tution come out of the record. "I hope now American newspapers and particularly republican newspapers will give the same consideration to this statement that they gave my statement yesterday."

White, in his attack last night, cited Smith's votes as a young assemblyman at Albany a score of years ago in an effort to prove his charge that the present governor then was subservient to tammany in protecting the saloon, the prostitute and the gambler.

White praised the governor for his record since he left the legislature. Friends of Smith, who have followed his career, took issue with White's statement that Smith had voted "against forbidding physical connections between the saloon and the houses of prostitution and gambling houses." They pointed out that prostitution was not legalized in New York, and said White's assumption was unfair. "That was the intention of the bill, I am informed," White said. He was asked if he had "analyzed" the Harding administration. He smiled, then said he had not been for Harding and had cast one of the six votes for Herbert Hoover on the final ballot in the 1920 convention when Harding was nominated. He was asked if he had once called Senator Curtis of Kansas, republican vice-presidential candidate, a "nitwit."

"Yes," he replied, "but that has nothing to do with this."

duties of planning all costumes, ordering through the committee, the material for same and allotting material and instructions to each individual person in the pageant. Mrs. J. W. Tndall and Mrs. James Elherson, in charge of chaperones, will be required to select a chaperone for each group appearing in the pageant. These chaperones, in turn, must see to it that every child in their group knows when their rehearsal is to be held, where it is to be held, and must make sure that they are present. Mrs. Vincent Bormann and Mrs. A.

M. Anker, together with a selected committee, will assume all duties devolving as to properties and stage setting.

Mrs. Charles Knapp, assisted by M. J. Mylott, will have charge of all plans for electrical effect, this being one of the very important features of an evening pageant. Mrs. Knapp and Mrs. Mylott will also choose a committee to assist them in working out their various ideas.

It is hoped to start rehearsals for the pageant in the very near future, the many details of which will require much time in perfecting for the public presentation.

Members of the committee took charge of the pageant with an enthusiasm and are anxious to put it across as one of which Adams county can well be proud, and one which can be recorded with honor in the permanent record book of the Old Home Coming Week celebration of 1928.

Detroit aircraft engineers reported that the plane could be made ready for a new trial within ten days. The Rockford Chamber of Commerce, which backed the flight through popular subscription, is going ahead with plans for a "Rockford Won't Quit" Day to raise funds for repair of the plane.
