Friends Raising Defense Fund For Earl Crawford

Indianapolis, June 8.—A group of members of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation long personally acquainted with Earl Crawford, formerly member of the state highway commission and now facing charges growing out of the sale by the commission of surplus war materials, have set about the raising of a defense fund for Mr. Crawford, who will go on trial July 1 in the Marion County court. Announcement of the raising of the money for the defense fund, which will be gathered from all parts of the state, was made by James K. Mason, of Milton, Indiana, secretary of the Indiana Farm Bureau Purchasing Department, Inc., who has been authorized to handle the money raised.

"Those who know Earl Crawford are confident that he is innocent of the charges against him and believe that his innocence will be established in the trial," said Mr. Mason. "They know, too, that he is financially unable to defend himself adequately against those who apparently are determined to bring about his conviction if possible."

"We are asking for money on the promise that it is to be spent solely for the defense of this exponent of decent government. All funds received will be deposited in an Indianapolis bank and all money not spent will be pro rated back to the donors. Checks may be mailed to my office, 16 North Senate Ave., Indianapolis."

It is understood that the sponsors of the defense fund have arranged to employ Judge W. H. Eichhorn, of Buitton, Indiana.

C. M. T. C. Quota Reached By Fifth Corps Area

Columbus, Ohio, June 8.—With more than four thousand applications received for the Citizens' Military Training Camps, the Fifth Corps Area last week reached its quota of young men to be trained in the three camps this summer. Due to the fact that the War Department allows a maximum quota of six thousand applications, enrollment of applicants from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia will continue until the opening of the camps, it was announced.

Scores of letters received at corps headquarters requesting that additional time be allowed to enroll, resulted in General Robert L. Howze, corps area commander, lifting the time limit after accepting applications, set June 1. The first camp does not open until July 7, at Camp Knox, Ky., and the two others July 15 at Fort Thomas, Ky., and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

The editor was bound to the San Miguel county court on bond of $10,000 furnished by Las Vegas citizens on a charge of manslaughter. The first charge preferred after the coroner's jury had made its findings was that of murder. The lesser charge was preferred when the district attorney filed his information.

Applications for the thirty day outing will be accepted from young men 17 to 24 years of age who can pass the physical, mental and moral tests prescribed by the War Department.

All expenses of the month are paid by the Government, including food, uniforms, laundry service and railroad fare to and from the camps.

CARL MAGEE, NEW MEXICO EDITOR TO GO ON TRIAL FOR MANSLAUGHTER, JUNE 14

Las Vegas, N. M., June 8.—(United Press)—When Carl C. Magee, editor of the State Tribune at Albuquerque, goes on trial here June 14, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of John B. Lassetter, state highway employee, the dingy little court room will be the center of a drama that for three years has centered about the "stormy petrel" of New Mexican journalism.

When Judge Luis Armijo calls the court to order, many of the figures that have passed back and forth in the dramatic scenes of former trials will again be represented in the proceedings.

Judge Armijo, elected in 1924 over Judge Leahy, was district attorney at that time Judge Leahy sent Magee to jail on contempt of court charges, in July, 1924. He did not, however, appear in the cases against Magee, Judge Leahy having appointed C. J. Roberts and O. O. Askren special prosecutors.

Leahy, always presiding in past trials, will appear this time as a witness. It was Leahy's alleged surprise attack on the editor which resulted in the accidental killing of Lassetter, who attempted to intervene and ended the line of fire.

Sheriff Lorenzo Delgado, who escorted the editor up the little side street to jail in 1924, again will be officer of the court.

R. H. Hanna, former supreme court justice, and veteran of many a Magee legal battle, will be in his accustomed place as chief of council. Both Hanna and Fred Wilson, Magee's counsel, have fought disbarment proceedings as result of previous trials in Leahy's court while representing the editor. Wilson, junior member of the firm, is now withdrawn from the case, having been appointed last winter as attorney general of the state.

In 1923, Magee was sentenced to a year in jail by Judge Leahy on four contempt of court charges growing out of editorials appearing in the State Tribune. Previously, he had been sentenced to a year in prison and fined $4,000 on criminal libel charge. Governor J. F. Hinkle issued a pardon characterizing the proceedings as a "blot on the state."
