SMITH WOULD ECONOMIZE

Plans To Eliminate Useless Bureaus And Boards If Elected President

By Raymond I. Borst, INS Staff Correspondent

Albany, N. Y., July 20.—A complete overhauling of the machinery of the federal government and the consolidation and elimination of overlapping and useless bureaus, boards and commissions in the interest of economy and efficiency is planned by Governor Al Smith in the event of his election to presidency.

This was revealed by the governor to United States Senators Millard E. Tydings of Maryland and Harry B. Hawes of Missouri, recent guests of the executive mansion.

Plans Constructive Campaign

The governor impressed upon Tydings and Hawes that he proposed to conduct a "constructive" campaign and not one of criticism.

"I want my campaign and my administration, if I am elected, to be constructive," the governor was quoted by Senator Tydings. "I want things to be done to better the national government."

One of the outstanding achievements of Smith's four terms as governor of New York has been his reorganization of the state government in which he consolidated the 190 bureaus and agencies into 18 main departments.

According to close friends of the governor he feels the same thing can be accomplished in the federal government, only on a larger scale.

Senator Tydings is authority for the statement that the governor will stress the need for an overhauling and reorganization of the federal government in his notification speech next month.

ELECTRICAL AND WIND STORMS IN STORE FOR STATE

Temperatures Ranging In Nineties Forecast For Today And Saturday

FIVE PERSONS DIE OF HEAT PROSTRATIONS

Indianapolis, July 20.—(INS)—Scorching hot weather, with the probability of severe local electrical storms with wind squalls that will bring only temporary relief, are in store for Indiana for the next 36 hours or more, J. H. Armington, government meteorologist forecast today.

"There is nothing on the weather map today to indicate that the heat wave is nearing its end," Armington said. "Temperatures ranging in the nineties will continue today and tomorrow. Local thunder storms will bring temporary relief to some sections."

Early Winter Predicted

While Armington painted this hot prospect for Hoosierdom, barn yard weather prognosticators predicted early cold weather was near because of the actions of certain insects.

From Reelsville, Ind., came the news that katydids were starting to "holer" there. This, according to an old saying, means that frost is only six weeks away.

From Lebanon came the story that honeybees were leaving their hives in swarms and were seeking more substantial shelter. This, according to rural weather prophets, is an unfailing indication of an early hard winter.

Meanwhile, the hot weather was claiming additional lives in Indiana. Since the mercury began flirting with the nineties, at least five persons have died in Indiana from heat prostrations.

Maximum temperatures in Indiana yesterday was at Vincennes, where the mercury climbed to 95. Columbus and Madison had 93 degrees.
