RECRUITS SHOW MUCH PROMISE

Major Leagues Obtain Many Good Players From Minor Leagues This Year

By Henry L. Farrell
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Mar. 31.—(United Press)
More good young ball players have come up from the minors than the major leagues have seen for years, in the opinion of visitors to the spring training camps.

Perhaps there are no Cobbs, Mathewsons, Wagners or Ruths in the new crop, but there are at least a few youngsters good enough to get their managers thinking about pennants.

Three weeks ago, the New York Yankees were the laughing stock of the American League, a club that looked like a sure rival of the Boston Red Sox for the cellar.

Now the Yankees are being considered as a pennant possibility, because Tony Lazzeri and Mark Koenig, rookie infielders, came through. The Yankees also have several great young pitchers but they don't need pitching so much.

Pittsburgh, fortunate in discovering Glenn Wright and Kiki Cuyler in recent years, was in good shape when the season closed last year, but there are two youngsters, Waner and Ryne, on the payroll, who are expected to deliver if anything should happen. Wagner may get a chance to play center field if Max Carey carries around any bad effects of his serious spell of illness during the late winter.

The pennant hopes of the New York Giants depend not little upon Al Tyson, new center fielder and Fred Fitzsimmons, a bulky young pitcher, who had some work last season. John McGraw feels that Tyson is a star and will more than plug up a weakness of several seasons.

The Cincinnati Reds have two fine prospects in Emmer, a shortstop from the Pacific Coast League and Christensen, an out fielder from the American Association.

The Washington Senators may have to depend upon Buddy Myer if Peck's legs go bad on him again. Myer is not a rookie in a strict sense, as he had some experience last year, but he will be a young man in a very serious job.

The Philadelphia Athletics were so well stocked with juvenile talent and the club didn't have to do much harvesting in the minors. One of the newcomers on the roster is Joe Pate, a veteran rookie pitcher who may be carried as a regular.

The St. Louis Robins uncovered a find in Oscar Mellilo, an infielder and Ernie Nevers, the California football star, may turn into a prize.

The Boston Braves have a promising young pitcher in Henry Wertz.

Rickard Claims He Has Signed Dempsey And Gene Tunney For Title Bout

By Henry L. Farrell
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
New York, Mar. 31.—Tex Rickard claims to have signed Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney to meet for the world's heavyweight championship and he will seek permission of the New York boxing commission to stage the match in the Yankee stadium early in September, despite Dempsey's demands.

Getting a permit from the commission will present more than a slight difficulty as the board has ruled several times that the champion must meet Harry Wills first, and one of the members said today the commission would stick to its stand.

If the commission denies application of a license, Rickard will take the match to Jersey City. He said this morning that reports he would build a new stadium here was "bunk."

Rickard said Dempsey and Tunney had agreed to accept a percentage but he would not deny that Dempsey had been assured at least $450,000.

BERNE TO PLAY LEADERS HERE

Rival Independent Teams To Close Their Seasons In Game Thursday

No basketball season in Decatur is complete without a game between the Decatur Leaders and their old rivals, the Berne A. C., so the Leaders have arranged a game with the Berne quintet, to be played in the Decatur high school gymnasium Thursday night of this week. This will be the final game of the season for both teams.

The Leaders, as a team, have been inactive for the last several weeks, but practically all of the members of the team have been playing with other teams and are in good condition. In the Decatur lineup will be Miller, Andrews, Crist, Kennedy, Cass and Christen. The Berne lineup will include Oliver, Kessler, Clark Hirsch and Clouser. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Southern Teams Winners In First Round Of Tourney

Six teams from the south came through their first games with victories. They are San Antonio, Tex., Pine Bluff, Ark., Scott County, Miss., Charleston, S. C., Durham, N. C., and Lexington, Ky.

The other four winners of the day are Cheyenne, Wyo., Kansas City, Mo., Pueblo, Colo., and Newton, Kans.

Helen Wills Plans To Complete Her Education

Rome, Mar. 31.—(United Press)—Helen Wills probably will not return to the Riviera next winter to meet Suzanne Lenglen or any one else in the national tennis carnival there.

The American champion left for Florence today after a brief stay in Rome and before leaving she told the United Press that she expected to complete her university education at the University of California.

Some newspapers lavishly praised Helen on her last day in the capital.

"She is an example beyond words of the wonderful womanhood that uses sports to enhance its womanly charm instead of to effect an artificial masculinity," according to one writer.

"Tennis for Miss Wills is but a game," writes another. "She is occupied with the same enthusiasm for her studies. Helen represents the maximum attainment in sport and still remains a woman."

Glenna Collett Defeated

Pinehurst, N. C., Mar. 31.—(United Press)—Glenna Collett, woman's national champion golfer, fell before another woman for the second time this winter, when Miss Louise Fordyce of Youngstown, Ohio, defeated her two and one for the Pinehurst championship. Glenna was defeated a short time ago in a Florida tournament by Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago.

At the time of the tournament, the commission denied application of a license, Rickard will take the match to Jersey City. He said this morning that reports he would build a new stadium here was "bunk."

Rickard said Dempsey and Tunney had agreed to accept a percentage but he would not deny that Dempsey had been assured at least $450,000.
