Bluffton had an exciting time yesterday. A mad dog was cornered and shot on the spot. The campaign to have all dogs muzzled or tied has taken on renewed interest and the poor little fellows are wondering what it's all about.

A week from next Tuesday is primary election day. It's important that every person who is entitled to vote goes to the polls and casts his or her preference for the candidates. Those nominated in the primary will carry on the campaign for election next fall.

The spring days have brought out the buds on the trees and the spring flowers. The lawns are green and the garden patches are being cultivated. It's a great time of year and the season when one gets a thrill out of the new life and activities seen on every hand.

Beginning today those voters who know that they will be out of the county on election day, can be appearing at the county clerk's office and making out the proper application vote an absent voter's ballot. They have until next Saturday to take advantage of this accommodation and if they wish to save their vote they are urged to do it before it's too late.

It is reported that Elbert H. Gary, head of the United States Steel corporation is figuring on retiring in the near future. Gary has manned this enormous business enterprise for many years and some of the stockholders are now asking that younger men be placed in charge. It's a hard old world and no matter how successful a man has been, there are always some who believe that it can be done a little better. And that keeps the world on moving.

This man Sinclair Lewis is making himself more ridiculous than ever. In his speeches and writings heretofore he has set himself up as the interpreter of all public questions and left the impression that if he did not find things to satisfy him that everything was wrong. His latest venture is defying Almighty God and a man of his calibre is repulsive to the majority of people. Fame is fleeting they say and someday Lewis may get a sudden jolt.

Michigan City prison authorities, evidently expecting a continuance of good business, have rented four hundred additional acres of land, with the opportunity of buying at some future date. No doubt the next legislature will be asked to donate the money to buy this land, but, be it said, Michigan City prison is one self-sustaining proposition in this state. If more land is needed to keep the boys busy no doubt it should be secured.—Bluffton Banner.

The commencement season is at hand and by the end of the month the grade and rural high schools will have completed another year. Boys and girls are being graduated from high school and they will either continue their studies in college next fall or start on a business career. It behooves the boy or girl of today to take advantage of the opportunity to secure an education and it is encouraging to see increased numbers complete their high school education each year. The schools of Adams county are conducted on a very high plane and those in charge are to be commended for carrying out the program so successfully.

Some educators feel that the so-called intelligence tests should be substituted for written examinations in schools and colleges. But in so far as such tests depend upon the quickness with which a person's mind acts, they are apt to be deceptive. Many street gamins have had their wits so trained by human contacts, that they can think quicker up to a certain limit than a thoroughly educated man, but that does not prove they are fit to enter a high-grade school or college. There are many men occupying high administrative positions who are not quick thinkers. If a person can see into the inside of a question and decide it right, the delay of a few minutes, hours or days in making that decision is not usually serious.—Newcastle Courier.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Daily Democrat File
Twenty Years Ago This Day

April 24—Earthquake shocks are still being felt on the Pacific coast. Burglars rob Hower & Hower grocery and Elzey saloon, west end. Baseball association holds public meeting and decide not to play Sunday ball during season. Cromer, wins over Stillwell for republican nomination for congress by 1743, carrying every county but Madison. His majority in Adams county was 288. C. H. Colter resigns as deputy postmaster, effective May 1st, when he becomes local manager for the Smith & Bell Lumber company. Frank Conter returns from a business trip to Kalamazoo, Mich. Judge O'Rourke of Port Wayne is the guest of L. C. Waring. Miss Rose Dunathan is at Port Wayne to witness "Camille" by Sarah Bernhardt. 154 attended the fair at Portland.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

MEMORY

You will remember that he smiled,
Was gentle and believed in you;
That once he prattled as a child
And romped the summer garden
through;
And never more you'll hear him sigh
Or see a teardrop in his eye.
He will not age as we have done,
Know sorrow as we must and may;
Or totter, where he used to run;
You will not see him turning gray,
Whenever you think of him, he'll be
Youthful and radiant to see.

Prospective Brides Are Busy Selecting Their Wedding Gowns

By Hedda Hoyt
(Written for the United Press)
New York, April 24.—(United Press)

While prospective grooms are looking over railroad time tables, their intended brides are picking out their trains. The train of the wedding gown has been sort of side-tracked of late. It may start anywhere and end anywhere, despite the fact that tradition has urged them to start at the shoulders and end on the floor.

Some of the modern girls choose trains that start straight from the hip falling below the hem and trailing on the floor. Others choose those side-pal trains that start at one shoulder only and fall in sweeping train effect. Still others combine both of the above fashions using the double train or the train with a caboose attachment as where one train starts from one shoulder and the other starts at the opposite hip.

This season taffeta, satin and chiffon are the favored materials for the bridal gown. Hems are irregular often being shorter in front and dipping at the sides and rear. Bodices are semi-fitted with snug-fitting sleeves which extend down over the hands. Except in a few instances where the quaint old-fashioned wedding gown is chosen, skirts are short.

The bride's maids invariably wear bouffant frocks with skirts trimmed in tiers, ruffles, pleats, godets or circular floating drapes. Bodices are slender and little capes, with berthas or floating wing panels add in the bouffant effect. Organdy in pastel colors is a favored material for the bride's maid. Often each maid wears a different shade giving a rainbow effect. Dropped-shouldered horsehair hats match the color of the gown and they are either trimmed in velvet or with a single huge flower of harmonizing color. Satin slippers also match the main gown.

The fringed wedding gown is one of the season's new offerings. In this case the gown is of satin and falls in slender-lines to the hem being trimmed in deep white fringe from hips to hem. The fringe is usually applied in zig zag manner rather than straight about the skirt.

War Destruction In China To Be Repaid

Peking, April 24.—(United Press)—Although the "Christian General" Peng Yu-hsiang resigned his military command some time ago, he has issued an announcement for distribution of military relief funds to compensate those who suffered through the recent capture of Tientsin and attendant fighting.

Families of persons killed are to receive Mex $60 (about $35 U. S.) for each death. Persons disabled by wounds will get Mex $50. Wounded are to receive Mex $20. For each totally destroyed house Mex $30 will be paid for each room; in the case of damaged houses, Mex $10 will be given for each room; for loss of horses, cattle and other livestock, compensation of Mex $15 a head will be paid.

The list is interesting as a gauge of the value of human life and property in North China today. Peng himself contributed largely to the fund, it is said, through foregoing a considerable part of his salary.

License Plates To Be Black And White In 1927

Anderson, Ind., April 24.—Indiana automobile license plates for 1927 will be black and white, it was learned at the Hill-Standard factory here. The local company has the contract for manufacturing the auto plates for 1927, including 800,000 sets of plates and 100,000 single license numbers.

Work will be started May 1 on the large contract for the state. J. G. Niblick will go to Rome City Sunday, for a few days.

For Township Trustee.

THE habits which your daughter acquires now, in her formative years, will be continued through life.

Her future is problematical now.

If she marries and becomes the manager of a home, it is essential that she be familiar with money values—that she know how to save.

If she intends to pursue a career in business or a profession—if she is self supporting, she must realize now that a certain portion of her allowance or salary must regularly be put aside to meet emergencies.

Let her save now for her little pleasures and extravagancies—make her self reliant—give her a bank book!
