MARKET REPORTS

Daily Report Of Local
And Foreign Markets

OPENING GRAIN REVIEW

Chicago, May 1.—(United Press)— Grain prices opened irregular on the Chicago board of trade today.

Wheat prices were up in all deliveries save May, old, which remained unchanged, due to the stronger tone shown by Liverpool, which closed higher because of the small world shipments and the calling of a general strike.

A few scattered showers were reported in Canada, but the news from the American northwest and Nebraska is still pessimistic.

Corn opened irregular, being fractionally off in the May delivery but fractionally higher in others.

Oats opened fractionally higher in May and Sept. deliveries and sharply higher in July.

Provisions opened higher.

Fertilizer Pays On Corn Crop

Fertilized

The above photograph was taken on a farm near the Experiment Station at Madison, Wisconsin, and shows the effect of using 120 pounds of complete fertilizer applied in the hills.

The use of commercial fertilizer on corn is gradually becoming more popular in Adams county. In most cases good results are being obtained, there usually being a difference of several bushels per acre in yield.
In addition, fertilizer induces early maturity which enables corn to ripen ahead of killing frost. Farmers who have fed fertilized and unfertilized corn claim the former has better

No Fertilizer

feeding value.
Although no particular formula has proven best for local conditions, it has been found that complete fertilizers are superior. Formulas such as 2-8-8, 2-12-6, and 0-12-6 have proven good. The first figure in the formula refers to nitrogen, the second to phosphoric acid, and the third to potash. It is recommended that light colored soils receive nitrogen while dark colored soils always need considerable potash.

Circular 92, which may be obtained at the County Agent's office, gives considerable information concerning the kind of fertilizer to use.

Firm Gives Decatur As
Address; Not Located Here

A firm giving the name of Z. T.
Nichols & Sons has been advertising in various publications that it has its offices in Decatur, Indiana. The company is engaged in selling clover seed.
Investigations have disclosed that there is no firm here by that name.

The transactions of this company have been investigated by authorities at Purdue University, and it was discovered that the firm is located in Georgia. The clover seed sold by the company is adapted to the warmer climate and will not grow in this state, the Purdue authorities claim. A shipment of sweet clover seed was shipped to Brownstown recently, which was quoted as 99 per cent pure and 98 per cent germination. The seed proved to be only 36.8 per cent pure and the germination was only 68 per cent.
It contained 255 curled dock and 170 mustard seeds to the pound.

Farmers have been warned not to purchase seed from this company.

Jackson Outlines
His Accomplishments

Indianapolis, Ind., April 30.—(United Press)—Accomplishments of the present state administration were outlined by Governor Jackson in a speech at the banquet of the Indiana Republican Club here last night.

"The republican party can go before the people this fall with a record of complete fulfillment of every campaign pledge made in 1924," the governor said.

The governor said all the state indebtedness has been paid with the exception of $1,000,000 due June 30.
There is enough money in the treasury now to meet this obligation and when it is paid, the state will not owe one cent, Jackson said.

Four republican senatorial candidates were present and outlined their campaign platforms.

Recruiting In Regular
Army Resumed May 1

The U. S. Army recruiting office in the Federal building at Fort Wayne has received instructions from the War Department to resume recruiting for the Regular Army on May 1, 1926.
Recruiting for the Regular Army, which closed for original enlistments on April 3, 1926, has been resumed for the 29th Infantry now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., where the infantry school is located.

The 29th Infantry, the infantry demonstration regiment, is motorized and has a large fleet of trucks and motor vehicles of all types.

Fort Benning is near Columbus, Ga., attractive old southern city of 50,000 pleasant kindly people where climatic conditions are ideal all the year.

A vote for No. 25 on the Republican ticket will be appreciated.

State Conservation
Department Does Much
Work For Small Cost

South Bend, Ind., May 1.—The state conservation department has cost the people of Indiana 30 cents per capita for the seven years of its existence, or four and two-thirds cents a year, and in addition to doing the work which sixteen separate state agencies formerly accomplished, has acquired very valuable state park lands that develop a larger earning capacity each year.

South Bend Rotarians were told this today by Richard Lieber, state conservation director, speaking at a noon luncheon, when he explained in detail how his department is picking up the loose ends of government and, especially through establishment of state parks, functioning to produce a steady income for the state while at the same time preserving our historic and scenic spots.

The department serves not only as an excellent example of how boards and commissions may be consolidated, but it remains besides in a position economically to absorb others, the speaker declared. "Five of the main divisions and five of the sub-divisions or ten in all, previously were, or would have been managed by separate boards or officials. These are geology, entomology, forestry, lands and waters and fish and game, natural gas inspection, Nancy Hanks Lincoln Burial Ground, Tippecanoe Battlefield, Lanier House and Corydon State House.
In Pennsylvania, the fish and game are divided into two supervisory agencies, while in Indiana, at a minimum expense, the conservation department coordinates all of the related functions in one body instead of sixteen.

"The reorganization into the department of conservation, along with its simplification brought increased efficiency. The most striking example is found in the fish and game division.
From a separate department known as the Commissioner or Fish and Game in 1918, as a separate unit and political dumping ground, it produced at that time an income of $89,149.96.
Since taken over by the department in 1919 it has steadily increased until last fiscal year it showed an income of $203,715.65. This is the result of freedom of action allowed the division chief in the control of his particular division and the development of a non-political service, the personnel of which is highly trained. There is no record under the conservation department where a person guilty of violation of the fish and game law was freed of his charge because of political pull.
