Motorist Burns To Death

Hammond, Ind., Dec. 30. — (United Press)—James Sweeney, a piano salesman, drove to a terrible death last night in his own auto. He was burned to death when a glancing collision with a motor truck set his car on fire.

While he hung helpless over the steering wheel, the auto careened 300 feet down the street to a head-on collision with another truck. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ashton have returned to their home at Fort Wayne after spending Christmas and the week end with Mrs. Ashton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kohne.
