Adams County Farmers Hold Annual Banquet

FINE PROGRAM GIVEN AT ANNUAL GATHERING HERE

Children Have Part In Program; Interesting Addresses Given

PURDUE MAN GIVES PRINCIPAL ADDRESS

One of the greatest farm meetings in the history of Adams county was held at the K. of C. hall in this city last night when 158 people gathered around the banquet table at 6:30 o'clock and participated in the annual farmers' banquet, held for the purpose of awarding prizes in the various farm clubs, by business houses and manufacturing concerns of Adams county.

Following the fine banquet, William P. Shrock, took the gavel and acted as toastmaster during the meeting. After a few introductory remarks, Mr. Shrock called on Roy V. Price, Adams county cow tester, who had charge of the dairy division of the program.

Mr. Price called upon the three Lehman sisters, small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Lehman, who rendered two fine readings. They were followed by Miss Ruth Mazelin who lauded, the Holstein cow as a milk producer. A dialog by Mr. Price and Walter Sommer was well received. Mr. Price then awarded medals to Noah Rich and Peter B. Lehman as well as certificates for their having qualified in the 200-pound cow club. He also awarded certificates in several other members whose herds had made high averages. Davy Mosser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Mosser, recited a poem calling attention to the fact that Jersey cows will help your farmer out of trouble. Dan Striker, and Emil Badertscher rendered several selections on their accordion, in most instances being accompanied by Peter B. Lehman who greatly pleased the crowd with his yodeling.

Mr. Shrock then called upon W. T. Rupert, chairman of the five-acre corn club banquet committee, who awarded medals to Albert Ewell and Otto Bieherich for their accomplishments in the five-acre corn contest.

Ivy Thome, Los Angeles druggist, during a holdup, Christmas eve, 1926.

This trial was scheduled to be continued to a later date to allow Hickman's trial for the murder of Marion Parker to be resumed before Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco.

Mrs. Eva M. Hickman, mother of "The Fox," and William Thomas Hickman, Hickman's father, were to furnish new courtroom drama, probably late this afternoon with their appearance on the witness stand to give testimony in which they will bare incidents of the past they have tried to forget.

STORY OF HIGH FINANCE IS TOLD

Strange Story Told At Teapot Dome Investigation Today

By William K. Hutchinson
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Feb. 1.—(INS)—A strange story of high finance, in which the directors of the Sinclair Crude Oil company signed a $50,000,000 guarantee for the Continental Trading Company without ever having heard of the latter concern, which told the senate public lands committee today by A. L. Carlson, a Sinclair director, at the new Teapot Dome investigation.

Carlson said the board of directors of the Sinclair company had never heard of the Continental but signed the guarantee because Harry F. Sinclair and Robert W. Stewart had approved it. This testimony definitely linked Sinclair and Stewart to continental.

The purpose of the Senate's investigation is to learn what became of a $3,000,000 Liberty bond fund once held by the continental.

FIELD DRY FORCES ARE REORGANIZED

General Shake-up In Government Prohibition Forces In Effect

Washington, Feb. 1.—(UP)—A general shake-up in the government's field prohibition forces proceeded in the middle west and south today as orders from assistant secretary of treasury Lowman to redvide seven dry districts went into effect.

Agents and investigators were being transferred from one territory to another; several administrators territories were enlarged or reduced; and other officials did not know just how long they were to remain in the service.

Indiana and Ohio were grouped as district No. 12 under W. Walker acting administrator, with headquarters at Columbus, Ohio. Indiana previously had been grouped with Illinois and eastern Wisconsin, while Ohio was a separate district.

Dr. Fred Patterson has moved his dental office from the Knights of Columbus building to the Michael Building, on South Second street, three doors south of the Edward's Photograph Studio, where he is now open for business. Four years ago, Dr. Burt Mangold and Dr. Patterson formed a partnership, which continued until the early part of 1927, being terminated then because of the latter's extended illness. Dr. Mangold will continue his practice in his present location, in the Knights of Columbus building.

Illinois Man Proposes To Launch A Dream City

Quawaka, Ill., Feb. 1.—(UP)—William T. Love, of this city, 70 year old promoter of a dream city in western Illinois, has departed on foot for Washington, D.C., where he will seek the endorsement of congress for his project. Petitions and plans with letters from prominent citizens of Illinois, will be laid before the lawmakers.

Love proposes to launch a city in which each workman will be given a small tract of land to farm during his leisure time. He wishes congress to finance the purchase of land, the erection of industrial establishments and has ideas which he hopes will meet with favorable reception in the United States senate and the house of representatives. Love's former attempts on his own behalf to launch such cities have failed.

Driver Unaware Of Trouble
John Thatcher, of Bobo, driver of the bus, said he did not notice the fumes and did not know anything was wrong until he stopped to let the children out of the bus at the school building. He found several of the children slumped over in their seats. Mr. Thatcher said he felt a little dizzy after he got out of the bus into the fresh air.

Opal Walters, 15, daughter of Mrs. Lucin Walters, was the most seriously affected by the fumes. She sits in the rear of the bus and serves as a "conductor." Mr. Thatcher is hard of hearing and can not hear the children well. When he stops the bus to take on or let off children, Miss Walters pulls a cord that rings a bell in front of Mr. Thatcher, to let him know when to start the bus again. Mildred Brodbeck, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brodbeck, also was in a serious condition when the bus was stopped.

The exhaust from the motor was run through a pipe inside the bus to furnish heat. Mr. Thatcher had done some work on the heater yesterday and apparently did not get the connections airtight, as the fumes escaped through the connections. The heater pipe ran the full length of the bus. The children in the center and rear of the bus were most affected by the fumes, as a certain amount of fresh air came in through the front of the bus.

SPECIAL MUSIC GIVEN AT REVIVAL

Rev. And Mrs. Sharrow Furnish Treat At United Brethren Church

Another large crowd was in attendance at the United Brethren revival last night. A special treat was in store for them as Rev. and Mrs. Sharrow were present and sang two wonderful duets. The first number by Mr. and Mrs. Sharrow was "I Need Jesus," and at the conclusion of the sermon they sang very touchingly "Is Jesus Satisfied With You." The visit of these helpers last night was a great blessing and help for the Rev. Mr. Wilson had been called home on account of the serious illness of his little daughter, but will return today.

The prayermeeting held by the Work and Win class proved helpful and each evening at 7:10 o'clock they will direct a prayer service in the class room to which all are invited.

Last night, the pastor, the Rev. Cecil R. Smith, used a part of the story of the rich man and Lazarus as the background for his sermon and called attention to the family record as recorded about Dives. This citation of scripture is a little different than the previous chapter of Luke's gospel and, while the previous chapter magnifies the Grace of God, this one presents some thoughts on the wrath of God, as brought about by sinful man. A few of the things that was noted in this family to which the rich man belonged were: First, He belonged to a wealthy family, but wealth does not mean eternal salvation.
