Chicago Opens Drive On Bootleg Gangsters

Chicago, Aug. 17.—(United Press)—Nine police lieutenants reported to Chief of Detectives Shoemaker here today to take charge of special squads in Chicago's most thorough drive to rid the city of bootleg gangsters. In addition 20 detective Bureau squads were to be transferred to outlying stations in a thorough shake-up of the police department.

Six squads were ordered into the Maxwell street district, known as "moonshine valley" while six others were shifted to the Chicago lawn area, a similar territory, overrun by rival beer factions. The purpose of the drive, according to chief Shoemaker is not only to rid the city of alcohol peddlers, but to stop the warfare among the rival gangs, which has taken a huge death toll.

As the detectives moved to stop liquor crimes, city and county authorities joined to stamp out the wave of attacks upon young women and young girls in Chicago, following the 11th report of assault within the past few days.

Butler To Spend Large Sum In Next Five Years

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 17.—(United Press)—Butler University contemplates spending about fifteen million dollars at a conservative estimate during the next five years, according to John H. Artherton, financial secretary.

The expenditures will begin this fall with the erection of the first unit of buildings at the new Fairview site of the University. Approximately one million dollars will be spent during the fall.

In addition to this sum the University during the present year, plans to spend a half million dollars for a new athletic plant and a quarter of a million on fraternity buildings.

In reviewing the value of the University to Indiana, Artherton said that approximately thirty million dollars will be expended as a result of the money spent by visiting students and persons attending athletic contests amounts to thousands of dollars each year, Artherton said.

The improvement work on the new site of the University is expected to begin within the next few weeks.

To Have Exhibit Of Fish At State Fair

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 17.—(United Press)—Extensive preparations are being made by the state conservation department for presenting the annual exhibit of fish and aquatic life at the Indiana State fair, beginning Sept. 6, according to George N. Mansfield, fish and game superintendent.

Fifty-two large glass faced tanks will be used in presenting the exhibit and every specie of game fish native to Indiana will be shown as well as frogs, turtles and other inhabitants of the streams and lakes.

An experienced person will be in charge of the exhibit, ready to answer all questions relating to the work of the department and literature will be distributed explaining details of fish propagation at the live state hatcheries and accomplishments of the war-den service.

Legion Working To Get Out Vote At Election

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 17.—(United Press)—Civic associations, patriotic organizations, religious societies, and clubs of business and professional men and women are responding favorably by every mail to the appeal made by the American Legion for a nationwide movement in support of 11,000 meetings September 21 to arrange for non-partisan committees of representatives of various organizations to get out the vote at the general election November 2, according to Frank C. Cross, National Director of the Americanism Division of the American Legion.

"Working in conjunction with the National Civic Federation, an appeal was sent to 11,000 posts of The American Legion requesting that local Legion members be invited to participate in a wake-up the duties of voters, not only to vote November 2, but to take active part in the caucuses of their respective parties, and to aid in the campaigns," Cross said today.

The 11,000 meeting September 21 constitute the preliminary step. They are to be attended in each instance by invited representatives of associations interested in good citizenship and civic affairs. These representatives will formulate ways and means of their own in arousing the dormant voter to do his duty as a citizen in the election November 2.

Fascinating Widow Causes Six Suicides

Budapest (U. P.)—Charged with inducing six different young men to commit suicide, a young Budapest widow has been taken into custody by the local police.

A seventh, instead of yielding to her persuasive argument that "it would be beautiful to take poison and die in the arms of the beautiful woman," broke away from her embraces and rushed to the nearest police station.

The woman's mentality in wishing to have the young men die in her presence promises several weeks of interesting study to local psychoanalysts. The method which she employed was to induce her victims to commit suicide with her. To each she gave real poison while she drank a harmless portion of the same color.

Jay County Fair Is A Financial Success

Portland, Aug. 17.—One of the best and most successful from a financial standpoint of any held here in several years, is the verdict on Jay county's fifty-fifth annual fair, which passed into history with the completion of Friday's program. While definite figures are not available as yet, it was stated this morning by Secretary 24, P. Bishop that the association would realize a profit from this year's fair.

The Thursday crowd at the fair was reported to have been the best in the last five years while the crowd Friday was said to have been larger than the Thursday crowd last year.

Heavy English Taxation Cuts Whisky Drinking

London (United Press)—Whisky consumption in England was only 12, 74,000 gallons last year, a record low figure, excluding the two years of government control in 1918 and 1919, according to the report of William H. Ross, chairman and managing director of the Distillers' Company, Ltd.

Whisky-drinking has been growing less and less each year, he said. He held the high government taxes responsible, rather than any inclination toward temperance on the part of the consumers. Government taxes, he declared, are "gradually but surely bleeding the whisky trade to death."

WHEAT CROP IN STATE IS LARGE

Indiana Has Largest Yield Of Wheat Since War; Corn Prospects Good

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 16.—(United Press)—A winter wheat yield of 21 bushels per acre, about four bushels higher than a month ago, raising the Indiana crop about 7,000, 000 bushels is forecast by M. M. Justin, of the department of agricultural statistics of Purdue agricultural experiment station in a report released today. The increase is reported general over the state and the unexpected outturn seems related to quality, reported as 98, with 90 last year and 89 for a ten years average. Total production is the largest since the war years although the acreage is the smallest since 1916.

Corn prospects for the state changed but little in July. The condition is reported lower in the south and west and higher in the east and north than last month. Local differences in rainfall and soil have caused much variation. Corn has tasseled short and the stalks are not heavy, so that marked improvement in prospects is unlikely. The state production forecast for this year is 148,072,000 bushels compared with a production of 201,318,000 bushels in 1925.

Oats generally improved in July and cutting was nearly finished. The yield of 71,531,000 bushels expected is only slightly below the average. Rye is reported as averaging 15.6 bushels per acre, the highest since 1918. With the increased acreage this means a production of 2,748,000 bushels as compared with 1,744,000 bushels last year. The hay crop is now expected to be about four per cent larger than seemed probable last month, the change being due to better yields of timothy than expected.

Lesser crops such as tobacco, sweet potatoes and cowpeas declined in July because of drought. Prospects for a large fruit crop of all kinds continues with little change during the last month.

As harvesting and thrashing made progress the demand for farm labor rose to 107 per cent of the supply compared with 103 last month and 95 last year. On reporters' farms Aug. 1, 75.7 of the milk cows were milked and produced 21.1 pounds of milk per cow and 98.6 per farm. Farms reporting egg production averaged 36 eggs per farm and 38.7 of the hens laid until August 1.

Ford Tour Airplanes At Fort Wayne Friday

Officials of the Fort Wayne Chapter of National Aeronautical Association, have completed all arrangements for the landing and reception of the pilots of the world's greatest airplane race—the Commercial Airplane Reliability Tour—which arrives in Fort Wayne about 10:30 o'clock Friday morning and departs for Detroit—the end of the journey—at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

This unique and unusual flying test is conducted entirely by commercial interests—and it unquestionably predicts the success America will soon attain in commercial flying throughout the country—in freight, mail and passenger carrying.

More than 2500 miles will be traversed at the end of the tour and with each airplane completing for the grand prize of the $7,000 trophy donated by E. B. Ford as well as $20,000 in cash prizes; the tour has become a heated race between the most experienced between the most experienced fliers in the country. There are less than fifty leaders—a Buhl-Verville and Travel Air machines—and it is expected a record crowd will assemble at Paul Reier Field Friday morning to see which will hit the line first on this next-to-last lap of the tour.

Stop paying rent. Own your own home. Raise your own vegetables. Have a flock of chickens, a cow, cut down your living expenses, and increase your bank account. Buy an acre tract in Belmont Park, Saturday, August 21.
