ANDREWS MAY BE CENSURED

Coolidge And Mellon Expected To Act Regarding "Czar's" Statement

Washington, April 16. — (United Press)—General Lincoln C. Andrews, prohibition director, is liable to receive censure from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon or President Coolidge for his statement in the senate liquor hearings that the return of beer might bring about better law observance, the United Press learned today.

The president has never favored statements by his officials concerning prohibition and on several occasions has issued orders that members of the prohibition unit be silent on their opinion concerning the liquor issue.

DUNKIRK GIRL IS ACQUITTED

Miss Thelma Wolfe, 20, Found Not Guilty Of Murder Of Her Infant

Portland, April 16.—(By United Press)—Miss Thelma Wolfe, 20, of Dunkirk, was found not guilty of the murder of her infant daughter last February, by a jury in the Jay circuit court here late Thursday afternoon. The jury deliberated less than one hour on the verdict.

The introduction of evidence in the trial was completed at 9:45 o'clock yesterday morning and each side received three hours for arguments.

In his arguments for the state, M. V. Skinner, assistant prosecutor, said that the state did not hope to convict the girl on the counts contained in the indictment against her, involving first and second degree murder, but that the penalty should be assessed for involuntary manslaughter. Mr. Skinner admitted that there was some doubt as to whether the baby was alive after it was born. Prosecutor A. H. Williams in closing the arguments for the state, said that the state was "not appearing in this case as a Shylock seeking a pound of flesh," and said that the state would be satisfied with any verdict the jury might return.

Attorney G. T. Whitaker, counsel for Miss Wolfe, vigorously attacked what he termed, "the double standard which society has set up on the woman."

The body of Miss Wolfe's baby was found in the yard at her home in Dunkirk after a dog had dragged it out from underneath the porch, where it had been placed in a paper.
