TWO-THIRDS RULE

Sen. Copeland Says Gov. Smith Will Not Raise His Hand For Nomination

By Paul R. Mallon, UP Staff Correspondent
Washington, Dec. 2.—(UP)—Gov. Al Smith does not intend to raise his hand for the 1928 Democratic presidential nomination and will not let his workers seek abrogation of the two-thirds rule. Senator Copeland, Dem., N. Y., declared here today.

In the face of continued silence from Albany and New York City over the Smith candidacy, Copeland explained the plans of the Smith group. Although he spoke for himself, his eminence in the Smith forces was regarded as giving his remarks the authority of a definite pronouncement on what that group of the Democratic party is thinking about and what it intends to do.

"Smith does not want abrogation of the two-thirds rule," the senator told the United Press. "He wants to be chosen by the rule which has prevailed all along in Democratic national conventions."

"I think he is certain of a majority soon after the convention starts. There will be a lot of favorite sons like Donahoe of Ohio, Glass of Virginia, Walsh of Montana, Ritchie of Maryland, Woolen of Indiana, and Phelan of California to start. A large portion of these favorite son delegates will go to Smith before the convention is very old."

"When he gets a majority, I think the others will be ashamed into voting for him. They will have no other excuse to hold out other than that he is a Catholic."
