Mouse Makes Home In Electric Wires, Causes Much Static For Radio

Elkhart, Ind. Feb. 8.—(INS)—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Roach, of Constantine, Michigan near here, had been having a lot of trouble with their radio. They had more and more static and were never able to get anything. It was of no use to try to get even nearby stations. The radio even squeaked when the current was turned off.
Experts were called but were unable to locate the trouble. All the wires were properly soldered and the aerial was air tight.
Continued investigation however disclosed that a little mouse, seeking a home with all modern conveniences had made a nest between the lead wires, the insulation of the lead wires furnished food for the tiny rodent while the wires made an "excellent" foundation for his home. Thus he lived and dined and finally died in a world of music.

Muncie—Convinced that his daughter, Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson died with three companions in an attempted trans-Atlantic flight in the plane, Dawn, A. J. Wilson, local grocer, desires to settle her estate in New York her home, but has been advised to swait by lawyers in that city. The lawyers apparently do not share the father's belief that there is no hope of Mrs. Grayson being found alive.
