RURAL CHURCHES

Calvary Evangelical Church

Ralph W. Loose, Pastor.

The painting and redecorating of the church on the interior has been completed and there will be services again Sunday. Sunday school at 9:30 sun time, and a preaching service at 2:30, sun time, in the afternoon. Let every member plan to attend both these services; we must catch up for lost time. There are only two more Sundays in this Conference year. It is highly desirable that we may close the year with all obligations fully met.

Pleasant Mills and Salem

F. A. Shipley, Pastor
Sunday school—9:30;
Morning worship at Salem—10:30;
Ephphatha—6:30 a.m.
Baccalaureate service at Baptist church—7:30.

Commencement exercises at M. E. church—8:00.

There will be no prayer meetings this week at either church on account of the Commencement exercises and the Junior reception. These will take most of our prayer meeting folks.

The pastor is glad to extend greetings upon his return to this charge for another year of labor. Let's make it the best yet for the Kingdom of God here upon earth; that is our business, you know. Wherefore we have failed let us vow we will not do so again. It will take the best there is in all of us together to win out. The pastor and the people alone can not do it. We now know each other well enough to be able to do far better work with less friction and waste of energy. Your pastor resolves to do his very best. He greatly appreciates the cooperation of the church.

Father Max Benzinger, of Hessen Castle, was a visitor here this morning.

80-Year-Old Soldier
Fears That He Will Be Retired On Pension

San Francisco, April 16—(United Press)—"Well, I don't know what I'd do if they kicked me out of the army now," declared James H. (Pop) Johnson, Civil War veteran and 81-year-old field clerk attached to the quartermaster corps at Fort Mason, here.

"I went into the army when I was 14 and I've been at it ever since—that's 67 years, isn't it? I'm sort of used to this army life now."

Pop is worrying a bit about a new pension bill which may let him out.

"There's a bill before congress now or something about retiring us old-timers. If the bill passes, well, I guess I'd have to build a little house near here somewhere and stick around anyway."

"They can't put me out now because the quartermaster corps isn't on the pension list."

Johnson fought in the Civil War, re-enlisted and fought through the Indian uprisings. He was in service during the Spanish-American war, the Philippine insurrection and the Boxer campaign. He transferred to the quartermaster department here in 1906. During the World War he was found physically fit for service overseas but he never got away from Fort Mason.

"Retire from the army? I should say not," he replied when he was asked why he didn't quit service voluntarily. "There are several of us old fellows doing duty. There is Nat Poyntz, 80 years old, at Boston, and there is a fellow named Howard P. Synder, who is somewhere around 80. We're the oldest soldiers."

"It's a good thing for the army that we can't be retired."

Riley Hospital Drive
Meeting With Success

Indianapolis, Ind., April 16.—The state-wide campaign to raise funds for the James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for Children has made rapid headway since the campaign's formal opening April 9. The entire state is being visited by representatives and friends of the James Whitcomb Riley Memorial Association and everybody is given the opportunity of contributing to this humanitarian cause.

The drive known as the million-dollar challenge to raise money to meet the $500,000 "challenge gift" made several weeks ago by Ball Brothers, Muncie manufacturers and philanthropists. The total proceeds of the movement are to be used to provide additional facilities at the hospital in order that the present congested and crowded conditions shall be remedied.

Public spirited citizens of the state have contributed with generosity to the funds. For instance, in Indianapolis, alone, the first four private gifts totalled $135,000. The money which the entire movement yields will carry on and complete the original program started two years ago. When the goal is reached and the additions to the hospital have been made, the people of Indiana will find the Riley hospital the greatest children's hospital and also the greatest center for child research work in the United States, a model for other states and cities to look upon. It then will be a glowing tribute to the beloved Hoosier poet who sang and loved children.

LOCAL CATHOLICS TO ATTEND MEET

Decatur Churchmen To Attend Eucharistic Congress In Chicago

One of the largest religious movements the world has known will be in evidence this year when the priesthood and laity of the Catholic church journey to Chicago for the 28th International Eucharistic Congress to be held in that city June 20-24 inclusive, it being the first time that a city of the United States has been so honored.

"There's a bill before congress now or something about retiring us old-timers. If the bill passes, well, I guess I'd have to build a little house near here somewhere and stick around anyway."

"They can't put me out now because the quartermaster corps isn't on the pension list."

The Congress originated in France in 1881 and the first meeting was held at Lille, where 3,000 communicants, representing nine nations, gathered. Each succeeding meeting has shown an increased membership and attendance, and it is now estimated that the 28th Congress will bring a million visitors to Chicago coming from every Christian nation.

Chicago's selection for the meeting point of this vast movement is unquestionably due to its centralized location, its railroad facilities, its hotel accommodations and its indomitable spirit to outdo all other cities in entertainment.

Fifteen years ago, 715,000 visitors journeyed to Montreal, Canada, for the 21st Congress, and with Chicago's vastly greater facilities, it is not unlikely that, in popularity and point of numbers of those in attendance, this year's gathering will prove to be the most outstanding religious demonstration of a century. Already, there are assurances of the presence of substantial groups from England, Ireland, Scotland, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Spain, Italy, Germany, Poland, Austria, Hungary, Croatia and Slovenia. Special groups are being formed in Canada and Mexico, from two of the republics of Central America and from Columbia, Peru, Argentina, Chile, Brazil, Paraguay and Ecuador. From the Far East, from China and Japan and the Philippines will come small, but representative groups, and it is expected that representatives from both India and Africa will participate in the Chicago assemblies.

It is freely predicted that, outside of the city of Rome, never before will there have been assembled a larger gathering of ecclesiastics. For a year the clergy and laity of Chicago have been working in preparation of means of reception, transportation, housing, feeding and the general welfare of Chicago's guests during their stay in
