JUVENILE ACTORS SCORE GREAT HIT

Goldilocks' beautiful dream begins.
She is first visited by the "Wood Nymphs," in clever costumes of grass green, who execute a clever dance number. These characters were taken by: Robert Brodbeck, Floyd Ely, Clyde Drake, Doyle Gay, Frederick Lough, Donald Beery, John McConnell, Junior Poling, David Macklin, Harold Ely, Donald Bixler and Arthur Merriman.
Next came the "Light Bearers," dressed in white robes with deep pink trim, and carrying large torches of the deep pink color. Their drill was most effective. These boys were:
Kenneth Gause, Russell Andrews, Billy Tindall, Gaylord Brothers, Richard Moses, Lewis Beery, Harry Moyer, Richard Borges, Keith Hunt, Dwight Kimble, Frank Lough and Bobby Worthman.
The nodding daisies, with their green dresses and white neck ruffs came next and were lovely addition to the already pretty picture. Their dance was more lively and intricate for the children. The daisies were:
Betty Campbell, Melba Kraft, Evelyn Adams, Rose Moyer, Rosella Heare, Alice Kathryn Baker, Catherine Jackson, Helen Richards, Bernice Pickford and Helen Brintzenhofe.
Modest violets were next with their lavender and purple costumes. Their dance was of a more slow graceful type in keeping with the modesty usually attributed to this type of flower. The violets were: Juanita Hitchcock, Jessie Smith, Leona Smith, Virginia Breiner, Iona Schnepf, Gretchen Lough, Betty Hamma and Goldine Kreischer.
And last but not least, the pretty blue bells joined in the dance with their dresses of a rich blue hue.
These girls were: Janet Schrock, Wanda Jones, Imogene Bright, Betty Borges, Nina Elchar, Evangeline Fuhrman, Dorothy Ogg and Maxine Drake.

Goldilocks' dream was complete and with the finale of the pretty stage picture, she began to stir and "Pan," becoming frightened lest she awaken and find his flowers and nymphs all assembled, bids them hasten away.
Goldilocks then rises, and is startled to find that dusk has overtaken her.
She is alone in the woods and frightened. Discovering that she is also lost and doesn't know which way to go home, she starts toward a light which she sees burning in a cottage a short distance away.
A kitchen scene in the home of the Bear family is the setting for act three. Father Bear in his big chair, (Keith Smitley), Mother Bear in her medium chair, (Agnes Nelson), and Baby Bear in his wee little chair (Donald Arnold), are discovered as the curtains open. Mother Bear goes to tend some porridge on the stove.
She dishes up a big dish for Papa Bear, a medium dish for Mamma Bear, and a smaller dish for Baby Bear. They attempt to eat their por-ridges which proves to be too hot.
Papa and Mamma Bear decide to attend a movie show while the porridge cools and leave the baby bear at home, alone. After their departure, the bear cubs, playmates of Baby Bear call on him and they all decide to go down to the creek for a dip.
By this time, Goldilocks has reached the Bear home. She enters, tries each of the chairs in turn and ends by breaking the back of the baby bear's little chair. Then she samples the porridge. Papa Bear's porridge is too cold, Mamma Bear's porridge is just right so she eats it all. Then she decides to go upstairs and investigate the place. The Bear family return home and discover someone has been in their house. Baby Bear discovers his broken chair and begins to cry. Finally, they discover Goldilocks and are about to devour her when her mother, her father (Junior Gephart) and a group of neighbors arrive on the scene and capture the bears. The operetta ends with Goldilocks receiving permission to take the Baby Bear home with her for a playmate.

The Bear Cubs made suite a decided hit in the play with their song and dance number "How'd you like to be a little bear cub?" These boys participated in this number: Eugene Myers, Robert Beavers, John Smitley, Robert Sheets, Edward Reynolds, Dwight Darr, John Max Venis, Junior Ross, Max Moser, Fred Conrad, Frederick Kirsch, Edwin May, Richard Wagoner and Robert Malony.

The neighbors who saved Goldilocks from the Bears were: Bobby Ashbacher, Richard Teeters, Lucile

Libby, Ruth McClure, David Tumbleson, Floyd Hitchcock, Cecil Gause, Irene Tope, Kenneth Gaunt, Richard Tope, Martha Summers, Edna Elzey, Vera Roth, Billy Schrock!

The play was exceptionally well acted by the children, who were almost perfectly trained. Much credit for the success of the play is due Miss Elizabeth Peterson, Miss Della Sellemeyer, Miss Serena Hornada and Principal John Parrish who had charge of all the training work. The operetta was so very well chosen for the children, their ages and size applying so naturally to the characters of the story.

A unique feature of the evening was the Juvenile Symphony Orchestra, which played two numbers between the second and third acts of the play. Miss Sellemeyer directed the orchestra while Miss Elizabeth Peterson accompanied at the piano.
Miss Peterson also accompanied during the operetta for the vocal and dance numbers. The children featured in the Symphony orchestra were:

entry into the kingdom of heaven.
In blessing the branches the church prays that "those who receive them may obtain protection of body and soul, and that they may prove a saving remedy and a sacred sign of grace," and that "into whatever place they may be brought those who dwell there may obtain God's blessing." It is therefore usual to keep them in Catholic homes.

"In ancient times Holy Keel was called the 'Painful Week,' or the 'Week of Austerities,' also the 'Week of Sorrows,' the Days of the Cross or of Suffering. These various names give us an idea of the meaning of the week between Palm Sunday and Easter. It is called in the office of the Catholic church 'the Great Week' because of the merciful and great things wrought by God, and which we commemorate, in it.

"The spirit of Holy Week was perhaps more earnestly entered into in past ages than it is today. The fast of Lent was more austere during this week than during the previous weeks.

St. Epiphanius who lived in the fourth century tells us that in his time Christians of even the least fervor and zeal ate only bread salted and drank water only once a day. The more devout, he says, went two, three and four days, according to their strength without eating at all. Watching and meditation especially all Easter ever were general practices.
Those who gave alms doubled them during this week. These things were done to most solemnly commemorate Christ's sufferings and resurrection, mysteries by which all blessings have been conferred upon men. Servants, were exempt from bodily labor because they might have opportunity to attend to the worship of God and the affairs of their souls. In a word Christians gave up this entire week to devout meditation on the cross and passion of our Lord, doing penance for their sins."

Rev. H. W. Thompson was at Ft.
Wayne last evening, to hear Rev.
Stone's address.
