OBITUARY

Mary Jane Pillars, wife of Benjamin Pillars, was born in Root township, Adams county, Indiana, on the 4th day of July, 1857, and died at her home at 183 South Seventh street, Decatur, Indiana, March 25, 1926, at the age of 68 years, 8 months and 21 days.

Mrs. Pillars has been a resident of Adams county during her entire lifetime, except from 1878 to 1883, when she resided at Bunker Hill, Kansas. She was the daughter of John and Mary Ann McConnehey. She had, by her first marriage, to John Woodward, three children, two of whom, Nolan D. Pillars and Flora E. Pillars preceded her in death; the other two, Lewis E. Woodward and Nellie L. Bohnke, both of Fort Wayne, survive.

On June 25, 1885, she was married to Jacob Stults, which union was dissolved by the death of Mr. Stults on February 23, 1893.

She was married to Benjamin Pillars April 12, 1897.

Mrs. Pillars was a mother in the home, devoted to her loved ones and tireless in looking after their interests. She was a consistent Christian, a worker in the United Brethren church of this city and up to the time of her illness. She was, for years, president of the Silent Workers Sunday school class of her church and an effective, quiet worker in the same as long as she was able to do so.

As the wife of Benjamin Pillars, who is a veteran of the Civil War, Mrs. Pillars was very active in the Women's Relief Corps, always interested in all its activities.

She was a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. Pillars will be missed by her neighbors and her many friends. She had been in failing health during the year prior to her death, her last illness resulting in paralysis and heart failure.

She leaves an aged, and sorrowing husband, and her children, who will mourn the loss of a wife and mother. Other relatives surviving are: a half-brother, Lauren Q. Long, of Lake Bluff, Illinois and a half sister, Mrs. C. L. Walters, of this city, also eleven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

To her children, she was "The Most noble mother in the world." And those who knew her best believe that "her immortal part with angel's lives."

Slides Show Views Of Gymnasiums In Indiana

Bloomington, Ind., Mar. 31.—(United Press)—The growth of basketball in Indiana and the large number of communities now building gymnasiums has caused Indiana University to add another feature to its service, it was announced today.

A series of stereopticon slides showing the principal high school gymnasiums of the state has been prepared for circulation in Indiana and adjoining states.

Descriptive data also will accompany the slides.

The series is being compiled with the aid of 75 high school principals in all parts of the state and indications are that the slides will be ready for distribution within the next 60 days.

The series is to be known as "High School Gymnasiums in Indiana."

Things Begin To Happen When This Little Girl Appears

Omro, Wis., Mar. 31.—(United Press)—The mystery surrounding alleged spiritual manifestations when ever Marie Maybourne, 11 years old, appears, today occupied attention of all residents of Omro.

Voices from walls, the weird opening and closing of doors and moving of furniture, accompany the little girl's appearance in a room—reliable residents say. James Stead, village marshal, has investigated, but without finding any natural causes for the weird proceedings.

Leaders in the super-naturalistic beliefs have been advised of the situation and asked to investigate.

DEATH RATE IN RUSHVILLE LOW

Rush County Metropolis Is Healthiest Town In Indiana During January

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 31.—(United Press)—Rushville was the healthiest town in Indiana during the first month of 1926, according to reports on file in the office of Dr. William F. King, secretary of the state board of health, here.

These reports show that the death rate in Rushville, figured on an annual basis was 4.3 per thousand of population.

In other words, if the same number of persons died each month in Rushville during the entire year, there would be 4.3 deaths for every thousand of inhabitants in the city.

Only two other cities in the state were in the same class with Rushville. These cities were Elwood and Whiting.

In Elwood, the death rate was 6.6 per thousand and in Whiting 6.1 per thousand.

At Rushville, only two people died in January, the report shows, while in January, 1925, five persons succumbed.

At both Elwood and Whiting, six persons died.

Goshen lead the state, with the highest death rate for January.

The report shows that in that city there were 26 deaths during January with an annual rate of 32.7 per thousand of population.

Connersville was second high with a death rate of 26.6 per thousand as the result of 22 deaths.

Madison also had a high death rate as the result of 14 deaths during the month which placed the rate at 25 per thousand.

Among other cities with high rates were: New Albany 20.8 per thousand; Lafayette 22.9; Bloomington 22.2; Jeffersonville 21.3; and Wabash 19.4.

The largest number of deaths in any city were reported in Indianapolis, where 437 persons succumbed to disease during the month.

Evansville ranked second with 115 deaths and Fort Wayne third with 106 deaths.

There were 90 deaths in Gary and 88 in South Bend.

In these cities the death rates were: Indianapolis 14.3; Evansville 14.9; Fort Wayne 13.2; Gary 14.8; and South Bend 13.4.

The average death rate for the state, for the year, based on January figures will be 13.8 per thousand the report shows.

This report points out that in 1925, the death rate estimated on the basis of January deaths was 12.2 per thousand.

It also was shown in the report that the total number of deaths in the state during January was 3,493, as compared with 3,11 for January 1925.

The majority of these deaths, the reports show occurred where the persons were more than 65 years of age.

Kidneys and Back Made Life Miserable

Says He's Full of Pep Now, and Pains are All Gone.

"I suffered with pains in my kidneys and back for three years. My back at times seemed as if it would break in two. I was tired out most of the time, and when I came home from work I just felt like I wanted to lie down. I lost flesh until I only weighed 155 pounds. Nothing I took did me any good till I found Viuna, and after taking only one bottle I was wonderfully relieved. My back stopped aching and I began to get some pep. My appetite picked up and I began to gain weight till I now weigh 170 pounds (a gain of 15 pounds), and feel fine and eat anything."—Curtis Chappell, 1130 East St. Clair St., Indianapolis, Ind.

Viuna acts promptly on sluggish bowels, lazy liver and weak kidneys. It purifies the blood, clears the skin, restores appetite and digestion, and brings new strength and energy to the whole body. Take a bottle on trial. Then if you're not glad you tried Viuna, your money will be refunded. $1 at druggists, or mailed postpaid by Iceland Medicine Co., Indianapolis, Ind.

MANY FIRES IN RURAL DISTRICTS

Lightning Is Principal Cause Of Losses To Farmers Of Indiana

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 31.—(United Press)—The first two months of this year saw heavy fire losses in the rural communities of the state, according to figures in the office of Alfred Houghton, state fire marshal, which were made public today.

Lightning, according to these figures, was the principal cause of the fire losses to the farmers of the state.

This, it was said is in accord with the statistics compiled by the office which show that lightning generally is the greatest enemy that the farmers of the state are forced to combat in connection with fire.

Another interesting feature of the report is that it shows that barns generally were more liable to fire than dwelling houses.

Officials in the office refused to comment on this feature or assign a reason for such losses.

The report shows that during the first two months of the year there were 611 dwellings in the state, outside of incorporated towns and communities which were destroyed by fire.

It was said that while many of these dwellings were located in small towns, which are not incorporated and have no fire protection that the heaviest part of the loss was confined to the purely rural sections of the state.

This report, which was compiled by Charles See, auditor in the fire marshal's office, shows that the average money loss was not exceedingly great when the number of fires were considered.

The total loss on dwelling house fires during the first two months of the year was $1,258,741, the report shows.

While only 611 dwellings were destroyed by fire during January and February of this year, there were 718 barns which were destroyed, or damaged by flames.

These barns, the report shows, had a value of $1,769,383—in other words, that amount was lost to the farmers, or owners whose property was destroyed.

In addition to this loss, the contents of these buildings, which also was a loss to the owner, was placed at $456,611.

That many of the farmers of the state now carry insurance on their barns and contents was another feature of the report.

It was shown that of the $1,769,383 loss on barns insurance covered $1,149,574, making the actual loss to the farmer or owner less than $700,000.

The same was true of the contents, where the report shows the farmers carried $231,974 worth of insurance on contents of the structures.

Of the 718 barns reported, 113 resulted from lightning, while the loss from these fires was placed at $257,663.
