LEGION SEEKS MORE MEMBERS

to the posts and individual members giving unusual service in the campaign. The number of members of the Legion in the state this year will also determine the position of Indiana department in the line of march in the national convention and the honors that it will receive nationally.

With 1,500 more new members today than it had last year on the same day the Indiana department is a strategic position to break all membership records. The local post, too, is in a stronger position than last year it is reported by the post commander.
