PLAY ATTRACTS ANOTHER CROWD

soul, clean body, and splendid character. Detective Looney (Bernard Eiting) then appears, and announces that Zita's sweetheart, about whom there has been an unexplainable mystery, is in reality a wealthy young man, having inherited several millions from a wealthy uncle. He had hidden his identity in an effort to secure a wife who would love him for himself and not for his money.

Miss Grace Coffee figured prominently in the comedy role of the play as Mrs. Blithers, the village gossip, who was always on hand to spread the least bit of scandal which she could glean from her visits about the town. Fred Colchin was very good as the eccentric village squire.

In a curtain call received just previous to the opening of the third Act, the author expressed his appreciation of the cooperation received in Decatur, and also stated that in the many times he had directed the play, he had never had such a splendid portrayal of the character of "Toph" as was rendered in the production here by Herman Myers. Mr. Sheridan also complimented his musical director, Mr. True Frisbie, and Miss Margaret Niblick, who had charge of the dancing groups, and then spoke his farewell to the people of Decatur.

GEODETIC POST IS SOUGHT HERE

of it, but it is thought probable that the stone was plowed up when the hospital grounds were landscaped. If any person remembers about it or knows anything that will aid in clearing up the matter for the government, they should give the information to Mr. Graham, postmaster, who will forward it to the department.

The letter gives the following description of the lost stone and asks whether the station is still there, whether the marks are visible, whether any power lines or electric railways have been established near it, whether any new buildings have been erected near it and whether the person reporting thinks a new station advisable. The card describes the stone as follows:

"Decatur, Adams county—The station is in the northwestern corner of a piece of ground belonging to the county, and called the old fair grounds, about one mile southeast of the town's center. It is near the southeast corner of the intersection of Grant and High streets. It is 104.9 feet from the north fence, and 149.5 feet from the west fence. The station is marked by a limestone post 5 by 7 by 30 inches, projecting about five inches above ground, and lettered U. S. C. & G. S., 1909. The following true bearing were determined:

"Spire on steeple of Evangelical church 42° 42' 12" west of north.

"Top of cupola of south ward public school 83° 30' 54.7" west of north.

"Lower southwest corner above stone fountain of a brick building which is sixth from the southwest corner of Grant and High streets, 40° 00' 00" west of south."

Notice To Band Members

In purchasing new band or second hand musical instruments, parents should be careful in buying the correct pitched instruments. Yesterday, a foreign agent sold an unpitched second hand instrument to one of our Junior band members. The instrument cannot be used in the band or in the orchestra. I would suggest to the parents that before making a payment for an instrument that Dave Rice, the band director, be given the privilege in checking the instrument. He will gladly give you this service.

Signed, M. F. Worthman.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jaberg and family attended the band concert at Geneva last night.

Attorney Henry B. Heller was at Geneva today, looking after business matters.

Richard Jackson, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Jackson, South Eleventh Street, who has been quite ill with fever for a week past is improving slowly. The fever is one of peculiar nature which the physicians, as yet have been unable to diagnose definitely.

I see William Allen White has gone to Europe to stay till after the election, and I wonder why he was in such a big hurry to ruin Al Smith's chances. Women are not continually scratching themselves as is generally supposed. They're only feelin' around for th' little flimsy shoulder straps that hold 'em together.

REPPERT'S AUCTION SCHOOL NOTES

One half of the students went to the Segrist Auction House, at Fort Wayne, Tuesday, and Mr. Segrist, the owner, as well as one of the instructors at the school, showed the boys how an up-to-date auction house should be conducted. In the evening, the boys held a sale and a good sized crowd was present.

Mr. Reppert received a letter from a prospective student in far away Australia, asking for information regarding the school and expects to be here at the next term. A school the caliber of the Reppert Auction School cannot help but gain recognition in all corners of the earth.

The following boys have organized a quartet and from now on there is going to be plenty of music in camp: Adolph Hasse, bass; Ray N. Lake, baritone; Richard Merrick, first tenor; Ross E. Noper, second tenor.

Pictures Being Sold To Restore "Old Ironsides"

A letter from Rear Admiral, Philip Andrews, U. S. Navy, stationed at Boston Navy Yard, where the Frigate Constitution, better known as "Old Ironsides" is being restored to her former glory, as a living reminder of the famous vessel that saved the Nation during its early struggle for Independence, was received by the Navy Recruiting station, at Indianapolis. The letter states that an endeavor is being made to raise the balance of $250,000 necessary to complete the fund to recondition the Constitution, through the sale of the picture of "Old Ironsides" Admiral Phillips is hopeful of selling three million copies of this picture, in order that this priceless Naval relic might be saved to posterity. "Old Ironsides" pictures can be obtained by sending 50 cents to the Navy Recruiting Station, 24 S. Illinois St., Indianapolis, Indiana. Ordinarily this picture would sell at retail for about three dollars and fifty cents.
