Youth Hurlled 35 Feet Into Air When Flivver Hits Culvert; May Die

Huntington, Ind., May 8 — (INS) — Roland Cressles, 17, of Andrews, Ind., was in a local hospital today at the point of death as the result of being catapulted 35 feet into the air, across a ditch into a field when a collegiate flivver, said to have been traveling 50 miles-an-hour down a steep hill, a mile north of Andrews, ran into a concrete culvert.

Fifteen minutes after the accident, Marshal William Tidrick reached the scene and found Cressler in the field. Young Cressler had a fractured skull and a fractured shoulder.

Million Baby Salmon

Trout Planted In Lake

Michigan Near Chicago

Chicago May 8 — (INS) — There are one million (count 'em) more fish in Lake Michigan today than there were yesterday. The sudden increase in population resulted when Lincoln Park commissioners took 1,000,000 baby salmon trout from the park hatcheries rowed 15 miles out and gently dumped them overboard. No children, the little fishes won't drown.

TO STAGE GREEK PLAY AT WESTERN

The Senior class of Western College will present the "Antigone" of Sophocles, on Tree Day, May 15.

An unusual privilege is offered the community in the opportunity to hear this play. Productions of Greek dramas have not been numerous in this country, especially in the Middle West. Though these plays of a by-gone era may seem to many remote from our life and times, yet so universal is the appeal of the Greek drama that wherever such a play has been presented the audience has been carried away from America of the twentieth century and transported back to Athens on the fifth century before Christ.

The play is particularly appropriate to present at a woman's college for all the action centers round the noble girl, depicted with such understanding and sympathy that as Richard Jebb, the great English scholar has said: "Nowhere else has the poetry of the ancient world embodied so lofty or so beautiful an ideal of women's love and devotion." The Ernst Nature Theater, with its suggestions of the theaters of the Greeks, will make a wonderfully beautiful and appropriate setting for the play.
