NOW SHOWING—"HE DIDN'T SAY YES"

BY SEGAR

BYE, BYE, LITTLE BORER!

To a fat caterpillar, like the larvae of the European corn borer when snug in a cornstalk for the winter, zero weather means little. But when man takes a hand and applies a match to the cornstalks, it's goodbye forever for the corn borers within. Where water and zero weather fail, fire succeeds.

CLAIMS BORER IS HARMLESS

The Price Current-Grain Reporter: I note by a recent issue of the Price Current that the Indiana Grain Dealers' Association adopted resolutions favoring another government appropriation ostensibly for corn borer control purposes.

The farmers and grain dealers of Northern Ohio, the long home of this humble, comparatively harmless worm, are up in arms against any further appropriation. They say that General Worthington with his army of men, oil burners, stubble beaters and other contraptions, did more harm than the corn borer.

With the exception of a small field near Bono in Jerusalem township, Ottawa county, along the lake shore, if there is an acre of corn in Ohio that has been materially effected by the corn borer, I have been unable to locate it and I have canvassed the entire state. The Hon. Charles L. Knight of Akron, Ohio, says there has never been a more gigantic graft put through in so short a time or one from whose evil consequence the country will suffer more. Mr. Knight also says that this humble worm has always been found in the reeds and weeds along the lake shores, where they probably would have remained unheard of had it not been for the efforts and activities of the grafters and schemers for more political jobs.

Is it possible that Professor Christie and Director Truax were in the class referred to by Mr. Knight, when, on November 18, 1926, in conference with President Coolidge, they told the president they needed ten million dollars for corn borer control purposes, and that the farmers and business men of Ohio and other states were sponsoring the movement, when fewer than one per cent of our farmers even had knowledge of their going to Washington?

Are Professor Christie and Director Truax familiar with the bulletins issued by our federal and state agricultural departments, which advise us that by the simple method of burying our corn stalks and plowing them under, or by raking and burning them, that the corn borer may easily and efficiently be destroyed?

As a matter of fact, the corn borer is not now, never has been, nor is very likely to become a serious crop menace in this or any other country where farmers rotate their crops or make a consistent effort to destroy the hibernating material of these humble worms.

President Coolidge has well said, "Because a thing ought to be done, it does not follow that the government should do it." Because our corn stalks and weeds should be buried or raked and burned—the simplest way to control the corn borer—it does not follow that the government should do it.

Our farmers and business men do not choose to have any further tax burdens placed on their shoulders. Consequently, they are sending a large delegation to Washington to enter their protest against a return engagement next season with the Christie-Traux aggregation, also to counteract the resolution presented at the Indianapolis Grain convention by Mr. Christie.—E. T. Cushman, Secretary Miami Valley Grain Dealers' Ass'n.—Mar. 21, 1928.
