Crum-Christen

One of the most beautiful weddings of the current season occurred at 12 o'clock noon, Thursday, August 19, 1926, at the Antioch Lutheran church at Highland, when Miss Catharine May Christen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Christen, of Root township became the bride of Mr. Walter Crum, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Crum, of Honduras, Kirkland township. The beautiful double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. E. Slater, pastor of the Antioch church, assisted by the Rev. B. B. Uhl, of Frankfort, an uncle of the bride. Two hundred guests attended the wedding. The church was decorated with baskets of garden flowers. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. B. B. Uhl, of Frankfort, an aunt of the bride. The bridesmaids were the Misses Naomi and Margaret Christen, sisters of the bride; Miss Edith Crum, sister of the groom; and Miss Eunice Teal, of Dayton, Ohio, a college sorority sister and classmate of the bride. Miss Nancy Gay Case, of Wolcottville, and Mrs. Ray Thomas Kelsey, of Cleveland, Ohio, college classmates and sorority sisters of the bride, were maids of honor. Betty Lou Crum, of Fort Wayne, was flower girl. Mr. Ralph Martin, of Goshen, was the groom's attendant. The bride was charming in her gown of white flat crepe fashioned with pointed band set in at waist and with four circular panels, banded at the top with cords insets of all-over lace on the skirt. A godet of lace in the back of the waist and a large white flower, catching the band at the waist line on the left side, added to her attractiveness. She wore a long tulle veil, edged with wide val lace and held in place with three strands of pearls across her forehead, caught with a cluster of orange blossoms at the side. The veil was fashioned with an open crown and wide frill of val lace at the back. The bride carried a shower bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and white lilies. The bridesmaids, Misses Naomi and Margaret Christen, Miss Teal and Miss Crum, wore gowns of peach georgette and taffeta, green taffeta, pink georgette and lavender taffeta, respectively. The maid of honor, Mrs. Kelsey and Mrs. Case, wore dresses of poudre blue taffeta, and gold georgette and taffeta, respectively. The flower girl wore a pink crepe-de-chene dress with pointed ruffles and blue pink rose buds. The bride's mother wore a gown of orchid crepe. Each of the bridesmaids carried a beautiful bouquet of snapdragons and sweet peas. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Elizabeth Houck, of Muncie, a cousin of the groom, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Oh, Promise Me," and Mr. Robert Mills, of Winchester, a fraternity brother of the groom, sang, "At Dawning," and "Because." Miss Houck was accompanied by Miss Jessie Sprague, of Hartford City, also a cousin of the groom. Miss Houck accompanied Mr. Mills. During the ceremony, Mrs. Uhl played the Pi Beta Phi anthem. Ushers at the wedding were E. M. Christen and F. E. Christen, brothers of the bride, Dr. John Clark, fraternity brother of the groom, and R. T. Kelsey, an immediate friend of the bride and groom. At the beginning of the wedding march, E. M. Christen and R. T. Kelsey, ushers, entered the side door, followed by the ministers, and, in turn, the groom and best man, who marched to the altar and waited for the bridal party. F. E. Christen and Dr. Clark led in the bridal party, as follows: Nancy Gay Case, maid of honor; Mrs. Kelsey, matron of honor; Margaret Christen and Eunice Teal, bridesmaids; Naomi Christen and Edith Crum, bridesmaids; Betty Lou Crum, flower girl; and the bride, on the arm of her father, who gave her away in marriage. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, to seventy-five near relatives and intimate friends. The bride's table was decorated with a beautiful wedding cake in the center. The bride and groom's places were marked with a miniature bride and groom. Pastel colored napkins and place cards marked the other plates at the table. The home was decorated with baskets of garden flowers, including gladioli, zenia, golden glow, black eyed susans, daisies, snapdragons, and hyrangs. The menu consisted of: first course—iced cantaloupe; second course—chicken, potato, beef, creamed peas, sweet corn, buttered rolls and strawberry preserves; third course—stuffed tomato salad and salted wafers; fourth course—ice

President of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation a Great Believer in the State Fair

W. H. SETTLE

W. H. Settle, president of the Indiana State Farm Bureau Federation, has always been a practical and progressive Indiana farmer and stockman and a strong advocate of the Indiana State Fair.

Mr. Settle states: "I am always glad to say a word in favor of the Indiana State Fair, which has become one of the most noteworthy institutions of its kind in the country. The State Fair offers not only to farmers, but to city dwellers as well, a rare opportunity to check up on the progress during the last year of the state's part in the nation's basic industry, and at a time when the affairs of agriculture are more prominently before the people of the country than, perhaps, ever before, it is both likely and fitting that urban residents will give more attention to the State Fair this year than in previous years."

"Of course, primarily as an agricultural institution, the State Fair offers its greatest appeal to the state's farmers, farmers' wives and farmers' children, and that is as it should be. The announcements of the Fair Board indicate that more than ever this year will the various interests of the farm family be taken care of in the big exhibit at Indianapolis. The occasion gives to the farmer his most important business trip of the year, as far as production and production methods are concerned. Year by year the machinery of production is improved, and I know of no place where the new types and new ideas can better be brought together than at the State Fair. New achievements in livestock breeding, new conveniences for the farm home designed to lighten the burden of the farm wife; club camps for farm boys and girls; all these and many more items of interest provide for the farmer and his family an opportunity to study the progress of his own business and at the same time afford the farmer and his family a most enjoyable outing. "No farmer should neglect his State Fair. To broaden his view-point, to garner new ideas and to rub elbows with his neighbors—these indeed make this great institution well worth while."

Governor Is One of the Most Enthusiastic Members of the State Fair Board

ED. JACKSON

Governor Ed Jackson is an ex-officio member of the Indiana Board of Agriculture and is very much interested in the progressive way the fair has been handled.

Governor Jackson made the following statement: "While agriculture has its problems which are demanding very serious attention and consideration of political and industrial leaders, yet regardless of their adjustments each year a host of faithful and devoted farmers produce in Indiana a marvelous return from the soil. The Indiana State Fair has each year made striking proof of the constant progress in our agricultural activities. It has always been a potent factor in creating inspiration for higher ideals in agriculture. The allied industries have recognized this fact and in consequence have joined in making it the one great show of the year. This institution is supported by the state and conducted in the interest of all, and those in charge of its management are ever zealous that it should represent the state as a whole and not any particular section."
