Gene Austin, Singer, Reported Missing, Is Safe

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 15.—(INS)—Gene Austin, widely known singer, for whose safety much anxiety had been felt because of reports that his yacht, the Blue Heaven, had not been heard from since leaving Southport, N. C., early Sunday morning, was safe and well here today.

The Blue Heaven came into port last night and is anchored in the harbor today. Austin is appearing at a local music store today where his phonograph records are sold.

Members of the yacht crew said the voyage from Southport to Charleston was without mishap and all on board ship were well.

Railroad Ordered To Install Signal Devices

Portland, Aug. 15.—The Pennsylvania railroad company has been ordered by the Portland city council to erect automatic signal devices or to employ a watchman for 24-hour duty at the North Meridian street crossing in this city, following the filing of a petition with the council, signed by 90 property owners. Federal highway No. 27 follows Meridian street through the city. It was pointed out in the petition that the crossing is a dangerous one at all times, due to the fact that an elevator building obstructs the view of the tracks and many trains pass over the tracks during the night when no watchman is on duty.

Debate Between Gov. Al Smith And Rev. Straton Goes Into A Tailspin

New York, August 15.—(U.P.)—The widely advertised "debate" between the Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, the fighting fundamentalist, and Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic candidate for President, appeared today to have gone into a tailspin and cracked up.

The preacher is determined, however, to raise the issue again on the wings of publicity and keep it flying even to the extent of hiring a big hall and repeating before a bigger audience his charge that Governor Smith is America's "deadliest foe" of moral progress and political wisdom.

When Smith declined to answer the attack anywhere except in Calvary Baptist church, from whose pulpit the preacher attacked him, Straton said that Smith was "running away from a fight."

To the governor's statement that "the matter is closed" unless Straton's church is the scene of the "debate" Straton replied that he would "hire a hall" and repeat his charges.

25 Rum Boats Evade
Blockade; Land Cargoes

Buffalo, N. Y., August 15.—(U.P.)—A fleet of 25 rum boats with Bridgeburg Ont., as the base, evaded the U. S. coast guard blockade today, delivered their cargoes on American soil and are back at Bridgeburg waiting to restock their boats.

According to reports from Bridgeburg, every boat successfully delivered a load of contraband. The rum fleet was able to evade the coast guard boats by proceeding down the Niagara river into Lake Erie. The coast guard had concentrated its boats in the Niagara river.

Brazil.—(U.P.)—Mark W. Parkin, believed to be the only survivor of the 122 men who in October 1866, voted to incorporate the then town of Brazil as a city, recently celebrated his eighty-eight birthday.

Girl Stakes Future On Turn Of Dice; Commits Suicide By Asphyxiation

New York, Aug. 15.—(U.P.)—Anna Taylor, 25-year-old brunette, staked her future on a turn of the dice. When the cubes turned up seven she decided to commit suicide.

That was the theory advanced by police today when they found Miss Taylor's body, clad in a rose silk nightgown in the boudoir of her Brooklyn apartment. She had asphyxiated herself with illuminating gas.
