Auto Is Wrecked When Driver Watches Farmer

Berne, Ind., July 12.—(Special)—Cornelius Bertsch, employed by the Danbar Manufacturing Company here, wrecked his Ford sedan. Monday evening, when enroute to his country home after work, Mr. Bertsch fastened his attention on a man who was plowing corn in a field on the Mike Moser farm, and before he knew it, his car had crashed into a cement abutment. He escaped uninjured, but the car was badly wrecked. The impact with the abutment threw the car crosswise the narrow road, and it was some time before it could be gotten out of the way. Finally a number of men carried the car off the road.

Congressman Vestal In City This Afternoon

Congressman Albert Vestal of Anderson was calling on friends here this afternoon, meeting Republican leaders and planning his campaign. Mr. Vestal has served this district in congress since 1916 and, besides being the whip of the house, is a member of several important committees. He was one of the chief supporters of Senator Watson for the presidency.

Occupants Of Court House Are Busy As Bees These Days

Occupants of the Adams county court house are as busy as bees these days, that is, most of them are. In fact, most of them are bees. A swarm of honey bees came to a halt in one of the big maple trees just north of the court house a few days ago. After the scouts had reconnoitered for several minutes, Miss Queen Bee led her followers through a small hole in the brick wall of the court house, between two windows in the county auditor's office, into the compartment between the inner and outer walls of the building. Now the bees are busy carrying nectar into their new abode and manufacturing it into honey. Frequently, some of the bees wander through the open windows of the offices in the court house, much to the discomfort of the office girls.

Washington, July 12.—(INS)—The Democratic campaign will be waged in the same vigor as in other sections of the country Senator Joseph Robinson, party nominee for vice president declared today. Robinson advised the Democratic national committee in New York yesterday to establish headquarters in the south.

THIS MAN SAYS KONJOLA ENDED HEALTH TROUBLE

Rheumatic Aches And Pains Have Been Banished By Advanced Medicine

UNCLE JOHN HAWKINS

"I suffered an awful lot from rheumatism," said Uncle John Hawkins, Middlesboro, Richmond, Indiana, "but this new medicine ended every pain in my body."

"The misery settled in my legs and arms. At first my hip was affected, but as the days passed the pains gradually worked down through my right limb. Finally both my limbs were affected and I was forced to stay in bed for almost a month. The left knee would swell up so much I could not move it and for four years I suffered this way."

"Very soon after I started taking Konjola, I began to notice a change in my entire system. The rheumatic pains eased up and I was able to do my work without suffering the least bit. My knees limbered up and became free and active again. For the first time in four years I am relieved of that awful rheumatism. I hope that all the people who are suffering will see this and give Konjola a trial." Konjola is sold in Decatur at the Smith, Yager & Faik drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

NOW SHOWING—"THE RAINY SEASON OVER"

camp, the leaders aboard the Krassin decided to make at once for their ice floe and try to rescue them. At first it had been planned to pick up Chukhnovsky and his companions and then proceed to the rescue of the ice camp group under Lieut. Alfredo Viglieri, who assumed command as senior officer when Gen. Umberto Nobile was rescued by airplane.

The Krassin's decision to try to save the Viglieri group first was made after Chukhnovsky radioed the ship:

"Never mind us; save the others." Chukhnovsky revealed in his message that he and his companions set out to provide for themselves. In case their 14 days' rations might prove insufficient, he said, they immediately radioed all rescue ships in the area and learned that caches of food trappers and dog sled rescue parties had left.

Then they went out hunting and killed a polar bear almost at once.

It was impossible for the dazed men to say how far they had walked over the ice. It had drifted, apparently aimlessly in cross-currents, one way and another—as had the ice floe from which they started off the island.

What the story is that Zappi and Mariano, the two senior officers of the Italia, have to tell of their almost unbelievable adventure must be left for the moment to conjecture.

With Malmgren, who like them, refused to wait for what they thought was inevitable death but determined to meet it half way in a gallant, almost hopeless fight for life, they had lafet the Italia ice floe camp May 30 Early this week they were given up definitely for lost, though it was conceded that they might conceivably live, on the 40 pounds of rations they carried, until next Monday.

Malmgren was an expert in the Arctic, the veteran of other fights for life. He knew the ice and how to get over it. That he should have died and that his two companions—Italians from the south of Europe—should have remained alive for a month afterward, is one of the most surprising of the many surprising stories that the now historic tragedy of the Italia's loss, after its north pole flight, has brought forth.

Horses Hitched To Binder Run Away

Berne, Ind., July 12.—(Special)—Edwin Neuhauser, farmer residing northwest of Berne, received a scare, Tuesday afternoon, when a team of three horses, hitched to a grain binder, became frightened and ran across the field. The team started when a hired boy attempted to take a colt in the team by the bridle. The team galloped wildly away until stopped when the binder hooked on a gate post as the horses went through a gateway turning to run home. The horses stopped suddenly when the binder became fast. No one was injured during the excitement, but the binder was badly damaged.

ESSEX-mirrors public choice

The most important thing ever said of Essex is said by buyers in the largest 6-cylinder sales, and the most overwhelming competitive preference of automobile history.

It is a preference you will endorse and share the moment you see and ride in the Essex.

The New Essex Super-Six is a delight to the eye—in lines, in fine exterior appointment and in careful finish that invites and repays the closest examination.

Within, this satisfaction to eye and sense is apparent in every detail. The quality of the high-backed, form-fitting seats—richly upholstered—impresses you immediately. At the slender, graceful wheel, you look out over the shining beauty of cowl, hood, saddle-type lamps, heavy, arching fenders, to the winged radiator figure that expresses the spirit and fleetness under your hand.

And then you have the famous Essex chassis, powered with the Super-Six high-compression, high efficiency motor that turns waste heat to power, giving brilliant sustained performance never before known in this field.
