. Garnish with the meat from the claws.

CAUSES OF AUTO ACCIDENTS CITED

Article In "Christian Statesman" Discusses Mishaps Thoroughly

A. J. Smith, prominent Decatur business man, brought an article taken from the "Christian Statesman" to this office, recently. The article deals with motor accidents and their causes. Mr. Smith stated that he believed if people would consider the contents of the article seriously there would be fewer auto accidents in the community.

The article is as follows: "The state of Connecticut has recently classified its motor accidents as to their causes. This is a part of their campaign of education and it makes a profitable study. The figures cover 1924 and are as follows: Inattention, 4,228; failure to grant right of way, 3,566; skidding, 1,786; driving on wrong side of road, 1,169; careless backing, 653; inexperience in driving, 626; failure to obey signals, 615; following too close, 466; fast driving, 405; intoxication, 209; cutting in, 262; runaway cars, 131; cutting corners, 117; passing on wrong side, 57; passing on curves, 26; passing standing trolleys, 14; passing as approaching a hill, 13; improper parking, 12; trying to beat a train, 2.

"The outstanding fact in this classification is that the weakest thing in our modern methods of locomotion is human character. By far the greatest number of these accidents are from violation of the law or good common sense and reveal a lack of responsibility.

"The next weakest thing is the human brain. It is not able to concentrate sufficiently upon its task for such length of time as is necessary. Inattention means usually the letting down of the mental faculties under steady pressure, though that pressure may be slight, getting crossways under the lullaby of a motor.

"Education in the rules of the road and the use of the machinery will achieve much, but never achieve safety. Back of these must lie a character that respects law as law, though it be based on mere expediency. The only way to get that, is by the cultivation of the conviction that it is sinful against God and man, a violation of common decency to disobey such laws, even if nothing happens. It will only come by cultivating the conviction of the truth of what Cain repudiated, namely, 'I am my brother's keeper.'

"Under our present methods of education, the Boy Scouts may teach mental alertness, the schools may impart a knowledge of mechanics and the rules of the road, the policeman and the insurance companies may emphasize the respect for law, but I suspect that it will be left for parents and the churches to teach in their application of the Bible the sinfulness of taking chances and the meanness of endangering the lives of others. It is this working at the chemistry of character that is absolutely necessary to achieve any reasonable degree of safety. When this strength of character compels drivers to do the right thing because it is right, and that for their own sakes and the sake of others and for the honor of their Lord and master, then we shall have a reasonable degree of safety. It is a task worthy of the attention of all teachers of morality."

U. S. Uses Ten Billion Pounds Of Sugar Annually

Ten billion pounds of sugar per year are required to satisfy the American sweet tooth. The average person in the United States consumes more than 90 pounds of it each year, according to the United States Department of Agriculture educational film productions, "Sugar cane and cane sugar," and "Beets from seed to sugar bowl."

Although only a bare one-fourth of the sugar we consume is home grown, sugar-beet and sugar-cane production rank among our important agricultural industries. About four-fifths of the domestic cane crop is grown in Louisiana, while Michigan, Minnesota, Colorado, Utah, and California are prominent sugar-beet states.

Sugar cane was introduced into America in early colonial days, while the sugar beet, though older than Christianity, was brought to the New World in recent years. The development of the beet in the United States has been rapid, however, and at present the quantity of beet sugar produced in North America is five times greater than the amount of cane sugar produced on this continent.
