MARKET REPORTS

Daily Report Of Local And Foreign Markets

OPENING GRAIN REVIEW

Chicago, Mar. 20.—(United Press.)—Grain prices opened irregular on the Chicago board of trade today.

Wheat opened fractionally higher in all but the September delivery in which future it was unchanged. The slight advances at the opening were for the most part unexpected in view of the enormous amount of wheat which was unloaded here yesterday. Despite today's fractional gains at the opening experts say that it will take some time for the market to absorb the bulk dumped into the pit Friday.

Corn opened 1-8 lower in both the May and September deliveries but unchanged in the July. Continued heavy liquidation in this grain together with numerous reports of top heavy surpluses in the cause of the slump in this pit.

Oats opened unchanged in both May and July deliveries, while September was 1-8 higher.

New Method Of Combatting Disease In Schools Is Used

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 20.—(United Press.)—Health authorities in Evansville, cooperating with school officials during the recent epidemic of scarlet fever there, are commended by the state board of health in the monthly bulletin, made public today.

The bulletin points out that a new method of combatting any communicable disease was used by the school and health officials.

In every instance where a child was absent from classes for more than one day, a health certificate was required before the child was re-admitted.

The bulletin says: "Sixty cases of scarlet fever were found by this plan that very probably otherwise would not have been discovered and placed under control."

Officials of the health board recommend, the bulletin points out, that this plan be used in every county where any communicable disease is prevalent.

"This plan," the bulletin says, "is recommended to health officers and school authorities everywhere as a reasonable and rational plan to be adopted in connection with any communicable disease effecting children. The plan undoubtedly would be just as effective if carried out in factories, stores or office buildings, and would serve as a most powerful purpose in disease control and in protection of the public in any outbreak."

Few Revolvers Sold In Bartholomew County

Columbus, Ind., Mar. 20.—(United Press.)—The people of Bartholomew county are every law abiding, at least judging from the sale of revolvers.

Since the new law requiring each sale of a revolver to be recorded the twenty dealers in this county have sold only three of the firearms.

OBITUARY

George Henry Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mart Miller, was born in Preble, Preble township, Indiana, February 27, 1900. He was baptized as an infant on May 6, 1900, by the Rev. E. W. Kruse. After being instructed in the duties of our Holy Religion he was received into the membership of the local Zion Reformed church through the rite of Confirmation, on April 5, 1914, by the Rev. L. C. Hessert.

On August 25, 1919, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Erhart, to which union one child was born, Marjorie Joyce.

Mr. Miller passed to the Realm of the Great Beyond last Tuesday, March 9, 1926, after only a few days illness of meningitis. He was rushed to the Adams County Memorial Hospital on Tuesday morning in the hope that an operation would prove successful, but before an operation could be performed the Spirit took its flight. Mr. Miller passed away in the prime of his life, having only reached the age of 26 years and 10 days.

He leaves to mourn his untimely death, his devoted wife, Mary, one daughter, Marjorie Joyce; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mart Miller; his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Erhart; two brothers, Ed., of Decatur and Elmer, of Fort Wayne; one sister, Mrs. Walter Deetsch, of Celina, Ohio. One brother, Ralph, who served during the World War, preceded him in death a few years ago, in October, 1918. He also leaves an exceptionally large host of friends and relatives.

Through the death of George Miller this community loses one of its most industrious and hopeful young men. He had a keen insight for progressive business. He was always active in business and was the owner of a thriving grocery store on West Monroe street. He was thoroughly interested in the betterment of his home community and solution of city problems. He was elected councilman-at-large last November by one of the largest majorities received by any candidate in the city election, and he was also the youngest man ever elected councilman in Decatur. At the youthful age of 26, Mr. Miller had found his place in the business world and in the life of this community. We have all the reasons to believe that if death would not have intervened, he would have become one of the most useful and outstanding men that this community ever produced. But the secrets of life were with God.

Above all, Mr. Miller was an ideal and devoted husband and father, having, within the last year, arranged his residence into one of the finest residences in the city. He had planned to live a useful life of service together with his family and for his community, but God chose otherwise.

But more than that, the departed gave evidence of the faith that was within him—faith in his Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. He was a faithful attendant at the worship services in the sanctuary and a loyal member of the Phoebe Bible Class.

He was a member of the Elks, Moose and Knights of Pythias lodges, which orders have assembled here to pay due respect to a friend and brother.

Mr. Miller was well liked by all those with whom he came in contact and the community as a whole, mourning the loss of a useful citizen, a public official, a kind neighbor and friend.

The church mourns the loss of a faithful and loyal member; the family mourns the loss of a dear devoted son, husband, father and brother.

But we mourn not as those that have no hope. Our loss is his gain. He has been promoted to a higher and more glorious service—Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them. The works of this useful servant will follow him in the lives of those that remain.

Gently, Lord, O gently lead us, Thro', this lonely vale of tears, Thro' the changes Thou decreed us, Till our last great change appears.

When temptation's darts assail us, When in devious paths we stray, Let thy goodness never fail us, Lead us in thy perfect way.

In the hour of pain and anguish, In the hour when death draws near Suffer not our hearts to languish Suffer not our souls to fear.

And when mortal life is ended Bid us on thy bosom rest, Till by angel bands attended We awake among the blest.

Father, O hear me now, Father, O hear me now, Father divine; Thou only, Thou canst see the heart's deep agony; Help me to say to Thee, "Thy will, not mine."

O God, be thou my stay, O God, be thou my stay In this dark hour; Kindly each sorrow hear, Hush every troubled fear, Then let me still revere, Still own thy power.

In Thee alone I trust, In Thee alone I trust, Thou Holy One; Humbly to Thee I pray

That through each troubled day Of life I still may say, "Thy will be done."

Keel Of First Giant Electric Passenger Ship Is Laid At Newport News

Newport News, Mar. 20.—Before a crowd of 20,000 persons, the keel of the first giant electric passenger ship was laid here this afternoon at the plant of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company. The vessel, which will be the largest commercial craft built in the United States, will be the first of three sister ships, which will cost approximately $21,000,000. She will enter the New York-California passenger trade in 1927.

The new liner will be 601 feet and three inches long, 80 feet beam and have a speed of 17 knots. Oil burners will furnish steam to two 9,000 horsepower General Electric turbine generators, which in turn will furnish the electricity for driving the motors connected to two propellers. The electrical equipment is now being manufactured at the Schenectady works of the General Electric company.

All of the staterooms will be outside, a feature which will prove popular with travelers, due to the warm latitudes through which the liner will pass on her intercoastal voyages.

It was planned at first to have only one smoke stack, but it was finally decided to have two. The added stack, a dummy, will be used only for ventilation. It also will enhance the appearance of the ship. Other changes in the original plans include the enlargement of the proposed garage space and the side ports. Passengers will be able to drive their automobiles onto the ship, thereby avoiding crat-

RULES FOR THE SAVINGS CLUBS

1. The depositor understands that participation in the American Legion Convention Trip to France in 1927 is limited to those who are bona fide members, paid up for both 1926 and 1927 in the American Legion or the American Legion Auxiliary (and their minor children or grandchildren.)
2. The depositor is to make regular weekly deposits of $3.00, $5.00, $7.50, or $10.00 per week, beginning at once and continuing 85 weeks, or until the middle of September, 1927. Depositor agrees not to make withdrawals except in case of necessity, when withdrawals can be made with consent of Cashier.
3. Authorized banks are to allow interest at the regular rate per annum on all accounts, including interest (to be credited to depositors) on the transferred funds mentioned later.
4. The bank will, when directed by the depositor and provided the balance is at that time sufficient, transfer from each account fifty dollars ($50.00) and place same in a special account in the bank to the credit of the "American Legion France Convention Travel Committee," and will issue to the depositor duplicate certificate of such transfer, on form approved by the committee, which certificate will be valid and accepted by the American Legion Committee at face value, for securing the depositor's reservation on the American Legion Convention Trip, triplicate copy to go to the Committee.
5. The bank agrees that such transfer of reservation money shall not interrupt nor decrease the interest allowed on the depositor's account.
6. The fifty ($50.00) dollars so transferred will be credited by the American Legion Committee on the price of whatever trip the depositor decided to take. In the event that the depositor for any reason cancels his trip one month or more prior to sailing, complete refund will be made, and in event of cancellation less than one month prior to sailing, equitable refund will be made in accordance with usual teamship and travel rules.

This bank has been appointed "American Legion Depository." For further information call and see us.
