Evansville Men To Fight

Padlocking Of Buildings

Evansville, Ind., April 13. — (United Press)—A determined fight was mapped out today by attorneys for thirty-six Evansville property owners to prevent their buildings from being padlocked for one year by federal court order.

Liquor was seized on the thirty-six pieces of property by federal agents in their wholesale cleanup of liquor law violators last December.

Persons renting the properties were charged with violation of the federal dry laws and the property owners were made co-defendants in padlock proceedings.

Temporary injunctions were granted to close the places after the raids and the next move of the government was toward padlocking the places for a year.

The landlords have banded together for defense of their cases and will appeal to Judge Baltzell to dissolve the temporary injunctions and deny permanent closing orders.

The owners contend it will cost them many thousands of dollars in rent lost if their buildings are vacant for a year. They assert in their defense that they did not know law violations were going on on their property.

Auburn — Members of the DeKalb county teachers' association adopted resolutions calling for strict enforcement of the prohibition law.

MARKET REPORTS

Daily Report Of Local And Foreign Markets

OPENING GRAIN REVIEW

Chicago, April 13.—(United Press)—Grain prices opened higher on the Chicago board of trade today.

Wheat opened fractionally higher in all deliveries. In view of the much stronger showing of Liverpool as well as advances in the opening at Buenos Aires, and the further fact that contract stocks of wheat here have diminished to 52,000 bushels, made wheat extremely tight.

The disposition is becoming more prevalent for traders to get out of May deliveries and into the deferred futures.

Corn opened fractionally higher all along the line. The general trend of this market is in sympathy with wheat.

Oats opened fractionally higher in all deliveries.

Provisions opened unchanged.

Agricultural Programs

Drafted In Four Counties

Lafayette, Ind., April 13. — (United Press)—In four Indiana counties co-operative agricultural organizations have just drafted agricultural programs for their respective localities. It was announced today at the Purdue University extension department.

The Morgan county farm bureau and the county board of education are cooperating with the various townships in outlining a program of work. In Gibson county six groups are represented in the co-operative plan—ministers, principals of schools, bureau officials, township trustees, women's clubs and bankers.

At a meeting of Jennings county farmers with representatives of the Purdue extension department, a program for dairy, soils and crop work and animal husbandry was worked out.

Noble county has developed a more extensive program than ever before this year, all of the townships having men's organizations and all but one, women's organizations, as well.

MILLIONS PAID FOR SUGAR BEETS

Short History Of Holland- St. Louis Sugar Company Given By Official

Holland, Mich., April 13.—Holland has been blessed with diversified industries. This city has nearly every line, and if business is weak in one there is a rush in the other. There is never a period of wheat at one time and hushes at another time, as is often found in other cities where manufacturing is mostly along one or two lines.

Holland has most every line, from sugar to shoes, from furnaces to furniture. It has factories that give our farmer a market for his products. One of these enterprises is the Holland-St. Louis Sugar company, established in this city in 1899. This plant has paid millions into the pockets of the farmers in this vicinity.

Sugar has lifted the mortgages from many a home, in Ottawa and Allegan counties during that period.

In spite of the fact that the beet sugar companies have been made the football of politics, for many years, even when it was still an infant industry, and in spite of the fact that obstacles have been constantly thrown in the way of beet sugar manufacturers and beet sugar raisers, both have joined hands and have pushed steadily on, and the nation will soon be made to realize that sugar beet raised on our own farms, will act as a balance wheel to keep the price of sugar throughout the country, at a level that is within reason, which would not be the case were this industry destroyed.

Sears McLean of the Holland-St. Louis Sugar company, gives a short review of this gigantic enterprise from the time this company had its inception in Holland, including the years when a consolidation took place, with the St. Louis factory and the Decatur, Indiana, factory.

"The Holland Sugar Co., a Michigan corporation, was organized in March, 1899.

"In August, 1911, the Holland Sugar Co., consolidated with the St. Louis

Sugar Company, of St. Louis, Michigan, and the name of the new corporation became the Holland-St. Louis Sugar Co., with general offices located in Holland, Michigan.

"Bonds were issued in 1911 and with the proceeds a new plant was built in Decatur, Indiana. The bonds were retired prior to April 1920.

"The physical properties at our three plants are worth in excess of $2,750,000.00.

"The Holland-St. Louis Sugar Company is capitalized at $2,800,000.00, of which $2,000,000.00 Common and $125,840.00 Preferred is outstanding.

"Since the date of consolidation, we have manufactured as follows: 4,482,344 bags of sugar, 100 lbs. each, sold for $31,156,496.05; 86,559 tons Beet Pulp, sold for $2,676,136.17; 54,136 tons molasses, sold for $932,969.51.

"Since the time of consolidation, the Holland-St. Louis Sugar Co. has paid the farmers for beets, a total of $15,303,101.92."
