SUNDAY SCHOOLS HOLD CONVENTION

awarded second place and will act as alternate in the county contest.

Miss Bernadine Kolter, of the Reformed church, won the Bible memory contest and will represent the township in the county meet. Betty Frisinger, of the Presbyterian church, won second place in the contest.

The two winners will participate in the county contest Friday night, May 11, at the Methodist church in this city, to determine who will represent the county at the district meet, the date and place of which will be announced later.

The judges in the two contests were Miss Eva Acker, Mrs. C. E. Hocker and Robert Mann.

Miss Jessie Winess, of the Baptist church, was elected delegate to the state Sunday school convention, to be held May 19-21 at Logansport. Miss Winess will represent the township at the convocation.

President C. D. Teeple presided at the meeting of the convention yesterday afternoon and introduced the various speakers. A motion was carried, during the business session, that all winners of church contests next year would receive an award to be made by the township organization.

The entire meeting was well attended and those in charge were highly pleased with the fine program which was rendered. Many from other townships interested in Sunday school work attended the convention and stated that it was one of the finest ever held in the county.

Abraham Shoe, 75, was killed, Sunday, in an automobile accident at Toledo, Ohio. According to word received by his brother, Mathew Shoe, of Toccoa, details of the accident were lacking. Abraham Shoe was born in Sherwood, Ohio, and while he never resided in this vicinity, he has many relatives in both Wells and Adams counties, and has visited here on numerous occasions. Ed Shoe, of this city, is a nephew of the deceased and plans to attend the funeral, Wednesday afternoon.

MORE THAN 250 VETERANS ATTEND LEGION GATHERING

length on national defense, declaring that the United States needs a navy second to none in the world. He discussed the unfriendly feeling of the organized minority of the world toward the United States and how that minority is breeding hate among others.

He said this feeling must be eradicated through an educational campaign.

Mr. McHale also discussed the membership campaign being conducted by the Indiana department of the legion. He said the goal for this year was 30,000 members and that already more than 20,000 have been secured, with 55 posts over their quota. He urged the veterans to take part in civic and community welfare and especially to get out and vote for the primary election on May 8.

Robinson Speaks
Senator Robinson made a non-political address and did not refer to his campaign for re-election. He reviewed the history of the United States and showed how the equality of man had enabled this nation to prosper and grow to be the leading power of the world. The senator denounced cancellation of the war debts and advocated a navy second to none and a merchant marine capable of carrying on the country's entire world trade.

"Americans have always been peace-loving people, and yet it should not be forgotten that throughout our history we have several times been forced to unsheathe the sword," Senator Robinson said. "When the constitution was adopted two great questions remained unsettled. One was how long human slavery should be tolerated and the other whether or not one state, or several, could secede from the Union and thus destroy it."

Settled by the sword
"In the end both of these questions were to be settled by the sword. It remained for the Grand Army of the Republic to do the job and they did it effectively. Great sacrifices were called for and many thousands of their number were killed and wounded, but in the end they brought peace to the country, the Union was saved and the constitution had been preserved. The boys in blue saved the republic that Washington and his comrades had founded. During the years that have followed the survivors of the civil war have been in the forefront of every patriotic movement."

"The Spanish-American war was brief but glorious, as we emerged from that conflict a world power, universally recognized as such."

"As a result of the world war, in which we ourselves were engaged, our country became the greatest in the world. This being true, our national responsibilities have become increasingly heavier. We are today richer and more powerful than any other people. For that very reason we are envied by other nations and must be constantly on our guard. We have cut our national debt to approximately $18,000,000,000, and it is to be hoped that we can pay off the balance as soon as possible, for in the event of trouble the treasury is always the first line of defense."

For Adequate Defenses
"We must also maintain an adequate army, navy, and marine corps commensurate with our national policy. Not for aggression, but that we may be able to defend ourselves in case we should be attacked. Furthermore, our soldiers, sailors and marines must be well rationed and decently housed in order that their morale shall be kept at the highest standard."

"It is of the utmost importance, also, that we keep abreast of the times in aircraft, submarines and all scientific development."

"We are situated in the midst of the world ocean, so to speak. To the westward in the Pacific are the Philippines and Hawaii. To the eastward is the Atlantic and Europe. To look southward over Porto Rico the Virgin islands, the Panama Canal Zone and to South America. Our coast line everywhere is far-flung and our insular possessions look to us for protection."

Care for Disabled
"To safeguard the Republic must ever be the special care of those who have worn the uniform and service men everywhere must be concerned as to the general welfare. I appeal to you, therefore, to assist in the solution of all problems that confront the nation. Your influence, individually and collectively, is very great, and your experience in war especially prepared you for great service in time of peace. Service men should study these great national questions and freely exert their influence toward their proper solution."

On the other hand the country's first duty is to those who have borne the battle, and to their dependents. Our disabled comrades especially must receive the tenderest care and attention from the government. Our first concern is for them.

"We who live today have received a noble inheritance from the past. As trustees for future generations, it is our duty to safeguard the heritage zealously, live for it righteously and be willing to die for it if need be. While we fervently pray for peace, we must not be blinded to the facts."

At 5 o'clock, a playlet entitled, "The Fatal Necklace," was presented for the entertainment of the visitors by a cast from the Tri Kappa sorority.

200 Attend Banquet
The banquet was served at 6 o'clock. Covers were laid for 200 persons, including both men and women. Mrs. Graham served as toastmaster. Speeches were given by General L. R. Gignilliat, commander of Culver Military academy, and Captain Emery, also of Culver academy. Gen. Gignilliat gave an interesting discussion of the Fidae, the organization made up of veterans of the World War from each of the allied nations. Capt. Emery gave a speech that was filled with wit and humor and he kept his audience in a continuous round of laughter.

A dance, starting at 8 o'clock, ended the day's activities. A large crowd attended the dance. Music was furnished by an orchestra from Huntington. The same orchestra provided music during the banquet.

Mrs. Rhotan, of Anderson, 8th district Legion Auxiliary committee woman, attended the meeting and met with a group of eligible auxiliary members from this city. Mrs. Rhotan's intention to organize the Auxiliary here, but due to the small number of women present, it was impossible to carry out proposed plans. Mrs. Vincent Bormann is temporary chairman of the organization.

GILLIOM RESENTS
"WET OF RECORD"
IDENTIFICATION

Louis Kunkel, prosecuting attorney of Laporte county, Walter Carpenter, a court reporter, Ralph Spaan, Indianapolis attorney. The present affidavit is the third charge which Gilliom has filed against the Anti-Saloon League leader. On the first charge, which was contempt of court, Shumaker was convicted and was sentenced to 60 days at the state farm with a fine of $250. There is now pending before the state supreme court another charge by Gilliom that Shumaker, while the contempt case was pending, tried to exert political pressure upon judges of the supreme court by asking United States Senators James F. Watson and Arthur R. Robinson to intervene in his behalf. Pending decision of the latter cause, Shumaker has not yet begun to serve the sentence for contempt.

The suit of the attorney general today was the first legal attempt to strike at Shumaker's practice of demanding in advance of elections the views of candidates for public office on the wet and dry issue.

His filing followed the issuance of an open letter assailing Shumaker by Ralph K. Kane, campaign manager for the attorney general.

This letter charged that through the statements in the American Issue, Shumaker had "demonstrated that, although you profess to be a minister of the Gospel, you have no respect for the eighth commandment and you are willing to employ the methods of a political demagogue to satisfy a personal grudge."

Continuing the assault, Kane forecast the present suit by the following statement:

"There is no place in this country for reformers for revenue only, and when they violate the law, as you have done in this case, it is time to stop their activities."

Bond Fixed At $1,000
South Bend, April 30—(INS)—A bond of $1,000 for Edward S. Shumaker, Indiana Anti-Saloon League superintendent, charged with violation of the corrupt practices act was fixed here today in St. Joseph county court.

Bernard Keltner, aid to Attorney General Arthur Gilliom who filed the charges, left here with a certified copy of the warrant to be turned over to the sheriff of Marion county for service.

GIRL SLAIN IN THEATRE HOLDUP

Chicago, April 30—(INS)—The greatest manhunt of recent years was in progress here today in search of four bandits who last night shot and killed a 16-year-old girl cashier during a motion picture theater holdup.

The girl was shot through the heart when she involuntarily screamed from fright at the bandits' appearance. A girl assistant fainted at her side. The bandits calmly stepped over their bodies, scooped up $1,500 in currency and fled.

The bandits, armed with shotguns and revolvers, held 2,000 persons in the audience at bay as they backed out of the theater lobby. They escaped in a large closed automobile bearing a New York license plate.

The slain girl was Miss Pearl Egerson. The scene of the robbery was the large new theater in Berwyn, west side suburb.

More than 2,000 patrons were thrown into a panic by the roar of guns.

COURT HOUSE
Estate Opened
Letters of administration have been issued to Joseph D. Durbin in the estate of Ethel Purdie. Bond in the sum of $2,200 was filed.

Arrested for Desertion.
Homer White was arrested and brought into circuit court late Saturday to answer to a charge of wife and child desertion. He entered a plea of not guilty. His bond was fixed at $500 and he was committed to the county jail. White has a wife and three minor children.

Case On Trial
The case of Belle Clark vs. the Berné Milling company was being tried in circuit court before Judge Sutton today. The case is a suit on account.

HICKMAN BELIEVES HE WILL CHEAT HANGMAN
HOPES OF AN APPEAL

San Quentin Prison—(INS)—Preoccupied with "grandstanding" during his daily ball game, William Edward Hickman is convinced he will not be hanged for the murder of Marion Parker.

Fellow convicts and guards assert that the youthful kidnapper has repeatedly said of the outcome of his appeal, "You'll be surprised." He leans knowingly in discussing the appeal, they say.

The earliest date possible for his execution in event his appeal is denied will be some time in June, it is learned here. As no other executions are scheduled before that date, Hickman, if hanged, would be the one hundred and thirty-third man to die on the San Quentin gallows.

According to authorities Hickman's execution in June would mark the thirty-third year of San Quentin hangings. The first execution was March 3, 1893 when Jose Gabriel of San Diego was hanged.

Hickman's disposition has grown jovial under prison life, those who see him daily report. He takes great pleasure in the daily period of recreation and plays baseball with gusto. Whenever spectators watch from the gallery "The Fox" attempts fancy throws and catches to draw attention.

Hickman's disposition to "grandstand" in the presence of visitors almost cost him his privilege of exercising daily. He was severely rebuked by prison officials who told him that any further "clowning" in the presence of visitors would result in loss of his privileges.

Woman's Hand Caught In Electric Wringer

Mrs. A. V. Yost, 1004 S. 10th St., had the misfortune to get her right hand caught in the electric wringer today, while washing. Mrs. Yost had presence of mind enough, when she realized her hand was caught between the rolls of the wringer with the emergency trip, thereby releasing her hand. The third and little fingers were severely mashed and burst open, but it is not believed there are any bones broken. The injury however, is painful.

Mr. and Mrs. Nyle Jackson visited with friends in Bluffton, Sunday.

Miss Virginia Reinhard, of Portland visited over the weekend with Miss Mabel Staley in this city.

Miss T. S. Corbett and daughter Nina have returned to their home in Huntington, after a several days visit at the Fred Fullenkamp home in this city.
